START BUILDING THE POSTOFFICE NOW! CITY PLEA

Leaders Urge U. S. to Relieve Jobless.

"Start building the postoffice now!" With that demand as a slogan, business leaders, labor officials, and politicians united yesterday in an effort to speed up the plans for construction of Chicago's new $14,000,000 postoffice building.

Insistence was expressed by all at the conclusion from Washington on Saturday that treasury department officials call for the beginning of construction work some time in the fall. A. R. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, announced that at a special meeting in his office tomorrow of the executive board of his organization and the executive board of the Chicago Building Trades council, of which Patrick F. Sullivan is president, would discuss a movement to hasten the start of work upon the building.

"An improvement was shown in employment conditions in Chicago during February," Mr. Craig pointed out. "We must try to keep those conditions constantly improving. There will be no better method than to start construction of the new postoffice immediately."

Igoe Calls for Speed.

Telegrams from Washington said that the project awaited passage by the house of the Keyes-Elliott public building bill, which would permit the treasury to employ outside architects to complete the designs. Passage has been predicted for the bill within two weeks. Congressman James T. Igoe stated to know why, with passage of the bill, bids could not be let at once and work started within a few weeks.

"There's been too much dillydallying about the postoffice," he asserted. "With employment conditions as they are, the present is an ideal time to set to shovels flying."

Col. A. V. Smith, candidate for congress in the Tenth district against Congressman Carl R. Chindblom, said he could not understand why bids could not be asked for work on the project immediately.

Points to Hoover Program.

"Starting work on the postoffice immediately fits in perfectly with President Hoover's program of prosperity," he said. "Certainly, treasury department officials are neglecting the President's entreaties when they delay work on the postoffice until the fall."

Plenty of funds are available for carrying on construction of the building, said Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He said his association had been pushing the postoffice project for a year and would redouble its efforts.

"Everything possible ought to be done to get the work on this great building project started in the spring instead of waiting until next fall," Col. Randolph declared. "It behooves every one to do whatever he can to make a spring start possible. It would relieve unemployment in Chicago and all the loans affected if a prompt start could be made."

Springer Sees Year's Gain.

Former Commissioner of Public Works Albert A. Sprague added his plea to those of the others.

"The citizens' committee has constantly worked to speed up the start of the new postoffice," he said. "It would be of the greatest benefit to Chicago and to the unemployment situation generally if the work were started this spring instead of this fall. Remember, if that is done, the city will gain a year on the work. In other words, we will lose a year if the work is not started until fall."

Frank A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, announced that a meeting of labor officials would be called to confer upon ways for hastening the project.

"Labor is united for any plan to get the government to get started on the new postoffice without delay," he said.

View of Labor Leader.

Daniel P. Lamb, president of the Carriers and Building Laborers union, vice president of the Building Trades council, president of the Truck Drivers union, and chief of the Materials Employers' organization, had this to say:

"We'll bend every effort to induce the government to start work at once. See what it means to the city. It would go a long way towards eliminating the general unemployment in Chicago. It would mean putting a small army at once to work."

COUNTRY TOWNS DOUBLED; CITY LEVY REDUCED

Assessors Turn Job Over to Reviewers.

The board of assessors yesterday announced the assessed valuations it had placed upon Cook county real estate and improvements. The figures showed a net reduction of more than 100 millions of dollars over the tentative valuations fixed recently by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment.

Thus, where the tentative assessed valuation upon Chicago property had been $2,736,543,282, the assessors reduced this figure to $2,684,426,738, a reduction of $52,026,544. Reductions in the country town valuations were $56,609,318, making a total reduction of $102,635,862. A table of the assessors' valuations by townships, comparing them with the 1927 tax valuations, will be found on page 2.

Heavy Chicago Reduction.

The assessed valuation of Chicago realty is reduced $518,085,620 by the assessors' figures as compared with the 1927 board of review total. The reduction of south town, which includes the loop, is $238,946,831 as compared with 1927. In contrast, the total valuation of the country towns is nearly doubled. The figures are $678,482,443 for 1928 and $362,816,495 for 1927, an increase of $327,666,048.

The heaviest reduction from Cutmore's tentative valuations in the country towns was obtained by Evanston. Cutmore's valuation was $87,578,737, which the assessors trimmed to $72,062,531. This reduction of $15,516,206 won by Evanston, after a systematic campaign by citizens and officials, was nearly one-third the total of reductions granted to all the townships outside the city.

The Evanston reduction makes the $73,037,056 valuation of New Trier township, which includes Wilmette, Winnetka, Kenilworth, and Glencoe—the highest of any country townships. The 1927 board of review total for New Trier was $35,644,297.

Now Up to Reviewers.

With the last of the 579 tax books completed, the work of finishing up the reassessment is now in the hands of the board of review. In 1927 the reviewers slashed the assessor's valuations by more than $350,000,000 and the assessors declared they would watch with interest to see what the reviewers will do to the new valuations which are a result of "the first scientific appraisal of property in Cook county."

The reassessment was started seventeen months ago. More than 1,300,000 parcels of real estate were appraised. The cost of the reassessment was more than $1 per parcel, Mr. Cutmore revealed. The taxpayers will pay approximately $1,500,000 for the work.

The fair market value of real property in Cook county is $9,091,647,060, according to the reassessment appraisers. The tentative tax valuation figures, turned over to the assessors by the Cutmore staff, was reached by taking 37 per cent of the market valuation. This 37 per cent factor was taken after a study of the tax factors throughout the 102 counties in Illinois.

Defends County Increases.

Mr. Cutmore and the reassessment staff have defended the heavy increase of country valuations and the reductions allowed city areas on the ground that for years the country assessors have been giving their communities low valuations to enable them to escape their just share of county, state and sanitary district levies. Because the local government and school levies constitute the great proportion of the tax bills, Mr. Cutmore asserts that the higher country valuations should be accompanied by lower local tax rates, which will make the actual tax bills but little higher than in former years.

An outstanding example of increases in township valuations is that of Cicero, with a 1927 total of $17,469,474 on the board of review figures, while the assessors' total for 1928 is $47,961,326.

In defending the city reductions, especially those of the loop, members of Mr. Cutmore's staff have figured that loop properties have been paying on an assessed valuation of nearly 60 per cent of their actual market values, while properties in country towns have been paying on the average on only about 18 per cent of their market values, some of them on a much smaller percentage.

Hope to Remedy "Fixing."

William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, who ordered the Cook county reassessment because he found glaring discrepancies in the 1927

U. S. Reports Business Is Gaining

PROHIBITION

Gunplay Shuts Tex Guinan's Cafe; 2 Held

Three shots closed Texas Guinan's show at the Green Mill café, Lawrence avenue and Broadway, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The internationally known night club hostess was asking the suckers to give the little girl a big hand when Leon Sweitzer, once part owner of the café and at present an owner of the Little club, 975 North State street, ran down a stairway from a balcony pursued by two men shooting at him.

Sweitzer, a former policeman and a nephew of County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, was shot in the arm and leg and a third bullet struck a rib and was deflected, thereby avoiding what might have been a mortal wound. He will probably recover, physicians said. Sweitzer said his assailants were Harry O. Voller, manager for Miss Guinan, and Arthur Reed, bodyguard for Voller.

Two Taken into Custody.

The band kept playing and Tex continued her wise cracking and cheer leading while policemen rushed in and seized Voller and Reed. Then they closed the show. The police learned later that Voller is an ex-convict, having been sentenced to 15 to 30 years in the Jackson, Mich., penitentiary in 1918 for robbery. Reed, they learned, had served two prison sentences and was employed by Voller two days after his latest release from a California penitentiary.

Still later Miss Guinan, in evening dress, her wrists and neck banded with pearls and a white ermine wrap over her shoulders, called at the Nummerdale police station and declared she didn't know a thing about the shooting. Nor did the patrons, she declared, as the shooting occurred upstairs and the rest of the excitement came in the lobby out of sight of the boys and girls who were whooping it up.

Miss Guinan had planned to leave Chicago after a gala farewell party next Saturday night. Her girls were to be taken on a tour of Europe, with London as the first stop and Paris next, she said.

Wolfe Closes the Cabaret.

And in those plans the police and Assistant State's Attorney Marovitz saw one or two reasons for the shooting. Deputy Police Commissioner Thomas Wolfe informed Miss Guinan that she is free to depart a week sooner, inasmuch as he closed the Green Mill and suggested that hereafter applicants for amusement licenses should be required to submit to an examination at the bureau of identification so that prison records may be uncovered.

Sweitzer and his partner, Leonard Leon, a former bondsman, sublet the Green Mill to Voller and Miss Guinan last December. Sweitzer told the police. The Guinan show was to stay there till May 1, under the agreement. After disposing of their interest in the Green Mill Sweitzer and Leon opened the Little club and troubles have been reported at both places.

A Battle Among the Girls.

A week ago three of the girls of the Guinan show had a battle on the dance floor, the police learned. Miss Kitty O'Reilly and Miss Lorraine Hayes had a grievance against Miss Dottie Wahl, who was accused of winning away some of the other girls' boy friends. In the number where

SURVEY SHOWS SLUMP CAUSES ARE OVERCOME

Optimism Prevails in Most Industries.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Full reports obtained by the national business survey conference from 27 lines of business and industry for the four months following the stock market crash today indicated that American business, in general, is firm and showing steady improvement.

Although the reports "indicate both strong and weak spots" some of the early retarding factors, partly psychological, "appear to have been gradually overcome," according to Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the conference, who made public a summary of the reports. This view was borne out by the reports themselves, three-fourths of which were optimistic.

Construction Emphasis Warranted.

"The reports indicate that the importance laid upon construction as an influence in restoring industrial balance has not been over emphasized," Mr. Barnes asserted. "They show that for a revival of construction in its manifold forms a first requirement is adequate and reasonably priced credit."

There is no cause whatever for alarm over the country's construction program, according to Mr. Barnes, as utilities of all kinds contemplate such expenditures this year as to aggregate 3,350 million dollars as against 2,863 million last year.

"In the construction industries there are continued signs of improvement, except in residential building which still drags," he added. "Contracts awarded in the week ending March 14 totaled 105 million dollars, the highest weekly figure in eight weeks. February permits for additions, alterations and repairs in 279 cities show a decided increase in number over January, but a smaller total value."

Bond Price Trend Upward.

In the field of finance the reports showed the general outlook in the investment field to be favorable, although bankers continue warnings against artificial stimulation. January and February bond issues were 33 per cent larger than the same period last year, while bond prices have turned upward in the last few weeks. There is evidence that the general easing of bank credits is reaching the smaller centers and "after a downward tendency for some months total bank loans are increasing, showing funds going into use."

Reports from some districts show moderate increases in savings and others slight losses; new life insurance business in February exceeded February, 1929, by 3 per cent; a marked increase is apparent in the activities of building and loan associations; farm loans show a slight increase with a marked decrease in delinquencies; and installment sales approximately equal those of last year.

Railroad Situation Good.

The condition of both steam and electric railroads is reported to be good with heavier pay rolls and expenditures for construction and replacements. The shipping trades, however, report a falling off in tonnage carried.

Radio tube sales were 12 per cent less in January and February as compared to last year, but new set sales for the two months were 13 per cent more than in November and December and compared favorably with one year ago.

"The iron and steel industry for the third week in March operated at 75 per cent against 94 per cent in last year's high activity, but indications are for an increase in production," Mr. Barnes' summary continued.

Auto Production Near Average.

"In the automobile industry, February production of 359,000 cars would indicate an average seasonal trend—a 1930 production of about 4,600,000 cars. Current reports indicate increasing production. Dealers' new car stocks are reported low. February pay rolls exceeded January by 25 per cent and exceeded December by 28 per cent."

The farm implement industry reported "some curtailment," while "sales are normal" for machinery. The general volume of activity in the chemical industry is "unsatisfactory." Leather, hardware, and textiles also failed to respond to the improvement marked in other lines of business.

COP IDENTIFIES RIDE VICTIM AS SALTIS HOODLUM

The body of a man found slain early yesterday at 94th street and Roberts road, a mile from where John (Dingbat) Oberta and Sam Malega, his bodyguard, were murdered, was partly identified last night as that of a Saltis gangster. A policeman who viewed the body said he knew the man only as "Bones" and that he was a minor hoodlum in the Saltis south side beer mob, to which Oberta belonged.

The partial identification strengthened the police theory that the killing was connected with the Oberta and Malega killings, and an effort was being made to ascertain whether "Bones" had broken away from the Saltis gang recently. He was said to frequent a saloon in the vicinity of 51st street and Hermitage avenue, in the heart of the Saltis district, and inquiries were being made in the neighborhood to find some one who knew the man by his nickname.

Taken from Grave After 27 Hours; He May Recover

William Luedke, 63 years old, 2127 Sherman avenue, North Chicago, dug a shallow grave Saturday morning on the outskirts of North Chicago, near Waukegan road, and after covering himself with leaves and rubbish, slashed his throat with a razor. At 12:30 p. m., yesterday, two boys found him alive and conscious, still in his grave where he had been for 27 hours. He was taken to the Lake County General hospital in Waukegan, where it is said he has a chance to recover. Luedke barred his act on despondency over poverty.

Blanche Gammell Bride at Midnight Ceremony

Miss Blanche Gammel, 1223 Astor street, and Frederic Weyburne, 200 East Chestnut street, secretary of the Bendix Service company, were married last midnight by Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein at his home in Waukegan. Miss Gammell is 24 years old and Mr. Weyburne 28. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Urion Jr., 399 Fullerton parkway. Mr. and Mrs. Weyburne said that an elaborate wedding had been planned for this week-end but that they eloped last night to surprise their friends.

Bomb Damages Soft Drink Place on Halsted Street

A bomb exploded at the rear of a soft drink parlor at 5408 South Halsted street early this morning blew in the alley door of the place, aroused tenants of the apartments above from their sleep, and shattered several windows in the building. The damage was estimated at $500.

The police found no one in the building who could suggest a motive for the bombing or who knew the name of the saloon's proprietor.

Athlete, Held as Thief, Tells of Downfall

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A graduate and former track athlete of the University of Illinois, Chester Francis, 29 years old, last night was getting the broader education offered by a cell in the Hyde Park police station after having been identified by three women as the man who snatched their purses.

Francis readily confessed snatching the purse of Mrs. Marjorie Sligh, 4809 Dorchester avenue, running through a gangway and vaulting a six foot back fence, on March 1. After he had made his getaway he found only 8 cents in the purse, he said. He also confessed snatching the purse of Mrs. Maude O'Brien, 1352 East 48th place, two days later. That netted him $2.

Three Women Identify Him.

Mrs. Sligh and Mrs. O'Brien identified Francis, as did Mrs. Zelma Lynch, 1353 East 47th place, who was held up in the vestibule of her home on Saturday night and robbed of $7. It was the robbery of Mrs. Lynch that led to Francis' arrest. A witness trailed the holdup man to the East View hotel, 4943 Lake Park avenue, and there Francis was taken into custody.

In his room the police found a toy pistol with several powder puffs, vanity cases and other trinkets. According to Sergt. Daniel Ahern, Miss Lillian Woodruff, 4900 Blackstone avenue, identified a ring found in the room as one she lost when her purse was stolen on Jan. 18.

Once Assistant Track Coach.

Though he still wore two fraternity emblems, Francis last night displayed no other evidence of the collegiate spirit which he indicated had characterized him at the university, where he said he had been assistant track coach for two years. His face was worn and lined and his attitude one of resignation.

"I know I can expect to be held up to public view as a fine moral," he said. "I feel as if I am a butterfly being dissected and then mounted for a show window. I'm ready to take what punishment they give me. I deserve it.

"I didn't always have this inferiority complex, though. I used to be aggressive and an ordinary enough chap. I sold athletic goods, then bonds, after I was out of school, and made $5,000 a year. I had a charming wife. We were very happy. Our son is two years old now.

Divorced by His Wife.

"But about a year ago we separated. I found she was interested in someone else and left her, that's all. She divorced me later. Then—well, something happened to me. I've gone down ever since. I don't defend myself."

Francis returned to the university last summer for postgraduate work in athletic coaching, after driving a taxicab in Chicago, he said. When the course was finished he was unable to obtain employment again in the city. His mother, who lives in Freeport, asked him to promise not to go back to taxi driving.

"She thought it was hardly the kind of work a college graduate should be doing," Francis said.

PROFESSORS VOTING AGAINST DRY LAW IN MICHIGAN U. POLL

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 23.—[Special.]—While last minute preparations are being completed for the student poll on prohibition to be taken at the University of Michigan on Monday and Tuesday, approximately one fifth of the faculty has registered its vote.

Fifty-seven faculty members voted for strict enforcement and four more for the present situation, to make up a total of 61. On the other hand, 24 voted for the Ontario liquor control plan, 24 for modification proposals and 23 for total repeal of liquor legislation, making a total of 93 against the present law.

Five thousand students are expected to cast ballots tomorrow and Tuesday in the poll in which Michigan will cooperate with 20 other colleges and universities.

Students will be asked first whether they drink, and if so, whether frequently or only occasionally.

Students also will be requested to indicate whether they favor the present prohibition situation, strict enforcement of the Volstead law and 18th amendment, or any one of other modification proposals.

WALES ESCAPES DEATH FILMING WILD ELEPHANT

RHINO, Camp Uganda, March 23.—(AP)—It was announced today that the prince of Wales had a narrow escape from an angry bull elephant while taking motion pictures March 15. The prince was so intent on his picture that he failed to realize his danger, and the animal was shot by his companions, crashing to the ground barely 20 yards from the camera.

The incident occurred while the prince was on a two day hunting expedition. The elephant, apparently enraged by the invasion of his retreat, charged down a hill toward the spot where the camera had been set up. Other hunters shouted a warning to the prince, but he ignored them. The picture was still being ground out when the great beast fell.

The retail and wholesale trades "report cautious buying" with stocks of merchandise relatively low but "consumer buying showing little appreciable curtailment."

EMPLOYMENT SAME

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Little change from the low point in employment reached in January was reflected for February in the federal reserve board's summary of business and financial conditions made public today in its monthly bulletin.

The board said that industrial production increased, employment remained stationary, and wholesale commodity prices and money rates continued to decline. Credit extended by member banks was further reduced in February, but increased in the first two weeks of March.

Pay Rolls Increase.

"The volume of factory employment, which had reached a low point for January, showed little change in February, when an increase usually occurs," the report said. "Factory pay rolls increase during the month, but a smaller amount than is usual at this season.

"In the steel, automobile, agricultural implement and tobacco industries employment increased during the four week period, while further decreases occurred in the cotton and wool textile, lumber, automobile tire, electrical machinery, and machine tool industries."

The summary said that the bureau of labor statistics index showed wholesale prices during February at 92.1 per cent of the 1926 averages—the lowest point since January, 1922.

Farm Products Decline.

"Marked declines occurred during the month in the prices of many agricultural products," continued the summary, listing "grain, hides, raw wool and cotton"; certain imported raw materials, notably sugar and silk; and in textiles, petroleum and pig iron.

Production increased about two per cent in February, the summary said, the increase reflecting chiefly a substantial gain in output of iron and steel. Automobile production was larger in volume than during January, the summary said, but was 30 per cent smaller than that of a year ago. Cotton and wool consumption by mills was given as substantially lower, and production of bituminous coal and copper "also decreased."

Building contracts were about the same in volume as in the preceding month, the summary said, adding, "Residential building continued at an exceptionally low level, while contracts for public works and utilities were large in comparison with the corresponding month in other recent years. Awards in the first two weeks of March were larger than in the first half of February."

DUNEDIN, New Zealand, March 23.—(AP)—Carrying 50 members of the Byrd antarctic expedition homeward, the bark City of New York, flagship of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, sailed this afternoon from Otago Harbor for Tahiti, en route for New York.

Admiral Byrd was among a crowd of more than ten thousand that thronged the wharves to say good-by. He is remaining here for a few days to complete business affairs, and will travel by mail steamer homeward, rejoining the City of New York at the Panama canal.

quadrennial valuations, has declared that the work of the Cutmore staff will go a long way to relieve Cook county of the tax fixing evil. His argument is that the revaluation is based on a scientific appraisal of all the realty in the county, and in order to get a reduction the property owners will have to show error in the appraisal work. Heretofore, it is charged, politicians have been able to make political capital by granting their constituents tax favors, based on influence, rather than on valuation facts.

With the board of review promising to finish its work by May 1, the prediction was made yesterday that tax bills will be mailed out between May 20 and June 1.

The tax valuations reveal that while city property was given a reduction of $518,085,620 over the board of review valuations for 1927, the country town valuations were increased $326,866,043 in the 1928 figures. This leaves a net reduction in Cook county valuations of $191,419,572 with the board of review yet to revise the figures.

HUSBAND TELLS WHY HE LET WIFE MAKE 'LOVE TRIAL'

Regarded It Only as an Experiment.

The husband stipulated that the love trial should extend one month. If Mrs. March returned within that time he would restore her to her place in his home and heart.

Tonight Mrs. March is back with her family; her husband says she is as happy as he. He looked upon the love journey as an "experiment" and his faith that his wife would return to him, he says, has been justified. He took his wife into hiding, refusing to let her talk.

But tonight, another woman in Detroit is waiting to receive from Florida the body of her husband. He was the man with whom Mrs. March began her "trial elopement." He shot himself to death in Miami after Mrs. March decided to return home.

Oriental Mysticism.

The whole affair is bound about by an air of oriental mysticism. Benjamin March, the husband, is curator of Asiatic art at the Detroit Institute of Art. Mr. March and his wife met in China, where she was born, the daughter of a Methodist missionary, and have been married four years. His wife is a writer and author of children's verses. She is a college graduate and a woman of great culture.

When one crosses the threshold of the March home it is like stepping into the orient. A mantel inscribed with Chinese fantasies peeps at the visitor from behind a gorgeous screen of inlaid figures. Brass lanterns drop from the ceiling. Chinese rugs, deep and soft, cushion the floor. On a grotesquely carved ebony table is a portrait of March, the work of a Chinese friend. The walls are covered with Chinese tapestry and scrolls. Confucian proverbs are displayed here and there.

Both March and Mrs. March wear oriental costumes frequently, and entertain their friends in Chinese fashion, sitting cross legged on the floor.

Son of Rich Packer.

Into this home came Thomas A. Newton Jr., student and linguist, college graduate and son of a wealthy Detroit packer. He also was interested in affairs of the mysterious East. He is said to have described his wife, who is a charming hostess, as "prose to Dorothy March's poetry."

Mr. Newton and Mrs. March drifted closer together. Mr. March observed the growing bond silently. On Feb. 22 they told him of their intention of going away together and the next day they left.

Mr. March, in describing why he consented, said he regarded the tour as an experiment, adding that if experimental methods were scientifically valid in laboratories they should be equally valid in life.

Became I Loved Her.

"I did what I did because I loved her, and still love her," Mr. March said tonight. "I might have become dramatic. I might have made a scene when they told me everything, but that would have been useless.

"I might have forbidden my wife ever to see Newton again. I might have done any of a number of things. But I believe my wife would always have felt she had been denied the real love of her life.

"You can well imagine how I felt when I first heard from my wife. She said she was happy and everything was getting along all right. I had only hopes—hopes that are now to be realized."

Mr. March did not announce if he had told his wife of the suicide in Miami.

U. S. AND JAPAN RENEW DICKER ON NAVAL CUTS

Tokio Puts a String on Cruiser Ratio.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—Qualified acceptance by Japan of the Reed-Matsudaira agreement, fixing the ratio of the Japanese navy to the American navy, was indicated tonight by renewed exchanges between the American and Japanese delegations.

The principal reservation made by Japan is that acceptance of 60 per cent of the tonnage of the 18 eight inch gun cruisers, which America is allowed, shall not constitute a precedent depriving Japan of the right to seek a greater ratio at the next conference. Tokio instructed the Japanese delegation here to sound out the American delegation on the acceptability of this reservation.

U. S. Makes No Objection.

The answer was that there was no objection to the Japanese reservation, but that America would reserve the right to oppose an increase in the Japanese ratio at the next conference. Japan, at the Washington conference, accepted a 60 per cent ratio in consideration of the United States abandoning the development of naval bases in the Aleutian islands and in the western Pacific. At the London conference they demanded 70 per cent.

In the agreement negotiated by Senator David A. Reed and Tsuneo Matsudaira, the American delegation accorded Japan 70 per cent of the tonnage of all auxiliary class ships, combined with a parity in submarines, but 10 per cent of the eight inch gun cruiser tonnage allowed America. At the same time the American delegation committed the United States to completion of only 15 of the 18 big cruisers before 1935, which would assure Japan 72 per cent of the American tonnage in this class ships during the life of the treaty.

The British delegation accepted the Reed-Matsudaira agreement under which Japan will get a 72 per cent permanent ratio of the 15 big cruisers allowed Great Britain.

AIMS AT SINGAPORE

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—The British and American delegations will hold a joint meeting tomorrow to discuss the American and Japanese situation. It is reported tonight in British circles that Tokio has put forward two more proposals which affect England.

One is that some assurance be given that the Singapore base will not be used as a "weapon" against Japan. This is seen as almost a demand for its neutralization. The other is that London and New York get behind a big reconstruction loan, which Japan hopes to float in a few months.

There is a chance of a plenary session this week according to the Labor Daily Herald. The newspaper says if the Franco-Italian deadlock cannot be broken, Prime Minister MacDonald will call the delegates and make a final appeal to settle their differences. It adds that he is determined not to let the parley die without some kind of struggle.

It is believed by the British that the French have been frightened somewhat by the reports of a possibility of the conclusion of a three-power treaty. The last thing France wants is to be isolated.

A further factor is that she has interests in the Pacific which, if not very great, are still important from the point of view of her prestige and she fears that these might suffer if America, Great Britain and Japan got together excluding her.

SETTLES

MARIE JERITZA.

PARIS INDIGNANT

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 23.—With the return of the French delegation to London, one by one, it now appears that they did not desert the conference at all. The Quai d'Orsay's Le Temps so informs the world of this tonight and indignantly denounces the sinister methods of the English, who are accused of trying to put over the idea that the French left the parley flat.

"Briand returned to Paris to attend to his job," says Le Temps. "And Dumesnil and Pietri came back feeling that they could conveniently use the week-end to attend to the business of their ministries instead of going off to the country or seaside, like the other delegates. To accuse France of trying to torpedo the conference, because they did so, is unfair. This will in no way purify the international atmosphere."

J. L. Dumesnil, minister of marine, left for London today, François Pietri, minister of colonies, leaves Tuesday, Aristide Briand, foreign minister, will leave as soon as he is able to quit the Young plan debate in the chamber, and Premier André Tardieu if and when there is fireworks.

BARONESS-MAID SUES JERITZA FOR 10 YEARS' SALARY

Hope for Spicy Scandal Jams Viennese Court.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, March 23. — Scenes which would have done credit to a fantastic Viennese comic opera took place here yesterday when the temperamental opera star, Marie Jeritza herself, sailed into court to show why she should not pay ten years' back salary to the Baroness Weiss-Lainburg, who, according to the weird testimony drawn out by the opposing attorneys, served the great opera star as maid, bootblack, secretary, manager and confidential adviser during the years she was climbing to world renown.

Viennese dandies and sprightly dames who hung about the Hapsburg court in the brighter days before the war crowded the little court, eager to hear the scandal which the strange baroness threatened to unloose.

Judge Orders Court Cleared.

When the debate started they could not contain their feelings for one or the other of the parties until finally the wrangling was so confusing to the learned judge that he ordered the spectators out of court.

"She begged me on bended knees to let her work for me free of charge," cried the diva, while the judge pounded for order.

The uncanny baroness owned up to begging the job but not the financial arrangement.

Star Dissuaded Marriage.

"Occasionally she gave me five or ten dollars, and once in a while her husband chipped in a little," said the baroness. "I could have married, too, but my devotion to Mme. Jeritza was too great, and besides, when I told her about marriage she discouraged it."

The singer said the woman peddled much scandal about her and linked her name with many rich men when she was last in America in a manner not very complimentary to an opera star.

"I will be civil," said Mme. Jeritza. "I will make the baroness a present of $2,000 if she hands me back my correspondence and renounces further slander against my fair name."

The baroness, who sued for $12,000, declined Mme. Jeritza's generosity at first, but later accepted, on the advice of attorneys, and the blonde singer departed from the courtroom with a triumphant smile.

PROWLER WILL BE QUIZZED ON STATION KILLING

Ted Peterson, 23 years old, of Villa Park, who, police charge, has been prowling the western suburbs at night, molesting and in some cases robbing unescorted women, faces interrogation by the Chicago police today concerning the still unsolved murder of Mrs. Agnes Lavander, who was shot to death more than a month ago near Forest Glen.

Peterson was seized Saturday night by Patrolman Albert Nelson of Elmhurst after Miss Caroline Crome, 16 years old, 174 May street, Elmhurst, telephoned that a prowler had followed her home from the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin station, attempted to drag her into an alley and attack her. Yesterday he was identified by twelve other women as the youth who made threats with a gun and in three cases committed robbery. The victims were residents of Elmhurst, Lombard, Villa Park and Glen Ellyn.

Police Chief John Martin of Elmhurst mentioned the Lavander murder to the prisoner. The policeman said he was suspicious of the alacrity and fervor with which the prisoner protested his innocence.

4 Are Slain as Police Battle Men Riding in Stolen Autos

Buffalo, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—Four men were killed and one was wounded early today in two encounters between the police automobile squad and men riding in stolen cars.

The wounded man escaped from the operating room at City hospital while the surgeons about to operate on him for two bullet wounds were temporarily absent. He climbed down a fire escape.

Eight automobiles were reported stolen within a short time before midnight Saturday and Lieut. Britt and three of his men were cruising the east side in search of them.

About 1:30 a. m. one of the missing automobiles was spotted. Driving alongside, Britt ordered the driver to pull in to the curb. Instead of complying the driver speeded away and fired at the police car.

The police returned the fire and the stolen car swerved into the curb and knocked off a water hydrant. The occupant, identified as Walter Krajewski, was thrown through the front of the car. He died immediately.

On Genesee street the officers met another stolen car, a roadster with four men in the seat.

Their effort to shake off the pursuing police car was unsuccessful, and, Lieut. Britt said, all except the man at the wheel opened fire on the auto squad.

The battle continued for several blocks. Then bullets from a police riot gun struck the man at the wheel and the car swerved into a pole.

The man at the wheel, Henry Pistrowski, was killed, and the three others were wounded. The injured men were taken to the City hospital. Two of them later died on the operating table.

Dies of Injuries Received When Hit by Motorcycle

Injuries suffered March 6 when he was struck by a motorcycle resulted in death yesterday for Constantine Karpovicz, 46 years old, 3435 South Leavitt street. The cyclist, George Danjanow, 2504 Blue Island avenue, was also killed. Thrown from his motorcycle by an obstruction in Jackson boulevard between Peoria and Halsted streets, Edward Hackley, 19 years old, 3122 West 40th street, suffered a skull fracture.

FIVE CITY JUDGES 'NOT QUALIFIED,' BAR REPORT SAYS

Committee Gives Views on Bench Candidates.

Five sitting judges of the Municipal court—all running for renomination in the April 8 primary—are disapproved of by the committee on candidates of the Chicago Bar association, according to a report made public yesterday. In its report the committee, composed of former presidents of the bar association, says of each of the five judges: "He should not be nominated." The report is approved by the board of managers of the association.

All five judges are Republican candidates on the Snow-City Hall ticket. They are John H. Lyle, Max Luster, Joseph L. McCarthy, Herbert G. Immenhausen and George A. Curran.

Report Praises Judge Jonas.

Of the other sitting Municipal judges, only Edgar A. Jonas and Charles F. McKinley are given the highest bar endorsement of "exceptionally well qualified." Judge Arnold Heap is "qualified notwithstanding his 76 years," the report says. Concerning Judge Albert B. COOLIDGE PENS STORY ON RUNNING AGAIN, TARIFF, PROHIBITION

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge has set down for publication his attitude toward suggestions that he run again for President or for senator from Massachusetts, along with his views on American problems since he left the White House.

Ray Long, editor of a current magazine, said in an interview here today that the former President's "story," seven thousand words long, soon would appear. Long predicted the Coolidge references to happenings in Washington would cause something more than a flurry in political circles.

Coolidge wrote the article while he was in Florida in January. Early in February the editor received the following message, in longhand:

"I have written a story in which I touch on prohibition, the tariff, suggestions that I run for senator from Massachusetts, and suggestions that I run for President, and the year since I have been at home. It has gone home to be copied. Yours truly, Calvin Coolidge."

Feeling that the views would be "important to the nation," Long said, he telegraphed Coolidge, asking him to telegraph the story and offering to rip off the magazine forms then on the presses in order to set the story up in the April issue.

But Coolidge responded by telegraph, "No. May is better."

A family doctor's laxative is the sensible choice!

YOUR health is too important! You can't afford experiments with your delicate bowels when a coated tongue, bad breath, gas, headaches, nausea, feverishness, biliousness, lack of appetite, and no energy, warn of constipation. This applies not only to grown people; it is particularly the case where young children are concerned.

That's why a family doctor's laxative is always the safe choice! Only a doctor knows just what will cleanse the system of men, women or children without harm.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared today under strict supervision from freshest herbs and other pure ingredients, and exactly according to Dr. Caldwell's original prescription.

He was a family doctor for more than forty-seven years. He specialized in the disorders of the digestive tract. He tested this prescription in thousands of cases. Men liked its quick and thorough action; the children liked its pleasant taste; old people praised it because it never gripes.

Today, millions of families rely on Dr. Caldwell's judgment in the selection of their laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is now sold in all drug stores. It is the world's largest selling laxative.

7 Hours in Bed and Not 7 Minutes of Sleep!

The Toll Acidity Takes

You go to bed dog-tired, but the minute you hit the pillow all sleepiness vanishes. If you do sleep at all, it's only in snatches and you wake out of these "stupors" with a strange, startled feeling, sometimes in a cold sweat. Morning finds you a rag, gaunt and hollow-eyed and barely able to crawl out of bed.

Acidity is due to our unnatural eating habits, our excessive smoking and irregular hours. The excess acid upsets digestion and causes acid-indigestion with gas and heartburn. It causes putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal, which frequently results in ragged nerves, sleeplessness, logy days and general loss of strength and vitality.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100 year old pharmaceutical house in Germany. This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but which may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen! Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It exercises a stimulating effect upon the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity, and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

5-Day Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this 5-day acidity test. Get a bottle of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen Drug Stores and Economical Drug Stores, or any other druggist on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal for five days. Mark the change in your physical condition—note how more sound and restful your sleep and how more cheerful and active your days. If you don't sleep better and have more "pep" and power, return the balance of the Magnesia Oxoids to the druggist and he will refund your money.

DENEEN STARTS HIS CAMPAIGN IN CHICAGO TODAY

Mrs. McCormick Opens Fire on Swanson.

As Ruth Hanna McCormick again goes down state this morning in her campaign for the Republican senatorship nomination, her primary opponent, Senator Charles S. Deneen, was preparing to open his Cook county campaign with a noon meeting in the Four Colony theater.

Senator Deneen spent Sunday resting after his strenuous down state campaign. It was said at his headquarters that he would defend his vote for the Jones "5 and 10" law before the loop audience and would also have something to say in reply to Mrs. McCormick, who has attacked his Chicago alliances.

Following his speech in the loop at noon, Senator Deneen will go to the Blue Lago hall, between Wilmette and Kenilworth, to address a rally arranged by the Wilmette League of Women Voters. Later he will speak at the Aragon ballroom.

Mrs. McCormick's Tour.

Mrs. McCormick on her semi-final downstate tour will visit five central state counties in three days. She will also spend two days in Cook county and will close with a speech in Rock Island on Saturday. She speaks in the courthouse at Pekin, Tazewell county, at 2:30 p. m. today and in the Majestic theater at Peoria at 7:30 p. m.

The congresswoman carried her campaign into the south side of Chicago yesterday afternoon and evening, attacking State's Attorney Swanson for his Saturday's statement in support of Senator Deneen.

"It is interesting," she said, "to know that the state's attorney has been accepting the advice of Senator Deneen as to the conduct of his office. We have been interested internationally in the question of advisory opinions of the so-called world court, and now we find that we have an advisory opinion system right in our own community.

Higger and Better Bombs.

"The state's attorney advises us that he has crime on the go. Do the people of Chicago agree with him? Isn't it true that they are making higger and better bombs now than they did two years ago? Has State's Attorney Swanson obtained a conviction in any of the major crime cases?

"Is there a feeling of security against crimes of violence in Chicago? I am not going to offer any figures or statistics. The statistics are in the general feeling of insecurity."

PREDICT DEMOCRATS WILL WIN CONTROL OF HOUSE IN FALL

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The flat prediction President Hoover will face the problem of dealing with a Democratic controlled house during the last two years of the present administration was made today by Representative Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee.

The assertion was based upon a political survey conducted by Byrns. He predicted the Democrats would increase their number in the house in the fall elections by seventy members. With the 165 members now, they need only 53 additional votes to give them a total of 218 seats in the house of 435 members. The Republicans now have a majority of 102, with one Farmer-Labor and several vacancies.

Byrns declared the "failure of the administration's efforts to successfully carry out one major project within an entire year, the economic depression, the obvious failure of the London arms conference, and nation-wide unemployment conditions have created dissatisfaction throughout the country and the voters will register their protest this fall."

ANDREW MELLON 75 TODAY; WORK AND ART HOBBIES

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The dean of the Hoover cabinet—Andrew Mellon—celebrates tomorrow his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary.

Two weeks ago he observed his ninth anniversary as secretary of the treasury, the only man except one to hold the portfolio so long.

Yet, at an age when most men are content to sit by the fireside, the secretary, whom his friends describe as "the greatest since Alexander Hamilton," carries the financial burdens of the world's richest nation quietly, implacidly—almost lightly.

Day by day, backward and forward between his Massachusetts avenue apartment and his office, often three times daily, Washington sees the slender little man with the iron gray mustache walking briskly along the streets. For nine years the political swirls have surged about him, almost savagely at times. But to all appearances the Andrew Mellon who came unostentatiously from Pittsburgh nine years ago to take a portfolio in the Harding cabinet has not changed.

Two hobbies, perhaps three, Mr. Mellon has. He used to ride some and play golf, but these seldom attract him now. His principal pursuit outside of business hours is art.

HARRIS SUBMITS FINANCIAL IDEAS FOR CAR MERGER

Bankers Get Proposals to Protect Bondholders.

BY OSCAR HEWITT

Word came from Pasadena last night that Banker A. W. Harris has stepped actively into the Chicago local transportation negotiations. Mr. Harris is chairman of the protective committee for the first mortgage bonds of the north and west side surface lines, and it is he who has been considered the most difficult to satisfy in a reorganization and merger of the surface and elevated lines.

To Mr. Harris on March 10 suggestions were submitted on a financial scheme. These suggestions were made by the bankers' committee, composed of Frank O. Wetmore of the First National bank, Arthur Reynolds of the Continental Illinois bank, and Harry L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Harris Submits Plan.

In reply Mr. Harris has forwarded counter proposals on nearly all of the phases of the proposed financial structure of the consolidated transit lines. The counter proposals have been submitted to the bankers' committee orally by representatives of Mr. Harris. It is understood that considerable time was taken at the meeting of the bankers last Saturday to discuss the meaning and effect of Mr. Harris' views.

The bankers' committee, it is reported, plans to have a reply to Mr. Harris before the end of the week.

From the viewpoint of an ultimate transit settlement, two encouraging facts were brought out yesterday. First, Frank L. Gordon of the First National and George W. Pearson of the Continental Illinois banks, who were sent to California to see Mr. Harris, have reported that he indicated a favorable attitude on some of their suggestions. Second, it is now reported that the bankers' committee looks with favor on some phases of Mr. Harris' counter proposals. Thus, the exchange of views indicates a desire on both sides to negotiate for a settlement, which has not been prominently displayed heretofore.

Representatives Are Active.

Officials of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, working with Vice President Chester Corey and C. W. Beall of Harris, Forbes & Co. in New York, have canvassed all of the large holders of Chicago Railways first mortgage bonds, as well as members of the protective committee.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York is reported to own a large block of these securities, and John J. Nelligan, president of the Safe Deposit and Trust company of Baltimore, is also said to have considerable interest in these bonds.

These bonds pay five per cent. When they came in default Feb. 1, 1927, they totaled $55,655,000, but Federal Judge Wilkerson ordered 10 per cent of the principal paid off last August, so that they now aggregate $50,089,500.

The conversations of the bankers' committee so far indicate its desire for the new consolidated company to issue a general mortgage, the bonds of which are to be exchanged for the present first mortgage bonds outstanding against the surface lines. If financial conditions are favorable, bonds are also to be issued against this general mortgage to obtain new money for extensions and betterments.

In addition, however, the bankers' committee's financial set up proposes that the new company shall retain the right to issue a first and refunding mortgage. That is to be utilized in the event that the general mortgage is deemed unavailable as a basis for the acquisition of new money from time to time. In that event the first and refunding mortgage would be a first lien on the property and the general mortgage a second lien.

There are other proposed factors which modify this bare statement. The general mortgage is to be protected by a sinking fund, to insure the full payment of the bonds in a stipulated period. In the discussions so far no sinking fund has been provided for the first and refunding mortgage.

Bond Rate Is a Factor.

Mr. Harris' chief interest is in the first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Chicago Railways company. The general mortgage bonds are to pay a higher rate. Mr. Harris was asked yesterday in Pasadena by THE TRIBUNE correspondent: "Do you desire 5½ or 6 per cent as interest rate on bonds exchanged for present first mortgage surface line bonds?"

"I can only say this," Mr. Harris replied. "It depends on what kind of bonds are given. If first mortgage bonds are given, I would be satisfied with 5½ per cent." He did not indicate what rate he would ask for a general mortgage bond.

Six Per Cent Indicated.

The bankers' present plan is to take over the elevated roads subject to existing mortgages. These total $46,955,300. The interest rate varies from 4 to 6½ per cent, but the average is 5.2 per cent. By continuing these rates it is said that the bankers reckon that they are saving $380,000 a year, or eight-tenths of 1 per cent.

This is on the theory that new money will cost 6 per cent, which gives the only indication of what the bankers' committee will fix as the maximum coupon rate of bonds under the proposed general mortgage.

The town occupies an important strategic position and is the headquarters of the famous Foreign Legion. There are barrack accommodations for 6,000 troops. It is circled by a bastioned wall with a fosse and has four gates. The town is also an important agricultural center, wheat, tobacco, grapes, and olives being the leading crops. It dates back to 1843 when the French built the first redoubt on the site.

EXPECT GRUNDY TO DROP OUT AND SUPPORT FISHER

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—The Post-Gazette tomorrow will say it has learned that a ticket composed of Gov. John S. Fisher for United States senator and Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker of the State Supreme court for governor will be suggested to a conference of state Republican leaders here Tuesday.

To effect this, the Post-Gazette will say, United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy will not run for election to the post he was given by appointment by Gov. Fisher, and Samuel H. Lewis and Francis Shunk Brown will withdraw as candidates for the nomination as governor.

Grundy, the Post-Gazette will say, is ready to accept the proposal. The candidacy of Brown, together with that of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for United States senator, announced a week ago, is, however, regarded by some political leaders as advanced to a point beyond recall.

FAMILY OF 6 AND BOARDER BURN TO DEATH IN SLEEP

New York, March 24 (Monday).—(AP)—An entire family of six and a boarder were burned to death as they slept early today in a fire that enveloped a two story house in Bayside. The dead included four children. Five of the seven bodies were recovered from the ruins.

The dead are John Fliss, 54; his wife, Mary, 48; two boys and two girls, ranging in age from 4 to 13, and Charles Jorzon, 43, the boarder.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, broke out on the first floor and spread to the second, trapping the sleeping family and the boarder.

Stanley Fliss, 14, another son of the family, awakened by the fire, jumped out a second story and, burned and bruised, ran a half mile to the nearest house. In a condition of hysteria, he was unable to tell what had happened.

ASKS SEARCH FOR WIFE.

Charles Perkins, a laborer of 411 Linden avenue, Winnetka, requested Chicago police yesterday to search for his wife, Marian, 33 years old, who left home Saturday night and has not communicated with her husband since.

FUGITIVE, ONCE PROSECUTOR, IS FOUND DEAD HERE

John B. Merrill, 73 years old, a former district attorney of Queens county, New York, who had been sought for more than a year after his disappearance with $5,400 belonging to a firemen's association, was found dead yesterday in his room at the Great Northern hotel, where he had lived since last September under the name of Ford S. Porter. An autopsy is to be performed today on orders of Coroner Herman N. Budesen to determine whether Merrill died of natural causes.

The body was identified with aid of Merrill's son-in-law, George Sohns Jr. of Richmond Hill, N. Y., after the police had notified him that a note found in the room contained his name. In a money belt, which Merrill was wearing, the police found $850.

Merrill was elected district attorney for Queens county in 1898 and during his term won a reputation as a terror to criminals by convicting many of them who had been defying the authorities for years.

CITY CLEANSING ITS REPUTATION, RANDOLPH SAYS

Finds World Opinion of Chicago Is Improved.

Chicago, hitherto maligned as a city where crime held sway, has at last begun to cast aside that clouded reputation and to stand before the world as a leader in commerce and many other fields of endeavor. This is the picture drawn in a statement made public yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The transformation is attributed to an awakened public consciousness, which inspired the Association of Commerce to launch a campaign that would reveal the city as it is and not as it has been painted.

"A noticeable swing in world opinion from a former attitude of hostility toward Chicago to one of appreciation, and in many instances even of admiration, has occurred during the last six months," said the statement, prepared by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the association.

Newspapers Indicate Change.

"Three books, articles in four of the nation's leading magazines, and 30,000 newspaper clippings from over the world, all of a laudatory nature, have been received by the association's publicity department within the last 30 days."

Supplanting the former overdrawn picture of crime and corruption, millions of newspaper readers, Col. Randolph pointed out, are getting a picture of Chicago as a city of progress in education, in the arts, and in commerce.

The association's campaign, when completed, will include a series of motion pictures, booklets advertising Chicago, a cooperative plan with well known lecturers, a monthly pictorial magazine edited by women's clubs in support of the Chicago Beautiful league, and distribution of information on Chicago by hotels and railroads serving the city. All of these activities will be directed toward heralding the name of Chicago as a good, peaceful, and progressive city.

Urges Suppression of Crime.

"Chicago's reputation cannot be returned to its true position in weeks or months," Col. Randolph said. "For some unfortunate reason the libels aimed at the city have been going on for generations. But with a people awakened to the facts and serious in their intention to tell the facts much can be done.

"All of this effort, of course, depends largely upon the suppression and punishment of the criminal element. The association's recent launching of a campaign to enforce law was to end the cancer on the side of Chicago's progress."

BRITAIN WARS ON HER TAX DODGERS; OWE $175,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—The greatest income tax roundup British collectors have made in many years is now proceeding in full force. The government is making a superhuman effort to squeeze out $175,000,000 from the tax payers before April 14 when Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden will reveal the mysteries of the 1930 budget.

Due to the fact that it is absolutely essential to raise an additional $175,000,000 before the budget is announced, tax collectors are refusing to accept any excuses.

Both the London and the provincial courts are clogged with summons and writs calling for the unpaid January installments, while the solicitors of the department of revenue are to be seen in Kingsway daily with thousands of writs against defaulters of more than $250. Post dated checks offered as payment of the installments are mercilessly turned down, the days of grace are being reduced, and prosecutions speeded up.

The roundup is being pursued so ruthlessly that the small tax payers have already coughed up nearly $5,000,000 more than at the corresponding period last year, although the super tax payers are $8,750,000 behind last year.

In the meantime the greatest secrecy surrounds the forthcoming budget and almost fantastic means are being taken to guard its secrets. No important treasury official frequents clubs or accepts dinner invitations now.

Only eight persons know the budget's secrets. Mr. Snowden burns all the day's notes every night.

RUSSIA TO FIGHT EASTER HOLIDAYS WITH GAY FETES

Plan Month of Play All Over Nation.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, March 23.—Although the soviet government has officially declared an armistice in its war against religion, promising believers that forcible nationalization of churches will be discontinued temporarily, the commissariat of education continues to organize atheistic societies. A subsidized department of the Bezboshniki —the Godless—is holding a special congress in Moscow, planning new methods for fighting religion.

Anti-Easter Campaign.

The deputy commissioner of education, Prof. Jaroslavski, president of the Bezboshniki movement, opened the meeting announcing the decision to change the name of the society into "The Fighting Atheist Union," stating that today the union has 2,500,000 members, an increase of 250 per cent within the last nine months.

He also discussed plans to combat the observance of Easter by organizing a nation-wide atheist program of entertainment, which will last an entire month, beginning April 15 and ending May 15, thus covering the celebration of Easter in both the new and the old style calendars.

The Bezboshniki will supply speakers at meetings arranged by the workers' clubs in social houses, recreation centers of the Russian army, and in seized churches. Prizes are offered for the best anti-religious songs and plays. Sporting events will also be held with anti-religious carnivals.

Ease Up on Kulaks.

MOSCOW, March 23.—(AP)—Much satisfaction was expressed in all quarters today over the decree issued by the central executive committee of the soviet union last night ordering immediate correction of the practice of disenfranchising certain categories of citizens, evicting them from their homes, and even exiling them.

The decree was interpreted by many as meaning that Russia's communist rulers have definitely embarked upon a policy of moderation toward those who heretofore were regarded as irreconcilable class enemies. The committee's decree not only threatens with severe punishment any official found guilty of such practice in the future, but orders immediate rectification in all cases where citizens were unjustly treated.

GUNPLAY SHUTS GUINAN'S SHOW; TWO ARE HELD

Sweitzer Is Shot Amid Green Mill Throng.

the girls wore Mexican togs and brandished cap pistols, Miss Wahl was hit on the head by two of the metal toy guns.

Miss Guinan did some firing herself, it was disclosed, the Hayes and O'Reilly girls losing their jobs. Miss Hayes, according to the police, was the sweetheart of Sweitzer, which Prosecutor Marovitz regarded as significant because the girl accompanied Sweitzer to the Green Mill early Sunday morning.

The Prosecutor's Theories.

"Sweitzer said the shooting was over money," Mr. Marovitz said. "It probably was, but the disappearance of Ted Newberry, the recent murder of John [Billiken] Rito, alias Russo, one of Newberry's men, and the supposed murder of another of Newberry's crew, may have been contributing causes.

"Also the recent beatings administered to a couple of the patrons of the Green Mill and the finding of a large quantity of dynamite at the rear entrance of the Little club are events connected with this shooting."

Here's the story that Sweitzer told to Marovitz at the hospital, according to the prosecutor:

"I took Lorraine to the theater Saturday night and then to the Little club," Sweitzer said. "About 3:15 Sunday morning we drove to the Green Mill. I took along Solly Marks, who used to be doorman at the Mill and now works for us at the Little club.

"They stayed in the car while I went in to talk to Voller. Voller and I were sitting at a table near the entrance. I told him I heard Guinan was leaving next week and Voller said that was true. I told him he owed me $2,000 now and he would have to pay the rent until May 1, even though he did close the place. He told me I wouldn't get a dime, and I said I'd have to come in and take the receipts.

"Then this Art Reed came to the table and asked me if I thought I could push them around. I said I wanted what was coming to me and Reed and another man whose name I don't know each hit me on the head with a gun. Then they told me to get back against the wall and all three of them had guns pointed at me and they ordered me to walk upstairs to the office, which I did.

Shot As He Runs, He Says.

"Inside, Reed told me to kneel down. I wouldn't do it and he shot me in the leg. I turned to run and both Voller and the third man fired at me but I kept running.

"Down in the lobby Lorraine had just come in to see what had kept me so long and she and Marks helped me into the car and took me to the hospital."

Voller denied having fired a shot. So did Reed. Voller's story was that Sweitzer entered the cabaret and demanded money—threatening to seize the money in the cash register, and that the shooting must have occurred after Sweitzer left the place.

Lieut. William Lang reached the Green Mill a minute or two after the shooting, he said, and he arrested Voller and Reed but found no pistols in their possession. Soon after he had taken them to the station Miss Guinan arrived and sought to bail them out.

She telephoned to numerous friends of presumed political influence but none of them was able to shake Prosecutor Marovitz's decision to hold the two, pending a possible murder charge, or a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Miss Hayes was at the station, too, opposing Miss Guinan and insisting that Voller and Reed be kept in jail.

Texas, however, sought to win her way by pleasantries.

"I've brought the Rolls, who's got the coffee," she announced, referring to her automobile. "This is my first record at this police station. I usually make them for the talking machine people."

She sat down at a typewriter and offered to type her own statement but the police declined. Then she entered her denials of knowledge of the shooting and invited the policemen to have dinner with her at a loop hotel.

"You can always reach me at any court in New York," she told them and departed.

2 HELD IN AUTO DEATH.

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—John Claeys, 25, and Edward Russell, 23, were held on charges of investigation and drunken driving Sunday night, while police investigated the death of Ervin Snaidecki, 13, schoolboy, who died at Epworth hospital of injuries received when his bicycle was struck at noon by the light coupe driven by Claeys.

FORD TRACTORS MADE IN IRELAND TO U. S. DUTY FREE

What He Pays Irish Labor Kept from Congress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Ford tractors, being manufactured at Cork, Ireland, in increasingly large numbers, enter the United States duty free under paragraph 1604 of the tariff act free list exempting agricultural implements from import charges, as Treasury disclosed today.

Using foreign labor, and to some extent foreign materials, the Ford Motor company now does its tractor manufacturing exclusively in Ireland, taking advantage of the lack of American duties to ship the product back to this country, where it competes with American built tractors made by other American companies.

New Cork Plant Grows.

The extent to which the Ford tractor plant at Cork has grown was noted in a cable dispatch to THE TRIBUNE, in which it was stated that during January 1,366 tractors were sent from Cork to New York and in February the number increased to 2,505. Tractor parts weighing 167 tons were sent in January and 427 tons in February.

Considerable light was thrown upon the Ford tractor activities in Ireland last July when R. O. Roberg, assistant sales manager for the Ford company, appeared before the senate finance committee during its hearings on the pending tariff bill. Members of the committee questioned Roberg upon the possible relation of Mr. Ford's approval of free trade, so far as his company's products are concerned, to his Irish tractor business.

Mr. Roberg told the committee the Ford company shut up its tractor factory in Detroit and moved to Ireland because it was "handicapped for space" when bringing out the new model Ford automobile. Ireland was the logical place to go, he said, because "we have had a tractor plant there as far back as 1917, established there during the war." Importation of Irish made tractors into this country started early in 1929, he said.

No Cost Figures Submitted.

Before the Detroit tractor plant was closed, however, the treasury department made a ruling that tractors were agricultural implements, and, therefore, on the free list, although Mr. Roberg said past sales indicated that only 32 per cent are used for agricultural purposes.

Roberg, in reply to questions, said that although no cost figures had been prepared, he thought the tractor manufacturing cost in Cork would be "much higher" than in Detroit. This apparently seemed incredulous to Senators David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] and A. W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.], but their demand for precise information was unavailing resulting in a discussion as to why Mr. Ford did not testify in person.

"I cannot quite understand the economics of the situation, where you say that the primary cost of making a tractor in Ireland is more than the primary cost in the United States," said Senator Barkley.

ROBERGH—We expect that it will be so.

BARKLEY—And where your principal market is in the United States it seems to me it would have been cheaper to have established an entirely new plant here for the American market.

ROBERGH—That is a question of decision on the part of Mr. Ford.

REED—That is one reason why I asked Mr. Ford himself to come here.

Questioned further as to the cost of labor in Ireland, Mr. Robergh testified that the labor cost in Ireland "is not particularly lower" than in the United States but, pressed for figures again pointed out that he did not have the information at hand. This colloquy ended with a request by Senator Reed for information later in writing.

Mr. Robergh later wrote the committee in part, as follows:

"The writer regrets his inability to answer every question concerning our we know you will appreciate it is difficult in an organization as extensive as ours for any one individual to be in possession of all details so as to answer any question which might be asked of him. A questionnaire, it would seem, would be much more practical, as it would provide an opportunity to collect the information from the various departments of our organization."

No Questionnaire Sent.

There is no record, however, of a questionnaire being sent and the committee passed over the tractor duty matter without further investigation.

Examination of the new tariff bill as passed by the house and revised by the senate shows that tractors still are duty free. The word "tractor" does not appear anywhere in the bill and therefore continues to come under the treasury department ruling that it is on the free list as an agricultural implement. With this protection the Ford company may continue to manufacture tractors in Ireland and ship them into this country without paying a duty.

Spreads Work Around.

Detroit, March 23.—(AP)—Reports that a large part of the work heretofore done in certain departments of the Ford Motor company was being let out on contract to outside firms brought from Henry Ford today the statement that the company never was committed to the policy of producing in its own plants everything that went into Ford cars and trucks.

More than 2,300 firms throughout the United States supply the Ford Motor company, Mr. Ford said. Business throughout the country is aided by this policy of decentralizing manufacture, he added.

Asked whether employment in the parent plants here had been reduced by the discontinuance of certain departments, Mr. Ford said:

"We inquired particularly into that before we acted. Thus far the men have been kept at other work as far as possible, and that means practically every man was retained in employment."

SEE FORD AS MAN TO PUT AUSTRIA'S GARY BACK ON ITS FEET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, March 23.—Henry Ford looms as the financial savior of poverty stricken Austria today, with the announcement that his company is on the verge of reaching an agreement putting the great but inactive Steyr industrial works on its feet again.

According to information received yesterday, the Ford company is ready to contract for $6,000,000 worth of spare parts annually, to be manufactured in the Steyr factory on condition that Austria allows Ford cars equal to that sum to be imported duty free.

At present there is a heavy tariff on all American autos, forcing up the price of a Ford to more than $1,000.

Mr. Ford was unable to obtain financial control of the Steyr works, as at first reported, the ownership remaining in the hands of the Rothschilds. The Steyr industrial works once rivaled Krupp's as one of the greatest European munitions plants.

Once a prosperous town, Steyr, which at one time resembled Gary, Ind., is now completely bankrupt. The city hall is shut up and most of the stores, schools, and hospitals are closed.

CAPONE MAKES READY FOR TRIP TO FLORIDA HOME

Signs of unusual activity were noticeable yesterday at Michigan avenue and Twenty-second street, where Alphonse Capone was recuperating from his ten months in a Philadelphia penitentiary. Three police cars were parked somewhere near the Lexington hotel, where the Capone gang in good times has occupied two entire floors.

Capone himself was making ready for a visit to his Palm island home at Miami Beach, Fla. By order of the federal court he is permitted to enter Florida in opposition to the demand of Gov. Carlton that any sheriff of the state seize Capone on sight and escort him to the border and tell him he is not wanted.

Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter signed the order Saturday night which prevents the state officials from "seizing, arresting, kidnaping or abducting the plaintiff, Alphone Capone, without warrant or authority of law."

POLICE RESCUE MOVIE MORON FROM CROWD

A theater audience of several hundred persons, infuriated by an attempted attack on a 10 year old girl in the Butler theater at 26th and Wallace streets last evening manhandled and seriously injured the girl's alleged assailant. The man, Joseph Martin, 30 years old, 3251 South Irving avenue, was rescued by a police squad and taken to the Bridewell hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and other minor injuries.

He was held on a charge of assault with intent to rape, on a complaint signed by Joseph Guidara, 460 West 28th place, father of the girl.

The child, who was attending the theater with her two sisters, had gone into a washroom, when Martin, who was sitting near the rear of the house, slipped in behind her and locked the door, according to the girl's story to the police.

Other occupants of the rear seats heard a girl's scream a minute later and rushed to the door. When it failed to open, they battered the door down and dragged Martin from the room, pulling him to the street. The mob of fifty was augmented by several hundred other spectators and by pedestrians who gathered as Martin was being pummeled about the street.

A riot call to the Deering police station brought Sergt. William Touhy and a wagon squad to the scene, but they were unable to reach Martin until they drew clubs and guns and fought their way through the milling crowd, clubbing heads and shoulders with their sticks and the butts of revolvers. The policemen formed a ring around the prisoner and rushed him to a patrol wagon as the angry crowd still struggled to wrest him from the police.

He was taken to the county hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He was later removed to the Bridewell hospital.

The girl was uninjured except for a few scratches on her face, inflicted as she struggled to free herself from her assailant.

DR. STONE TO RESIGN AS PASTOR BECAUSE OF SEMINARY DUTIES

The Rev. Dr. John Timothy Stone, for 21 years the pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, asked his congregation yesterday to accept his resignation as pastor in order that his entire time may be given to his work as president of the Presbyterian Theological seminary.

Dr. Stone stated that his acceptance two years ago of the presidency of the seminary implied that in time he would be obliged to give his full time to the development of what was formerly the McCormick Theological seminary. He also pointed out that the Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, co-pastor of the Fourth church, has become familiar with the life of the church and is amply fitted to succeed as the pastor.

"I am now fully convinced," Dr. Stone said to his congregation yesterday, "that with the able support of the officers of this church, together with the loyal coöperation of our entire membership, supplemented by the efficient service of the church force, Dr. Anderson can carry on successfully the full leadership of the church as your pastor."

Dr. Stone pointed out the close relationship of the Presbyterian seminary and Fourth church. Dr. Stone asked that the resignation take effect on May 15, the twenty-first anniversary of his pastorate.

After being graduated from Amherst college and Auburn Theological seminary, Dr. Stone was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry, and served as pastor at Utica, N. Y.; Courtland, N. Y., and Baltimore, Md., before coming to Chicago as pastor of Fourth church. He was the moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly in 1913-'14. In 1918 Dr. Stone declined a call to the First Presbyterian church of New York City.

GRIEF STRICKEN MOTHER MAKES PLEA TO THIEVES

Mrs. Joseph Burris of 1063 North Shore avenue believes that if thieves who looted her son's trunk on Saturday night, knew how much she treasured the last articles they might return them to her.

The trunk was shipped Thursday from St. Mary's college, Kansas, and arrived at the Union station Saturday. The thieves stole it from a delivery truck while it was stopping at a filling station in Niles.

Police found the trunk yesterday morning in a ditch near the filling station. It was emptied of the school books, clothing, letters and photographs which Mrs. Burris had so carefully packed in the dormitory room at St. Mary's college, where her 17 year boy, Joseph Jr., died after a brief illness last Tuesday.

EIGHT KILLED AS FAST TRAIN CRASHES SEDAN

3 Die in Another Accident Near Quincy.

Auburn, N. Y., March 23.—(AP)—Four youths and four girls were killed near here tonight in a grade crossing crash. A gasoline coach of the Auburn line of the New York Central railroad, running at high speed, caught the small sedan in which the young folk were traveling broadside, hurled it against a fence 30 feet away, and scattered the bodies 200 feet along the tracks.

The bodies were so badly mutilated identification was difficult. Hours after the accident the four men only had been identified through papers in their pockets. They were Earl J. Besaw, Syracuse; Frank Straus, address undetermined; Edward Cheldren, Syracuse; and Darling Anletta, Syracuse. The four girls had not been identified.

The accident happened about five miles west of Auburn. The occupants of the automobile evidently did not see the approaching railroad coach, though its view at the crossing is unobstructed for a long distance.

Three Killed in Crash.

Quincy, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Three persons were killed and another may die as the result of an automobile accident south of Quincy late this afternoon. A car driven by Daniel Crocker of Quincy collided with a car driven by Robert Haire of Burton, Ill. The dead are Mary Earel, 15, of Quincy; Miss Emma Haire, 29, and Miss Haire, 4, of Burton, Ill. Mrs. Sylvester Haire has a fractured skull. Crocker's car was occupied by five girls, members of the Epworth league, one of whom was Miss Earel.

Train Hits Car; Four Dead.

Trenton, N. J., March 23.—[Special.]—Four persons, two men and two women in an automobile, were killed at Scudder Falls, six miles west of Trenton, today when their car was struck by the Stroudsburg express of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The victims, all of Philadelphia, were identified as Ernest Hauldworth, 37; Thomas Davis, 70; Mrs. Joseph Davis, 69, his sister-in-law, and Mrs. Clara McMullen, 50, Mr. Davis' niece.

Banker Killed by Car.

Louisville, Ky., March 23.—(AP)—Bazzel Dohrmann, cashier of the Security bank here, was killed in an automobile accident today. Ten minutes later police arrested F. H. Poschinger, general manager of the American Elevator and Machine company. He was charged with manslaughter and failure to stop and give aid.

SALESMAN FOUND DEAD.

Merth L. Weaver, 60 years old, 907 Airdrie street, a salesman, was found dead yesterday in a shanty at the Genio Wallace lumber yard at 2187 Clybourn avenue. The police believe he suffered a heart attack while in the lumber yard on business.

AUTOS KILL 2; NEIGHBORS MEET IN CRASH, HURT

A youth and an elderly man were killed yesterday in traffic accidents, their deaths increasing the county motor toll this year to 199. The victims:

Arthur Radloff, 19 years old, son of a Dundee farmer. He was instantly killed when a motorcycle he was riding collided with a car driven by George Cada of Palatine, on Hough avenue near Barrington. Cada escaped with minor injuries.

Thomas Clarks, 70 years old, 1839 North Albany avenue. While crossing Albany at Armitage avenue he was run over by a hit and run driver and was pronounced dead at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital. Witnesses told Shakespeare police that the vehicle was a mail truck.

Although they lived but a block apart, John Casey, 24 year old policeman of 531 West 42d place, and John Miller, also 24, of 504 West 43d place, had never met until their cars collided early yesterday at 53d street and Kimbark avenue, both suffering possible skull fractures. They were taken to the Albert Billings Memorial hospital.

Plumbing Bill Quarrel Results in Fatal Injury

A quarrel over a plumbing bill resulted in death yesterday for Stanley Meriach, 33 years old, 13914 Entre avenue, Burnham. The plumber, Stanley Jasek, 36 years old, 13717 Brainard avenue, had installed a water heater in Meriach's home. The latter criticized the work, claimed he had been overcharged, and on Saturday night went to Jasek's home with his grievance. Jasek, according to East Side police, admitted pushing his customer down stairs. Meriach walked home, lapsed into a coma there, and was taken to St. Marharet's hospital at Hammond, Ind., where he died of a skull fracture.

MUSSOLINI LIFTS TAX BURDEN ON ITALY'S FARMER

Ancient Internal Revenue Law Scrapped.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 23.—Premier Mussolini chose today's celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the organization of the first armed Fascist squads to announce drastic sweeping reforms in internal revenue in Italy, in which millions of lire in local produce taxes are involved.

A decree law, signed by King Victor Emmanuel, abolishes the intercommunal and interdepartmental customs barriers which existed in Italy since the middle ages, dating from the time when the peninsula was a jumble of small states and free cities.

Hereafter municipalities will not have the right to levy taxes at the city gates on farmers coming in with produce. Intercity taxes on manufactured products are also abolished. This revenue went to local tax coffers, and under the decree of law a new system for levies of local taxation is provided.

Big Help to Farmer.

The movement for the abolition of the local customs barriers, or "Dazio," has been under way for some time. Any one from the city who went into the country and bought a bushel of potatoes or a couple of quarts of wine had to face the customs officer at the city gates on return and pay a duty.

It is expected that the reform will stimulate a freer movement of agricultural products and will prove a great boon to the farmers. It will also relax many of the difficulties by the free internal exchange of manufactured goods.

Hail Birth of Fascism.

ROME, March 23.—(AP)—With Fascist demonstrations of party strength and unity in every city and large town, Italy today celebrated the eleventh anniversary of the foundation of the "Fasci," the combat units from which the Fascist party arose.

The Fascist secretaries in all districts read a message from Premier Mussolini in which the duce declared that, during eleven years, Fascism had prevailed over a thousand difficulties of every kind, but that many more no less grave awaited it.

After a big meeting in Milan, Augusto Turati, secretary of the party, reviewed a parade of black-shirt militia. Milan is considered the birthplace of fascism.

All the cities of Italy were beflagged throughout the day, and special illuminations were turned on tonight. Floodlights bathed the public monuments.

Fascist leadern everywhere paid tribute to the memory of Michele Bianchi, one of the "quadrumvirs" of the famous march on Rome. He was the first of the duce's four chief aides in the historic march to die.

PLAN TO REDUCE GRADE CROSSING MENACE IN U. S.

National Conference to Be Held.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Separation of grades at highway intersections as well as at railroad crossings will be one of the chief committee recommendations discussed at the third national conference on street and highway safety to be held in Washington in May.

Sending out invitations for the conference to state and city traffic authorities today, Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont called attention to studies by the committee on protection of railway grade crossings and highway intersections which will bring in a report dealing with remedies for congestion at focal traffic points. The report will discuss both grade separations and traffic circles.

Intersections Control.

"Highway intersections are the controlling points governing the usefulness of the highways," the Lamont statement asserted. "The intersection of two equally important highways limits the time available for movement along each highway to somewhat less than one-half of the total time. The restriction becomes important when the volume of traffic on one highway requires more than 50 per cent of the time available at a major intersection."

Another recommendation of the grade crossing committee will be that the width of roadways be increased in approaching grade separations or circles.

A half dozen other committees are busy with intensive studies of various phases of the motor traffic problem, according to Mr. Lamont, seeking to increase the elements of safety, cut down the hazards of careless driving, and bring about more coöperation between drivers and pedestrians.

Uniform practice in making the left turn will be one of the goals of this year's conference. The inside direct turn on the green light, as adopted in Chicago, has been found the most common type, but many eastern cities still are using the outside rotary turn, involving a wait for the light to change, and a few use a method involving a turning interval in the light change cycle. This lack of uniformity causes much trouble for tourists.

Complete prohibition of U turns at intersections and restrictions on midblock turns in congested areas are favored by the committee on these subjects.

How to get the pedestrian across crowded thoroughfares is another problem being studied. Traffic authorities are agreed, according to the Lamont statement, that pedestrians should observe traffic lights, but should have the right of way over right turning vehicles.

THE SOUTH IN THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The usefulness of Claudius H. Huston of Tennessee as chairman of the Republican national committee seems to be more than in question. He explains and defends his connection with Muscle Shoals promotion and with money collections to secure acceptance of the American Cyanamid company bid, a fund at one time used to cover his stock margins, it appears, but the Republicans do not care to enter the congressional elections with him in charge.

Mr. Huston is an exhibit of the new Republican endeavor to break further into the Democratic south, to keep what Hoover took from Al Smith and to extend possessions further. It has not been executed with many fortunate results for the party. In trying to make the Democratic south Republican the management is making the Republican north Democratic. The control of the party is being turned over to the worst section of its hereditary enemies.

Mr. Hoover's strength in the south was not and is not and can not be new strength in the Republican party. He did not get the new south, where industrial development might produce voters with the Republican point of view. He got the backward south, the clergy ruled fundamentalists. He got votes inspired by intolerance. There weren't any political principles involved in the switch-over from the Democratic to the Republican column in the south. There was a great deal of bigotry. There was considerable itch for profit and plunder. The sale of federal offices already was making a scandal. Some of the turncoats hoped to make it a bigger one. Mr. Hoover is annoyed by that situation now.

Political clerics such as Bishop Cannon traded southern Democratic voters for control in the Republican national management. Their price was to be the dictation of policies obnoxious to many of the great Republican states. They used biddable and inflammable southerners to get a commanding position in the councils of a party which has had no use for their kind. When the Republican party is itself its enmity for these ideas and the people governed by them is instinctive.

The spirit of the fugitive slave act was injected into the management of the party which detested it. The Republican party was spread in the south by discarding its own best and taking over the Democratic worst. It was and is political degeneration. Southern Democrats of principle were not beguiled by it. It got the Cannons and Heflins. It would have been one thing to have taken the election and called it a day, but that was not the program at all. The administration has tried to keep these offensive elements in the party and, of course, can do so only by submission to their requirements.

It would seem that the purpose was to take the bigotry and illiteracy of the south and join it to the bigotry and illiteracy of the north and call it a party. It may be in the book that the American people must divide politically along that line before they can decide the questions of constitutional government, social control, and individual rights. If that is to be the case one may be certain that the party of bigotry and illiteracy will not win. If the Republican party takes to this road it is on the way to the cemetery to join the other American parties which have supported oppression or compromised with its supporters.

It would be a desirable thing to break down the solidity of the south in political action, but to be desirable it requires another fashion of doing. It must come through honest differences of political opinion bringing decent citizens to support opposing candidates and ideas.

WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE LIKE.

The largest crowd that ever attended an indoor sporting event in the United States was present a few nights ago at the Stadium in Chicago. The attraction was the Golden Gloves boxing tournament between amateurs representing Chicago and New York. Any one present who looked about him must have been impressed with the fact that the spectators provided a pretty accurate cross-section of contemporary American manhood. All classes and occupations and all degrees of education and wealth were represented. A good many fathers brought their growing boys to give them a lesson in courage.

It was a gathering typical of contemporary America, assembled to enjoy a sport which many women and all effeminates prefer to avoid. The house was sold out a week in advance. Thousands more wanted to go, but couldn't. If that assembly was typical of America, and no one who was there will doubt that it was, the policies of our government of recent years must be regarded as alien to the American people. We do not abhor strength and the possession and use of force. We are not unable or unwilling to fight when occasion demands. The American people is not pacifist, as our leaders seem to think. We are not internationalist, as the reverence of the audience when the flag was raised plainly showed. At every opportunity the American people have voted against an effeminate foreign policy, but for reasons which are difficult to fathom the representatives of the people in Washington continue to pursue a foreign policy marked by timidity, if not by downright cowardice.

WIDEN THE ROADS NOW.

The state's road-widening program in the vicinity of Chicago may be postponed again, this time because of the failure of the county to obtain rights of way 100 feet wide where the roads are to be improved. The present pavements are commonly 20 feet wide. They are to be widened to 40 feet. At present the rights of way are commonly 66 feet wide, which is ample for a 40 foot pavement, but may not be adequate to meet the needs of a future day.

The state road administration is correct in anticipating the future needs of traffic, but it is not justified in disregarding the needs and rights of the present for the sake of the future. Chicago has paid its millions into the state treasury for licenses and gasoline taxes and Chicago motorists are entitled to the relief from the present intolerable congestion on the radial highways for which payment has been made. A 66 foot right of way is more than adequate for a 40 foot pavement. The 40 foot pavements should be laid as soon as possible and the additional strip of land can be obtained later. The refusal of the state authorities to proceed under present conditions would be regarded by Chicago motorists as deliberate disregard of their interests; the excuse would be considered too flimsy to be considered seriously.

The 100 foot policy is an inheritance from the Small administration, which was interested in building roads primarily because of their usefulness in maintaining a political machine downstate. It is a policy which can readily be applied through rural counties, but which is bound to meet with difficulties in a region of urban land values. Those difficulties can be surmounted, but we cannot wait for adequate highways.

It would be particularly unfortunate if road building were to be postponed in this year of unemployment and depression, when there is greatest need for extensive public works to revive business. In the face of this great need for the roads and for the employment they will provide, the temporary side-tracking of a bit of bureau routine is a small matter.

REAPPORTIONMENT AND TAX REFORM.

Every one who has given the subject any attention at all will heartily agree with Gov. Emmerson's assertion that "our revenue structure is as anachronistic as would be a team of oxen in these days of rapid transportation." Experts have said it is about the worst in the United States. It constitutes both the most difficult and the most urgent problem of government in Illinois, and it is to be said confidently and emphatically that we cannot have wholesome political conditions or really responsible government until it is solved. Its effects are wide and deep, reaching every citizen, whether he realizes it or not, and every institution and public activity. It makes inequality in taxation unavoidable and puts a premium upon official corruption, injustice, and waste. At this time, certainly in Chicago and Cook county, its evils are the most prominent facts in our consciousness. The governor does well to bring the subject into the foreground of public discussion, and we hope he will keep it there.

But important as comprehensive tax reform is, no program can be accepted until the legislature has performed its constitutional duty and reapportioned the state. The people of Chicago, Cook county, and the metropolitan district generally can not afford to accept any new mechanism of taxation while they are denied the right of equal representation. They can not and they will not. Cook county now is entitled under the constitution to five more senators and fifteen more representatives. It has representation on the basis of population in 1901, which then was about two million. Chicago itself now has over three. From 1910 to 1927 Chicago's population increased 44 per cent, the state outside of Chicago 20 per cent. For twenty years the legislature of Illinois has refused to obey the mandate of the constitution and still denies to Chicago and Cook county its proportionate representation.

This is consistent with neither law nor morals. It is nullification at its worst, and any consideration of constitutional reforms in Illinois, if it is to be more than an academic exercise, must be conditional upon the restoration of equal representation. No taxation without representation is a principle Americans fought to establish. It is as sound now as it was in 1776.

Editorial of the Day

ANOTHER BAR ASSOCIATION ACTS.

[Hartford, Conn., Courant.]

The Bar Association of St. Louis, at a meeting last Wednesday attended by 300 of its members, adopted a ringing resolution for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It thus aligns itself with the bar associations of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and San Francisco, and there may be others which have escaped our attention. The St. Louis resolution declares the amendment to be a surrender to federal authority of police duties over the habits and conduct of individuals which originally and properly belonged to the states. The amendment is indicted as having undermined the federal system of government, caused ruthless killings of men, women and children, encouraged corruption and hypocrisy, and created a general disregard for law and order. Because it is being nullified so generally throughout the country, its outright repeal is urged.

There was but one open opponent of this resolution, Mr. Charles M. Hay, who was defeated as a Democratic candidate for the United States senate in the election of 1928, although he had the active support of the Anti-Saloon league, the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and other prohibition organizations. The resolution was carried by a practically unanimous vote. This action by the St. Louis bar is of particular significance because it is the first instance of what may be called a southern association of lawyers putting themselves on record.

The movement to ascertain the attitude of bar associations toward the amendment was started only recently by the voluntary committee of lawyers of New York City. It has already made gratifying headway and it is likely to become a powerful factor in influencing public opinion. Better than any other class of citizens, lawyers are in a particularly good position to observe the operations of the amendment and to note its effects. If they are chiefly concerned with its destructive results to government, they are no less mindful of its social consequences. Their testimony, as embodied in carefully considered resolutions, is not to be lightly regarded. It is entitled to receive the thoughtful consideration of those citizens who, mindful only of the harm resulting from the abuse of liquor, believed that the abuse could be corrected by giving the federal government the power to impose total abstinence upon everybody by compulsion of law and the employment of force.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

CACKLE! CACKLE! CACKLE! THE SENATE COMES OFF THE NEST.

Well, what a grand glad Monday this is! The senate finished up the tariff schedule Saturday night. At last! Some people had begun to think they never would get it done, but they did. Now all that there is left to do is for the Republican senators to get up today and say it's the grandest step in the progress of the American nation since the signing of the Declaration of Independence and for the Democrats to arise and declare that never since the w. k. Draco wrote his cruel laws in human blood has such a devastating blight been visited upon a hitherto happy and smiling country.

Then the new tariff bill will be put over by a substantial majority while the Republicans sing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the Democrats hold their noses and yell murder. Then the bill goes to the house and there'll be probably a month of seesawing up and down and finally the house will pass it and then the senate will pass it again, and after that it goes to the President for his signature and becomes a law.

The farmers ought to be happy; they get protected all over the place. And they should be happy, but they won't be. It's awful hard to make a farmer happy. Listen, now, hear 'em moan, hear 'em moan!

But what about us common people? We're going to moan, too—to the tune of 1,000,000,000 smackers a year, brother, 1,000,000,000 smackers a year! Look at safety razor blades; see what the new tariff's done to 'em. It's no use talking, we've got to let our whiskers grow; we can't afford razor blades under this new tariff. And shirts! Well, fellows, it looks as though we weren't going to be able to buy as many shirts as we used to. And we'll have to go back to the days when we wore those big, spread-out kind of neckties that covered up our shirt fronts pretty well so that they didn't have to go to the laundry so often and get all frayed out.

You can't tell what this tariff bill is going to do to you until it does it. And then it'll be too late. However, the new tariff will furnish innocent amusement for a while arguing about it. Of course, the people who say you're all wrong won't know anything about the tariff bill. Neither will you, so that makes it even.

APOLOGIA.

("Capone is pronounced in only two syllables, please."—Geno Forbes Herrick in The Trib.)

Oh Mister Capone,
We poets moan,
And likewise groan,
At leaving you prone,
And severely alone.
But Mr. Capone!
Our muse was a stone,
Our rhymes all were flown,
Till Geno had shown,
'Twas pronounced thus—Capone.
But now that it's known,
We haste to atone,
Hail, poets! enthrone
Mr. Alfonse Capone!

THE COMMISSION appointed to report on the withdrawal of our marines from Nicaragua as soon as conditions would warrant has reported that the marines should be withdrawn from Nicaragua as soon as conditions warrant. Gosh, aren't commissions wonderful!

OH, LLEWELLYN JONES! LOOKIT!

And now, darn it, we've got to stop reading one of the best books we've read in a coon's age to read Llewellyn Jones' "How to Read Books." Not but what we'll enjoy Llewellyn's book; the boy can write; but we do hate to lay aside that other one. We're just getting to the part that proves that Gen. Sherman and not Grant conceived the great idea of turning the flank of the Confederacy by that master stroke of grand strategy, the march to the sea. It was Sherman, master soldier, who thought that out, according to our book. (Old Cliff Raymond please note.) Anyhow, we can hang on to Hart's "Sherman, Soldier, Realist, American," for a while, because Llewellyn Jones hasn't sent up a copy of his new book yet. However, after this pleasing and entirely unexpected mention of it, we really can't see why he won't. Goodness, the man would have a heart of stone did he refuse!

A CHICAGO LADY is suing her husband for divorce because he threw trunks at her. But why not—he is a baggageman. Let the lady rather rejoice that she did not marry a stone quarry man.

PHILOSOPHY.

We are no longer given
To casual talk and theory;
The idle ways of make-believe
Have left us slightly weary.

We're tired of selection
By random or by lot,
For if we choose by trial
It's error like as not.

Let's not go in for culture
Where things concern the heart;
Why not be sane and primal?
Omit the running start.

Forget that love is logic,
And over cheese and beer
Return to old philosophy,
And mainly be sincere!

OWEN PETERSON.

LAGNIAPPE.

"CALL MONEY at two per cent."—Trib. All right, we did. We called and we called. "Come money," we called, "come two per cent; come money, pretty money, yah, yah, yah." Well, we kept calling till we got hoarse, but wouldya believe it, nothing happened. R. H. L.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BENZOL.

A SUBSTITUTE for the dangerous benzol has been found. It is petroleum naphtha. This solvent is cheaper than benzol. It satisfies the industry, since it dissolves the same substances in practical proportions and it evaporates at about the same rate. It satisfies the health officials in that it is far less dangerous and such dangers as there are can be easily guarded against.

Prior to the world war we knew almost nothing about benzol poisoning. The chemical was expensive; not many used it and not many industries were built around it. There were a few cases of acute benzol poisoning reported from dye factories and plants manufacturing photographic supplies and pharmaceuticals. Most of these were cases giving a history of entering a tank or a closed space and being quickly overcome by the fumes.

Then came the world war, causing large quantities of toluol to be manufactured. Benzol was a by-product. The manufacturers investigated the commercial possibilities of their by-product. They were found to be many. In a short while it was in extensive use in establishments manufacturing rubber tires, artificial leather, lacquers, quick drying varnishes and paints, rubber cements, hats, shoes, sealing compounds for cans. These and other industries are given by W. J. Burke as users of benzol.

Cases of chronic benzol poisoning began to be reported and the number of cases of acute poisoning increased. The authorities got busy. They ordered in hoods, ventilation ducts, and exhaust fans. It was found that not even these precautions gave wholly satisfactory results. There seemed to be no practicable way to completely protect against benzol.

The use of other solvents was proposed. But these had a different evaporation rate or they were equally unsatisfactory solvents, and now comes the proposal to substitute petroleum naphtha.

DIETS FOR 31 YEARS.

Mrs. S. C. D. writes: Will you please advise your opinion on dieting to keep from getting fat? Is long dieting dangerous? I began to diet at 19 years and have dieted for 31 years. Is it dangerous? In my case I simply never eat all I want, only a very little of anything. Some days it will average about 800 calories a day and other days, if I am away from home where I have to eat, I eat full meals.

Sometimes I feel weak and tired, but after a rest I am all right again.

REPLY.

Living on 800 calories a day, if kept up long, will harm you unless you hibernate like a bear and your hibernating and dieting follow the same curve. However, reports on dieting are notoriously inaccurate.

DRINKS TOO MUCH WATER.

E. H. M. writes: I drink by force of habit rather than by actual thirst 2 to 2½ gallons of water a day. This is a habit of many years' standing, induced as a child when I was recovering from scarlet fever and a nurse forced me to drink a large quantity of water daily over a period of five weeks. I notice no ill effects from this voluminous imbibing. Can it in time have any?

REPLY.

What else do you find time to do? It is not a good plan to drink too much water and that you are doing. It overworks your kidneys and causes excessive perspiration. Old time beer guzzlers discovered that man was not built on gallon lines.

GOOD AS ANY.

Mrs. W. G. C. writes: What is your opinion of the old time remedy of diluted vinegar, salt, red pepper and alum as a gargle for sore throat? I was raised on the belief of its healing, but now I am informed it has no value.

REPLY:

It is as good as any.

NO HARM IN MILK.

M. R. writes:

1. Is it detrimental to one's health to drink three to four glasses of milk a day?

2. How much should a boy weigh who is 19 years old and is 5 feet 9 inches tall?

REPLY.

1 No. I assume you are not fat, that the milk is safe, and that it agrees with you. 2. 155 pounds.

REPORTS ON USE OF RADIUM.

Mrs. L. S. D. writes: I had fibroid tumors of the uterus removed by radium eight years ago. There has been no recurrence.

This powerful element should not be used for this purpose, however, except by experienced physicians.

YOU'VE GOT YOUR GROWTH.

J. R. writes: Is it possible for a young man of 22 through exercise to grow taller?

REPLY:

No.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1865.

NEW YORK.—A Washington dispatch says the war department is reported to have received a message from Fortress Monroe stating that Sherman had arrived before the defenses of Raleigh on March 18, planted his guns in position, and sent a summons to Gen. Johnston to surrender. The result is not given. It is rumored on the streets, however, that Sherman and Johnston fought a battle near Raleigh and that Johnston was defeated.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Richmond Examiner of March 21 contains the following: "Yesterday was received the following dispatch announcing a brilliant victory in the vicinity of Raleigh: 'Cheering intelligence from North Carolina. Sherman routed.'"

NEW YORK.—The Commercial's Army of the Potomac special of the 20th says: "The soldiers keep packed up ready to move at a moment's notice. The rebels also have their knapsacks all prepared for a tramp. Gen. Grant looks for Lee to fall back." A Tribune correspondent avers, on what he deems to be the best authority, that Richmond is now being evacuated as fast as possible and that in a few days it will be occupied by the Union forces without a battle.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Lincoln, Mrs. Lincoln, Master Thomas Lincoln and a few invited guests left on the government steam yacht City Queen for an excursion down the Potomac and through Chesapeake bay. They will visit Fortress Monroe and Norfolk and then go by the James river to City Point.

CHICAGO.—Thomas Warnock of Meadville, Pa., and Sarah A. Duke, eldest daughter of Charles Roadnight of Chicago, were married on March 23 by the Rev. Clinton Locke.

MARCH 24, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Ex-Alderman William H. Lyman, who has served four terms in the Illinois house of representatives, was shot and dangerously wounded by Representative John F. O'Malley, the crime being an incident in the aldermanic campaign of "Major" John Sampson. O'Malley has been Sampson's chief backer in the 23d ward fight, and Lyman has supported Capt. Thomas J. Ford, the city hall candidate. The shooting occurred in the saloon owned by O'Malley and James Lyons at 40 North Clark street. O'Malley says the shooting was an accident. Lyman's recovery is doubtful.

LONDON.—Col. Plumer's retreat from Lobatsi to Crocodile Pools causes grave anxiety in London over the fate of Mafeking. The Boers claim that Plumer has been surrounded. A few days ago it was reported Plumer was within 14 miles of Mafeking, and the relief of the town was confidently expected. Therefore the news of his reverse comes as a shock.

CHICAGO.—A contract was signed in New York by a syndicate of capitalists for the purchase of the new issue of $5,000,000 bonds of the Ogden Gas company, recently authorized. Plans for new buildings and extensions were announced and as outlined involve a probable fight with the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company as to territory and gas prices. Roger C. Sullivan of the Ogden company confirmed the statement that there is no likelihood of a renewal of the contract between the companies for a division of territory.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The preliminary examination of Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged with abetting the assassination of William Goebel, began before Judge Moore. The courthouse was guarded inside and out by militia and scores of deputy sheriffs.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1920.

CHICAGO.—The Very Rev. F. X. McCabe, president of De Paul university and pastor of St. Vincent's church, one of Chicago's best known clergymen and one of the warmest advocates of freedom for Ireland, has been transferred to Kansas City. Father La Vanne of St. Louis is to succeed him. It is rumored that his superactivities in the Irish nationalist cause had much to do with Father McCabe's transfer.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—Victory is in doubt in the Republican presidential primary race between Gen. Leonard Wood, Frank O. Lowden and Senator Hiram Johnson. In 605 of the 1,740 precincts in 51 of 64 counties Gen. Wood is leading by 3,000.

CHICAGO.—Frank Piano, 606 South Morgan street, shot his son, 17 years old, several times when he found the boy with a gang of young toughs at Harrison and Halsted streets. The father said he feared the boy would become a bandit, "and it is better this way than if he were shot by a policeman." The boy's wounds are serious.

BERLIN.—More than 1,000 soldiers and workers have been killed at Halle in Westphalia, where 50,000 armed workmen are battling government troops. Serious fighting continues in many other sections of Germany. Insurgents have captured the palace in Schleswig, capital of the province of Schleswig-Holstein.

A TARIFF FOR EMPLOYMENT.

La Salle, Ill., March 20.—I have read your recent editorial with interest, suggesting a tariff for employment. The department of commerce reports that importations of finished manufactures have broken all records in 1929, which is no doubt one important cause of unemployment here, and also aided the decline in stock values.

Some of the apparent friends of the farmer in the senate voted to reduce the duty on acetone, which is now made from corn. Can you explain this? Are they simply uninformed, or have you some other explanation?

There is talk in Washington that Mr. Pickerell, lobbyist for the German chemical cartel, has been very active among the friends of the farmer, and he has evidently persuaded them that the duty on acetone is too high, which may result in German acetone, made from German potatoes, being imported to this country.

I hope you will raze some of these gentlemen who voted this way, as it shows how poorly informed some of the friends of the farmer are.

I have no interest in acetone other than my family owns three farms whose main crop is corn.

The number of words spoken by the Democratic and insurgent senators on the tariff is tremendous, and this is probably the cause of much unemployment and suffering throughout the country. EDWARD CARUS.

AVOIDING AN ACCIDENT.

Chicago, March 19.—A train accident yesterday evening resulted in a considerable loss, including the death of one of the enginemen involved. The hauling of the sewer pipes of the dimensions stated is not an ordinary example of traffic across lines of railway. It would appear that the railway company had ample forces in that territory to know what was being done and could have provided the workers moving the pipe with "jumpers" which could have been attached to the rails with clamps and shorted he signal circuits, giving the approaching trains signal indication of danger in case the obstruction was not removed without delay or accident.

Where trackmen or others are provided with appliances of this kind similar conditions result in stopping or slowing up of trains without damage. It is possible the railway officers do not think this method practicable, but they are doing a number of things at the present time which were not even considered necessary for safe operation in the past. An investment of a few dollars would have prevented the personal casualty and averted the excessive damage to equipment and roadway, also loss occasioned by ensuing delays.

SCIRE FACIAS.

NO HEADWAY.

Chicago, March 18.—We hear a great deal these days about the league of nations, the world's court, outlawing war, reducing armaments. But we do not seem to make any headway. The only explanation of this is the lack of sincerity. Of course England is sincere in wanting us in the league of nations. It seems to me that the first thing to do before any progress can be made is to outlaw that song the English are always singing to us, "Britannia Rules the Waves."

If all the nations were sincere there would be no need for any navies. It would be only necessary for each country to have a few swift cruisers to prevent piracy. JAY.

FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE.

Chicago, March 19.—On March 1 THE TRIBUNE printed three differe editorials which are hard to explain, consistency may be still called a virtu The first one sustains Justice Holmes his policies of recognizing the rights the individual, classifying him in the respect as a conservative in Americ principles. Then it follows down the line to old loyalists and new, from whic it goes on to comment on "Bill o Conscientious Objectors," in which seeks to justify the only right we while that an individual has be denied expression. Otherwise, whe comes to freedom of conscience, it sumes that government has a right disregard this, even though in almo everything else, of far less consequen and importance to a spiritual awakened soul, the rights of the individual are to be held sacred, confirmed. Where then is the differe between the soviet government's titude and that of THE TRIBUNE? is it a fact that in this supreme they both have a common policy mind through and by which the individual becomes a mere chattel unc government? JOHN L. METTEL.

COUNTING THE VOTE.

Chicago, March 18.—In the Voice of the People today a dry is already claiming victory in the Literary Digest poll. He has the audacity to claim modification votes as dry votes. He also sends the returns from the south and other strongholds of dry sentiment, bigotry and intolerance. Then too, he will be able to tally the votes of those who are influenced by the sordid narrowness of provincial life.

We who are living in the twentieth century are asked to submit to the will of those who would reenact the days of Cotton Mather. The reformer, who invariably is a bigot and hypocrite, is eternally attempting to make our lives as narrow and colorless as his.

R. EMMETT MCGRATH.

THE CITY STATE BANK.

Chicago, March 18.—How many of your readers are anxiously scanning THE TRIBUNE each day for news of their loss in the failure of the City State bank? All members of our family have lost their savings and still, since our finances are lost, cannot employ a lawyer to investigate the matter. What about the rest of the depositors? Must we consider our savings lost or is there hope of the money partly being returned to us? It is now five months since the bank closed and the state cannot yet assure us of protection. A STENO.

WE HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN IT.

Chicago, March 19.—We have missed your criticism on the neglect of the construction of the Chicago postoffice which was promised by our prominent cabinet members and still looks very gloomy. Have read former good articles and am in hopes of other ones appearing to remind our men at the capitol of the serious need in having this project to go on now. HERMAN SEILER.

AN IDEA.

Chicago, March 17.—As a daily reader of THE TRIBUNE I would suggest a contest for the homeliest girl. A pretty girl has lots of chances anyway. Why not give the homely girl a chance? It sure would be interesting to watch the photographs. MARIE.

DIVINITY NOW SURE DOTH HEDGE U. S. PRESIDENCY

Capital Accords the Job Regal Swank.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Of course, kings are but the trappings of a form of a government which is repugnant to a free people, but I should say that in the matter of the sanctity of the presidential person this capital does quite well.

Probably when a country grows as large as this one it becomes necessary to surround the presidential person with a certain swank and to shield him from pests. Down in Cuba almost anybody from the United States who can send in an engraved business card with the name of some big business house mentioned down in one corner may barge into the presidential palace to pass the time of the afternoon with President Machado.

Over in Europe, in the little pitcher-and-bowl palaces of Andorra and San Marino, the visiting tourists are asked to sit down to biscuits and grog while Madam President shoos the goats out of the front room and yells to the president down in the south forty, "O, Pa! Company!"

Old Simplicity Reformed.

Judging by what the old books have to say of life in Washington in the early days of the republic, simplicity was the way of things here, too, until the country grew so big and the profession of lobbying so obstreperous that it was deemed advisable as a matter of pride to invest the Presidents with certain of the minor prerogatives of kings, and as a measure of safety to make them less accessible.

I recollect reading after Mr. Harding's death that it wasn't so much the organic failure which killed him as the loss of vitality, which he expended shaking hands with thousands of amiable nuisances from everywhere, who would have been just as content to shake hands with Jack Dempsey.

The present era is what you might call the post-handshaking and post-baby kissing phase of the presidency, and the capital seems to have come to the idea that the English plan of keeping the king under glass and showing him only by appointment offers advantages which are quite worth while.

The President Receives.

Mr. Hoover sees the Washington newspaper correspondents twice a week, on Tuesday and Fridays, in an office in the old state, war and navy building from which Gen. John J. Pershing was dislodged by the only man in the U. S. A. who outranks him, the commander in chief of the army, the navy and the White House police. This is a terrible office, with a vermiform design suggesting a conventionalized twelve gauge eel wriggling around the room in a border about waist high and two brass chandeliers with huge brass goiters in the stems, dangling by brass bull chains from the ceiling. The whole building was executed in the spelling block style of architecture which occurred soon after the civil war.

After the fire in the executive offices of the White House last winter the President moved across the street to Gen. Pershing's office and the general moved one flight down to the next best suite, ranking somebody else out of there. I don't know just how far down the line this proceeded, but if it was carried out through all grades, some second lieutenant doubtless found himself ranked right out into the alley.

The Presidential Watchdog.

In the corridor outside the President's office sits Sergt. Dalrymple of the White House police force, who is soon to be elevated to a new rank of captain, to be created by an act of congress. I hear it explained that it really is quite necessary that the commander of the White House footguards be so elevated because, nowadays, although he commands a force equal to that of a precinct captain of police, he is at a disadvantage on social and diplomatic occasions.

They often confer temporary rank of a higher grade upon army and navy officers in unusual situations so that they may sit closer to their hosts at dinner on foreign stations, and doubtless there are times, such as the policemen's ball, when Sergt. Dalrymple is outranked by precinct commanders with no more responsibility than he was.

Strangers Must Explain.

At any rate, Sergt. Dalrymple sits there scanning the crowd of correspondents for unfamiliar parties, whom he investigates, and then at four the door of the President's office opens and the crowd moves in. The President is standing at his desk, a bit more gray than one had expected to find him, but with a pink blush on his cheeks and looking pretty fit. He smiles just warmly enough, and I made a note that if he had held it any longer or made it any broader, it would have been a political smile. He has a cold cigar in his right hand. A fellow tells me he smokes quite a few cigars. So does Coolidge. His hands are rather rough, and, seeing him use the left to the neglect of the right in turning papers several times, I wondered if he might be a left hander, the first left hander in the White House. But he couldn't be. There must be something in the constitution disqualifying left handers.

George Akerson, his top secretary, stands two paces to the rear and one to the left. A young woman sits at the table taking it all down in shorthand. There isn't much. A couple of news announcements. Marines returning from Nicaragua. A southern judge for the Supreme court replacing Justice Sanford, a southerner who died. Then, "I think that is all," and everybody moves out.

When the President rides out on business he rides through traffic signals, and the citizens who recognize him lift their hats if he isn't past and gone before they can uncover. But of recent years, in New York and Chicago anyway, this privilege of riding through traffic has been accorded all local dignitaries above rank of bailiff of the Municipal court and to a great variety of visiting orchestra leaders, ecclesiastics, flag pole sitters and channel swimmers, so perhaps it shouldn't count as a distinctive presidential prerogative here.

Bomb Indiana Harbor Cigar Store Third Time

For the third time in less than three years a bomb burst early yesterday in the rear of the Club cigar store, 3320 Michigan avenue, Indiana Harbor. The place was closed when the bombing occurred, and Indiana Harbor police were unable to locate the owner, believed to be Peck Gardner, who, in the previous bombings, had averred he knew no motive for the attackers. The police conjectured that gambling interests are responsible.

HOBOKEN FIRE LOSS REACHES $3,500,000; MANY AUTOS BURN

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—The fire which swept along a part of the Hoboken waterfront was brought under control today after burning since 10 p. m. yesterday and causing damage estimated at $3,500,000. More than 300 automobiles in crates on the three piers around which the fire centered were either destroyed or damaged.

Fighting a bitter battle and in constant danger of the collapse of a concrete bulkhead or driveway fronting on the piers, fireboats and the fire fighting apparatus of Hoboken and Jersey City did not get the upper hand until 6 o'clock tonight. Two of the firemen were injured, one of them critically.

During the afternoon, when the stubborn blaze showed no signs of yielding, a section of the concrete driveway, about 500 feet in length, collapsed with a rumble that was heard for blocks.

2 Are Killed When Plane Crashes at Tampa, Fla.

Tampa, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Irwin A. Yarnell, 17, of Highland Park, a high school student, and Donald Darling, 22, of Lake Wales, were killed here today in an airplane crash. Yarnell was a licensed pilot.

HUNDRED DRIVEN FROM HOMES AS BLAZE HITS STORE

Fire which swept the Everett department store, occupying the ground floor of a four story brick structure at Madison street and Oakley boulevard, routed forty families from apartments on the upper floors yesterday morning. An elderly physician was overcome by smoke and a fireman was seriously hurt.

Mrs. C. C. West, one of the 100 tenants, who fled in scanty clothing, stopped on the second landing to arouse Dr. John B. Ewing, who has offices and living quarters there. Failing to awake him, she fled to the street and notified firemen, who entered with smoke helmets and carried the doctor out, unconscious. He was taken to the County hospital, in serious condition.

To get hose streams into the basement, Fireman John Finley, 3942 Wellington avenue, and others of engine 4, were smashing the sidewalk with sledge hammers. The walk suddenly collapsed and Finley pitched ten feet into the basement, suffering a fracture of the knee cap and several broken ribs.

A 3 year old, Edward Duff, eluded his mother, Mrs. Mathew Duff, in the confusion, and was in a closet donning his Sunday clothes when she found him. Mother and son got out unharmed.

SEIZE BIG STILL AT BENTON.

Benton, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Sheriff James S. Pritchard and deputies confiscated a one hundred and fifty gallon capacity still and twenty barrels of mash at the home of Clem Euritis at Hergler last night. The still was the largest found in this county in over a year. Euritis entered a plea of guilty and was fined $600.

ACCUSES BROTHER OF ATTEMPT TO ROB RAIL STATION

Wyman Wheat, 928 Ash street, Waukegan, was being held by the Waukegan police last night for investigation of an attempted robbery of a North Shore line station after he had been accused by his brother, Henry, 41 years old. Henry told the Niles police that a pistol and an assortment of burglar's tooks, found in his automobile on Saturday night, belonged to Wyman.

Henry was arrested in his car at Waukegan and Milwaukee roads by the Niles police and a search revealed the pistol, a long knife, several jimmies, a blowtorch, and a hack saw. Questioned about a recent attempt to hold up the North Shore station at 10th street in North Chicago, Henry denied that he was implicated, but said that his brother was. The Waukegan police were notified and Wyman's arrest followed.

A New and Different Medicine

"Have Health Again; Owe It to Konjola"

MR. LEE MURRAY
6439 Drexel Avenue, Chicago

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Take, for instance, the experience of Mr. Lee Murray, 6439 Drexel avenue, Chicago, who says of this modern compound of 32 ingredients:

"Konjola has merit; I know that from my own experience. If any man had indigestion and stomach trouble worse than I did he was plenty sick. I couldn't eat a meal without suffering from gas, bloating and soreness. Constipation kept me filled with poisons. I took many medicines without result, and feared that I would have to go on with these troubles through life. But two bottles of Konjola made me feel 50 per cent better, and now that I have taken six bottles I feel like a new man. I have health again, and I owe it to Konjola."

THE GRAPHIC STORY
of what this new type oil does for your car

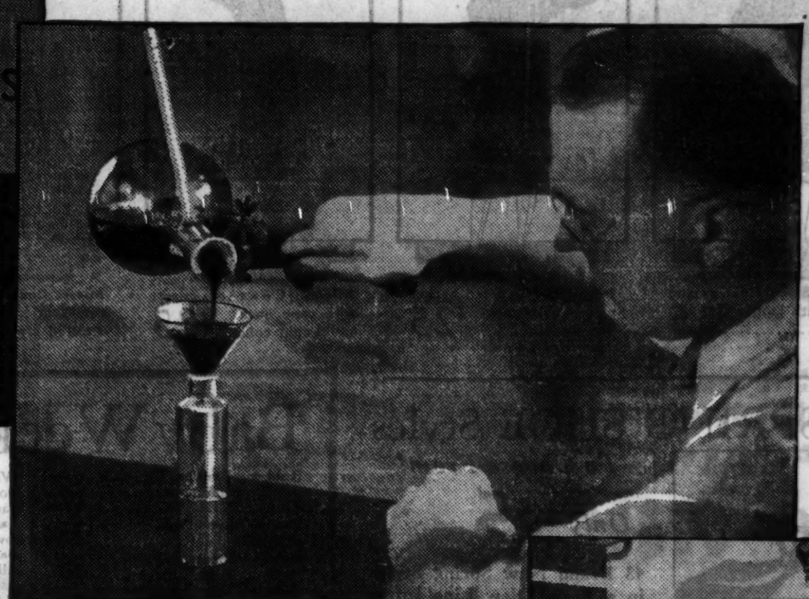
SOME OILS lubricate effectively at high engine temperatures but do not work well when the motor is cold. Others reverse this condition. New Iso-Vis not only stands up better under heat, but it gives unusually good results at extremes of cold.



NEW ISO-VIS does not "thin out" or "break down" in your motor. You will find that its body is as heavy when you drain it off as it was the day you put it in your crankcase. It will give you a new idea of the type of lubrication it is now possible to give your car.

New Iso-Vis also gives what engineers call a "greater viscosity range". It not only stands up better at high engine temperatures but it gives more effective lubrication when the engine is cold.

In addition, there is a radical reduction in carbon deposits. Both laboratory and road tests with New Iso-Vis show a carbon residue far below most premium-priced oils.

New Iso-Vis marks an important step forward in motor lubrication. It is now available at all Standard Oil dealers and service stations. This improved motor oil is worth trying. Change your oil and put in New Iso-Vis today.

THIS INTERESTING experiment proves definitely that New Iso-Vis does not "break down" in the automobile crankcase, regardless of miles of driving. The engineer in the illustration is pouring used New Iso-Vis through a special filter. The filter removes the crankcase dirt and the oil itself is exactly the same as when freshly distilled.

NOTICE THE COLOR of New Iso-Vis. It is a rich amber. New Iso-Vis is a wholly distilled oil. Its sturdy body is not obtained by adding undistilled parts of the crude.

NEW ISO-VIS means a radical reduction in the expense of carbon removal. It is wholly distilled oil—containing no undistilled parts of the crude from which comes much engine carbon.

New ISO-VIS Motor Oil 30¢ a quart

The New Polarine is also affected by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

TARIFF ACT MAY BE REWRITTEN TO SUIT HOOVER

President to Be Called to Settle Controversy.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—President Hoover will be drawn into the tariff controversy as adjustment of differences between the senate and house bills commence this week.

The President will be called to act as arbiter in the settlement of disputes, and will be in a position to dominate the rewriting of the bill.

Just as was the case when the farm relief law emerged from congress in the exact form desired by the President despite various rebuffs administered to him by the senate during its consideration, so is the new tariff act of 1930 likely to be in general conformity with his desires.

A White House Committee.

After the senate tomorrow passes the bill as shaped last night into final form and advanced to third reading, it will name a conference committee controlled by friends of the administration. A majority of the house conferees also will be ready to follow suggestions from the White House. There will be no radicals on either conference committee, and the Democrats will be in the minority.

Thus far President Hoover has been unwilling to interfere in contests over tariff duties, although he actively took a hand in opposition to the export debenture and flexible tariff provisions added in the senate.

The President may continue to refuse to make decisions in individual disputes over duties, but there is little question but that he will let the Republican conferees know his views on general policies to govern the framing of the final law.

See Approval of Farm Rates.

He will approve, it is expected, most of the high agricultural rates as carried in the senate bill. He will consent to the restoration of somewhat higher industrial rates in instances where the senate coalition of Democrats and radicals slashed house duties down to or below the present law. In adjusting the industrial rates he will favor holding them down somewhat below the high level of the house bill.

In the case of administrative provisions, the President's unalterable opposition to the export debenture farm relief scheme inserted in the senate bill over his protest is well known. There seems no question but that will be eliminated in conference. The senate may kick up a fuss over this action just as it did when conferees on the farm relief bill struck out a similar provision, but in the end a conference report will be accepted without the export debenture.

Several Injured as Bolt Strikes Church During Mass

VIGO, Spain, March 23.—(AP)—Several persons were cut and bruised today in a panic after lightning struck the Roman Catholic church in the village of Salceda, near here. The church was crowded with attendants at early mass.

CONGRESS' TARIFF DELAY SEEN AS CAUSE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Large share of responsibility for existing unemployment was placed upon congress because of its delay in passing the tariff bill in an interview given today by John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers. Mr. Edgerton discussed the unemployment problem in connection with the quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the association, at which steps were taken for a census of unemployment to be completed within a fortnight.

Mr. Edgerton said "preliminary reports from manufacturers at pivotal points in the country indicate that there has been undoubtedly a shading off in employment," but added "early reports show that the actual situation is not alarming so far as industry itself is concerned."

ENGINEER DIES AT HIS POST TO SAVE 80 PASSENGERS

Mansfield, O., March 23.—(AP)—Charles A. Bell of Mansfield, engineer on the fast New York-Detroit limited No. 105, of the Pennsylvania railroad, averted a bad pileup at the cost of his life when his engine left the rails near Spring Mill Junction, six miles west of here early today.

With only a few seconds to choose between leaping for his life and facing sure death in his cab, Bell remained at his post to set the air brakes when he felt the heavy engine hit the ties and careen toward a ditch. The setting of the brakes stopped nine Pullmans and about 80 sleeping passengers were saved from possible death or injury.

The engine, with Bell imprisoned in the cab, burrowed a hole eight feet deep in the soft earth. Two baggage cars and an express car turned over, but the Pullmans remained upright.

Fireman P. F. Jenson of Mansfield was thrown out of the cab and badly scalded.

The accident was believed to have been caused by a wobbly wheel on one of the baggage cars. Traffic on the main line was held up for eight hours.

Lithuania Has Parliament House, but No Parliament

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, March 23.—Although Lithuania remains without a parliament, as it was dissolved by the former dictator, Augustinas Valdemaras, following a putsch two years ago, new parliamentary quarters are expected to be completed during the coming week. Architects have been remodeling the ministry of justice for this purpose, but the present dictator, Jonas Tubelis, has not indicated when he will call new elections, as the country is getting along well without a parliament.

Ask Death Penalty to Curb Crime Wave in Holland

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, March 23.—Holland is becoming alarmed at the rapid increase in mysterious murders which have occurred at The Hague, Amsterdam and Rotterdam. The former president of the senate, Gen. von Voorst, has demanded that the government introduce the death penalty, declaring that in his opinion criminals have no fear of life imprisonment.

U. S. SILVER DUTY THREAT HASTENS CRISIS IN CHINA

Renews Pleas for Higher Tariffs on Bullion.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 23.—The action of the United States senate last week recommending a duty on silver had the effect of aggravating the silver crisis here and renewing agitation favorable to a high Chinese duty against further imports of foreign silver. This would artificially stimulate the local price.

Dr. H. H. Kung, minister of industry and commerce, is being pressed by the Chinese merchants who are demanding that the Nationalist government at Nanking prohibit the importation of all foreign silver coins which are constantly dumped here from British India as well as French Indo-China.

U. S. Experts Oppose Tariff.

T. V. Soong, finance minister, acting on the advice of an American commission of financial experts headed by Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, is standing out against the Chinese duty, but strong pressure is being exerted to compel him to agree. This is said to be stimulated by silver speculators, who have bought with the hopes that a Chinese duty would increase the price, enabling them to unload with a profit.

A high Nationalist government official made a bitter attack today on both the British and French governments in the far east, alleging that they are both unloading silver in China regardless of the price as a means of denuding both British and French Indo-China of their silver for the purpose of suppressing native revolutionary movements.

Civil War Complicates Crisis.

The most responsible Chinese foreign bankers here, while admitting that silver stocks here are abnormal, believe the stocks usable in the event the country is peaceful, enabling a trade revival, but they are fearful for the future due to the imminence of a new Chinese civil war.

FINE ARTS BLDG. RESTORATION TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

The Fine Arts building, relic of the Columbian exposition and future home of the Industrial museum, will begin to take shape this week as the architectural gem it was before time and neglect left it a picturesque ruin.

Visitors who viewed the building in Jackson park yesterday saw only bare brick walls, surmounted by a rusted steel framework which formerly supported the structure. Wrecking contractors had stripped away the stucco which originally sheathed the walls.

Strewn about the ruin, however, were blocks of time resisting stone, which the contractors expect to start laying in place this week.

DE LA SALLE WINS, 25 TO 14; KEEPS CATHOLIC TITLE

CHICAGO TEAM WHIPS JASPER IN U.S. FINAL

Ed Krause Scores Six Field Goals.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

De La Salle of Chicago successfully defended its national basketball championship of Catholic high schools last night. The south side quintet, city title holders, defeated Jasper academy of Jasper, Ind., 25 to 14, in the final game of the Loyola university tournament.

After the first few minutes, scoreless because each quintet passed cautiously attempting to penetrate the other's defense for under the basket shots. De La Salle began a relentless attack which its smaller opponents could not check.

Jay Reardon, De La Salle center, passed the ball through the hoop for the initial points after Ed Krause had missed a one hand attempt as he pivoted from his position on the block line. Although Durbin, Jaspar's right forward, equalized this with a shot from far out, Golden and Phil Krause added field goals and De La Salle led at the quarter, 6 to 2.

Champions Are Steadier.

Not only did the champions have a slight advantage, but their superiority included a smoother passing game and a much steadier style of play. There was no denying these points. With Ed Krause, who scored six field goals, as the hub of the passing from a set formation, De La Salle maintained possession until in position for short shots, after which Reardon and the brothers Krause followed repeatedly until they finally batted the ball through the net.

When interception of passes caught Jasper out of position, Ray Boland dribbled the ball basketward. He broke loose twice, but on each occasion paused to team mates within steps of the basket, permitting them to count on easy chances.

De La Salle held only an 8 to 4 advantage at the half. This was the only period when the south siders were erratic in shooting, Golden's field goal on a fellow shot being the victors' only score. Jasper also registered only two points for eight minutes of play, but its failure to secure more was a lack of judgment in attack. The Indiana boys kept up their first quarter tactics trying to pierce De La Salle's man to man defense. And that defense was impregnable.

Jasper Rally Fails.

Then in the fourth quarter Jasper switched to long shots, and while they couldn't overcome the lead De La Salle had manufactured in the third period, they pulled up within seven points and provided the thrill of the evening. A third quarter drive by the Chicagoans had assured the championship, building up a 17 to 4 lead before little Oscar Aubin, Jasper's 98 pound star, shot from mid-court for his team's only points.

Oscar was the hero of the game, the one player to receive the whole hearted cheers of the 5,200, a capacity crowd. Twice more Oscar found the basket, and with assistance of Baker and Durbin carried his team's total to 14.

The fiery surge of the drive brought the count to 13-12, but after time out, De La Salle calmly continued its deliberate ball handling and kept the upper hand for the remaining five minutes of the game.

De La Salle, coached by Jimmie Lynch, fought its way to the title through the hardest bracket of the tournament. Before defeating Jasper last night the Chicago team had won from St. John's academy, Rensselaer, I. T., 21 to 11; St. Xavier, Louisville, 13 to 9; Decatur Catholic High, Decatur, Ind., 20 to 16, and Bishop England, Charleston, S. C., 39 to 20. St. Xavier was one of the pre-tourney favorites and gave De La Salle its most severe test.

The Mundelein Trophy.

Last night's victory carried with it the Cardinal Mundelein trophy, the award to the national champion, each member of the squad receiving a solid gold basketball charm. De La Salle also won the Mayor of Chicago trophy for the Chicago team making the best showing in the tournament. Harper was awarded a sterling silver basketball for second place. The game for third place which decided the title affair last night, between Institute, of Peoria, winner of the Loyola tournament in 1928, defeated Bishop England, 27 to 19. The Peoria lads trailed 11 to 10 at the half.

Tyler High of Nashville, Tenn., received the award for the team making the most points in the tournament. It defeated St. Theresa of Hutchinson, Kas., 53 to 13. For the second consecutive year, Tom Conley of St. Michael High, Union City, N. J., was awarded the trophy for the player most valuable to his team. Bishop England was voted the most sportsmanship team. Thomas High of Williamsville, N. Y., won the trophy for the squad exhibiting the best sportsmanship on and off the floor.

The all-star team selected by officials of the tournament follows:

FORWARDS—Peters, Spalding Institute, Peoria, Ill., and Schwartzel, St. Xavier, Louisville, Ky.

CENTER—Quinlan, Jasper academy, Jasper, Ind.

Capt. McEwan's tenure of office here is an indefinite one. No contract was signed and there was no public announcement of the amount of salary he is to receive.

FALL RIVER AND CLEVELAND PLAY IN SOCCER FINAL

New Bedford, Mass., March 23.—[Special.]—It will be Fall River vs. the Cleveland Bruell Hungarians at the Polo grounds in New York next Sunday for the soccer championship of the United States, for the troupe from Fall River took the Bethlehem Steel eleven into camp before 13,000 fans here today by a 3 to 2 score, while at Cleveland the Hungarians were eliminating the Holley Carburetors of Detroit by a 2 to 0 score in their divisional final. The games were replays of last Sunday's 1-1 tie contests in New York and Detroit.

Jolley's Two Doubles Help Sox Trounce Giants, 5-1

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—J. Smead Jolley, the roaming Hercules, this afternoon led the ceremonies in which the New York Giants were soundly spanked again. The count was White Sox, 5; Giants, 1. Melvin Ott, Mr. McGraw's great little right fielder, saved his team from a 100 per cent skinning by knocking the ball over the fence in the eighth inning.

Ted Lyons worked the first five innings and held the New Yorkers to four hits, three of which were accomplished by Fred Leach. Ed Walsh held the National leaguers to three hits. The only inning in which the Giants made two hits was the eighth, in which Ott made his homer with one out and Farrell came along with a triple with two out.

Sox Cool Off Rapidly.

The aforementioned newcomer, Mr. Jolley, accounted for two doubles, both of which played vital parts in the Sox' two scoring sessions, the second and third innings. There was nothing fluky about either—just wicked drives that no fielder in the game would have had a chance to seize.

After the first three innings, in which the Sox made eight hits, the boys quieted down and made no hits whatsoever in the last six. Only one Chicagoan got to base after the third inning. In the ninth Reese juggled the ball to permit Clancy to make first and threw it over Terry's head for a double error, Bud taking second. Of the goose-egg stretch Judd was responsible for two innings and rookie Joe Heving accounted for four.

Watwood Drives in Two.

The first scene in J. Smead's show was staged in the second inning when he started things with a double off the fence in left center. He went to third while Reese was throwing out Watwood and scored on Kamm's sacrifice fly to Fullis. Clancy tripled off the left field fence and Riddle walked but Lyons forced Riddle.

J. Smead put on the feature number of his bill in the course of a big four run rally in the third inning. After Judd had thrown out Hunnefield, Cissell singled to left and went to third on Reynold's single to center. Jolly then got his second double. It was a terrific liner which sped 420 feet to hit the centerfield background on the wing. Cissell scored but Reynolds stopped at third. Watwood singled to right, scoring Reynolds and Jolley, and went to third on Kamm's single to right. Kamm stole second. Watwood scored and Kamm went to third while Reese was throwing out Clancy. Farrell threw out Lyons.

Crowd Razzes Umpire.

There wasn't much excitement after the Sox third until the seventh when the capacity crowd had some fun over the clownish umpiring of Bill Brenan, staff umpire of the Giant camp, has had a terrible spring but most of his errors prior to today had come in spots where it would be unsporting to mention them for fear of alibi charges. Today the umpire's efforts had no bearing on the outcome so the crowd was good natured but enthusiastic in giving him the needles on some of his worst decisions.

If you want to count the game at Kerrville, last Wednesday, in which Larry Benton was defeated with a miscellaneous supporting cast, the White Sox have now won five games to the Giants' two.

For the benefit of the more rabid Sox partisans it may be said that two Giant victories were by a one run margin, 6 to 5 and 3 to 2, whereas the Sox triumphs have been 5 to 3, 12 to 5; 10 to 4 and 5 to 1. There has been one 5 to 5 eleven inning tie, so that our boys have been able to score 39 runs to 22 by the Giants.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—Words of a complimentary nature are not necessary to explain what the champion Cubs did today. They started off well enough by piling up what for them should have been a commanding lead. After the impressive getaway, however, they folded up completely and let the Angels run over them by 7 to 4.

The chief defects of McCarthy's machine developed in the persons of Guy Bush and Lester Bell, the Braves' former third sacker, who performed quite unlike the $35,000 the Cubs paid for him. He made one blunder that let the Angels have an early run and then tossed the performance overboard with a wild heave in the seventh. Bush was blowing up at the same time, so it didn't take the Angels long to complete a five run rally which gave them the popular vote for the day.

Beck Hits Two Homers.

The Cubs were not only weak in the field but also painfully impotent with their bats. The only exception was Clyde Beck, who hurried Woody English's recovery from a charley horse by exploding two home runs. Beck's first homer was one of four blows off Clyde Barfoot in the opening inning.

Thereafter the major leaguers didn't cause much disturbance. In the next four sessions they pecked off only three singles against Barfoot, and for the remaining four rounds were guilty of only three hits off Ed Baecht, an ex-Philly. Baecht amused himself by fanning five of the visitors.

One of the few good things shown by the Cubs was the pitching of Bud Teachout, who earlier in the spring campaign was knocked off the hill whenever he appeared.

The Angels, however, made up for lost time when Bush took over the job. They plastered him with eight hits in three innings.

Three Runs at Start.

The entering wedge in the three run splurge put on by the Cubs in the first inning began with homer No. 1 by Beck. He took hold of Barfoot's first pitch and sent it over the wall in left. Grimm selected a spot in right center for his high fly, and

Record Crowd Sees Hawks Lose to Les Canadiens, 1-0

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Les Canadiens of Montreal defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, one goal to none, in the first of their two game series in the Stanley cup playoffs for the world championship at the Stadium last night. The largest crowd in Chicago hockey history and probably in the world—17,476 spectators—saw their favorites go down fighting before a team as fast, as determined, and a bit more experienced.

CHUCK GARDNER.

The defeat puts the Blackhawks at a disadvantage, but does not eliminate them from the championship, as the second game of the series will be played at Montreal Wednesday night. The winner on total goals will advance to the next series and play the New York Rangers.

Like every game the Flying Frenchmen and the Flying Hawks have played this year, it was bitterly contested. It reached the heights a world's series contest should but seldom does. The Flying Frenchmen had a slight edge last night, even if their lone goal was a bit lucky.

Shower Ice with Paper.

The fans couldn't see it that way, however, and they performed the hockey equivalent of showering a baseball umpire with pop bottles. Especially after Abel's third penalty had given Les Canadiens their score, the fans hooted and booed the referees. And when Abel and Gottselig drew possibly underserved penalties in the last few minutes, they showered the ice with papers and even a deck of cards, which halted the game until they could be cleared off.

For two periods the Hawks held their opponents even, matching speed with speed, check and shot with shot. Then came the break.

Nearly half the last period had passed when Taffy Abel drew a penalty for what apparently was a legitimate body check of La Rochelle. Gottselig came on the ice, as usual, to stall by his stickhandling in ragging the puck, but it wasn't enough, and with five Frenchmen trying to take it away from him he lost it in Les Canadiens' defense area to Le Duc. Le Duc, accompanied by Pit Le Pine, raced down the left side of the ice, while Wildor La Rochelle, the right wing, came down his side.

Puck Whizzes into Net.

The four Hawks swarmed over the two Frenchmen at the left of the Hawks net, but from the melee, with his back to the net, Le Duc whipped a backward pass across the ice. He couldn't see, but he knew the wing would be somewhere in that direction. La Rochelle was, and the puck reached him perfectly. Six feet from Gardiner with a clear shot, he whizzed the puck into the lower right corner of the net. Gardiner made a desperate kick to stop it, and the puck couldn't have missed his skate an inch.

That was the high spot, but there had been action aplenty long before. In fact, the action began with the first face-off and continued through the three periods. All were rough, with a bit of the really artistic fouls Les Canadiens know so well. Penalties were common, seventeen being called in the game, nine on the Hawks and eight on their opponents.

The first period got most of those penalties, seven being called and some others missed. The referees were calling offsides on carrying the puck over the last blue line unusually close, which started the displeasure of the crowd that reached a climax on later penalties. But despite the crowd, they were calling them fairly. Twice Howie Morenz flew around the Hawks' defense, only to have Gardiner make dazzling stops. The Hawks also had a couple of chances that were just short of being goals.

Second Period Not So Rough.

The second period wasn't quite as rough, for both teams were breaking up plays by poke checking in center ice, rather than piling them up in the defense area. Only five penalties were called, but it still was rough hockey. Somers missed a rebound of Abel's long shot in the first minute which would have been an almost certain goal if he'd got his stick on it, and a minute later Joliat got through the defense and Gardiner again saved the day with a desperate dive. Miller had an excellent chance to score, taking a pass from Cook, but Wasnie held him. Wasnie drew a penalty, but Miller didn't score.

Then came that third period, which didn't reach its climax with the goal, but after it. While the Frenchmen had just a few more shots at the goal, as they'd had in the first two periods, the Hawks held them off and seemed in a fair way to make it a tie game until La Rochelle's goal spelled it. The Hawks burned off the ice after that.

Vic Ripley had snaked through the entire red shirted team, but Hainsworth made a dazzling stop at the start. After they were a goal behind, the Hawks fought with every ounce of energy they possessed. Short a man most of the time after that goal,

Miner Wins $51,750

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 23.—(AP)—By holding the sweepstake ticket on Victorian, winner of the Agua Caliente handicap, George Tisher, a mining man from Butte, Mont., was more wealthy today by $51,750. Bob Wood, Santa Ana Cal., was paid $23,000 for his drawing of Alexander Pantages, and A. M. Comer, Emmitsburg, Md., won $11,500 for third place. Sweepstake tickets cost $2 each, with $115,000 given in prize money.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 23.—[Special.]—"Class will tell," is a theme song of the turf, and class told here this afternoon when Victorian won the first running of the $120,000 Agua Caliente handicap—the world's richest stake.

Victorian shouldered top weight of 126 pounds, overcame troublesome interference, and won by three lengths from that veteran California campaigner, Alexander Pantages. Donnay, flashy performer from the Rancocas stable was third and My Dandy, which had set the early pace, had enough to finish fourth.

Sets Track Record.

Victorian ran the mile and a quarter in 2:03 1-5, new record for the track. George Ellis rode a brilliant race on the son of Whisk Broom II., and the effort was a tribute to the training of Tommy Taylor, who handles the Warm Brothers stable of Louisville, Ky.

Victorian paid $6.20, $6 and $6. Pantages rewarded his backers with $16.80 and $6.60, while Donnay paid $8.40 to show.

The field was just about the smallest in the history of the annual event, which is an outgrowth of the old Coffroth handicap. Only 14 started, Jim Dandy being scratched, and Victorian drew down $98,400 for his winning effort. This raises his total winnings to $255,975 and ranks him third behind the Zev and Display in American money winning horses.

Alexander Pantages added $9,000 to the Allo Carrodio stables coffers; Donnay earned $4,500 and the Reichert Brothers collected $1,500 for My Dandy.

The field got away to a beautiful start with My Dandy and Brown Wisdom coupled as the Reichert entry, off together. My Dandy immediately leaped to the front, closely followed by his stable mate. Then came Dowagiac, Victorian, Ululu and Alexander Pantages.

My Dandy Sets Pace.

My Dandy was two lengths in front at the half, still followed by Brown Wisdom. Victorian, finding the pace not too fast, moved up to third, Alexander Pantages was fourth, and Donnay fifth. Rounding into the stretch, Victorian started to mow down the leaders. Brown Wisdom was already fading back to third, and My Dandy, tiring but hanging on well, was a head in front of Victorian.

Victorian was moving faster than anything else in the race. Ellis took his mount easily in hand, and under gentle urging brought him home three lengths in front. Pantages was two lengths in front of Donnay, and the latter the same distance in front of My Dandy.

Longus, coming up from tenth place at the half with a tremendous rush, finished fifth, followed by Brown Wisdom, Ululu, Scimitar, Listo, Triese, Naishapur, Wirt G. Bowman, Calf Roper, and Dowagiac in the order named.

The Agua Caliente Jockey club presented $5,000 checks to Trainer Tommy Taylor and Jockey George Ellis after the race, making the total value of the purse $123,400, the richest race in the history of the turf.

Ervast Beats Crofton.

Baron Long's good sprinter, Ervast, despite a couple of bad legs, won the secondary feature of the day, the Baja California handicap, at six furlongs, besting Crofton and Good and Hot in easy fashion. That made it triple for the day for the San Diego sportsman, as his good filly Justice had scored in a two year old race and Norab had taken a purse dash of six furlongs.

Justice set a new four and a half furlong record of :53 1-5, beating Oaten's mark by 4-5 of a second. It was six victories in two days for Trainer W. Fenwick, conditioner of Long's gallopers.

More than 25,000, including a goodly representation from the Hollywood movie colony, were on hand for the first running of the stake. It's a far cry from the $4,000 that Seals won when he took down the first Coffroth handicap, back in 1917 or thereabouts, to the $123,000 purse of today. This season's field was by far the best that ever went to the barrier in the stake, and the victory was a popular one, Victorian was the favorite with the handicappers, as well as with the fans.

Argentines Beat Midwick Polo Four in Extra Period

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—(AP)—The Argentine polo team, led by Capt. Manuel Andrade, won from the Midwick Country club team in an extra chukker game, 11 to 10, at Midwick field here today.

RECORD CROWD SEES CANADIENS BEAT HAWKS, 1-0

through penalties on Abel, Dutkowski and Gottselig, the Hawks battled desperately to tie the score. If the pace had been fast before it was furious now, for the Frenchmen were striving as mightily as the Hawks. But the defense of each was as strong as the flying offense, and neither could bulge the twine of the net.

Le Pine Hero of Game.

If one wanted to pick a hero, one couldn't go far wrong in big Pit Le Pine, the Frenchmen's alternate center. He was all over the ice, back checking like a fiend on skates. Every forward on both teams distinguished himself in this last night. Morenz and Joliat have the reputations, but though his black hair is streaked with gray, LePine stole the show last night.

Apparently Les Canadiens can beat the Hawks, but they can't beat them more than one goal. Last night was the fifth game between the two teams this year. All four in the regular season went into overtime, and Les Canadiens won three of them by a single goal.

As for that all-time indoor record crowd for hockey, Madison Square Garden has claimed to have had 19,000 spectators at a hockey game. That statement seems at variance with box office statements of both arenas, for according to them the Garden can seat 12,154 for hockey and the Stadium 15,136. The others were standing. A telegram to the New York Times last night on the actual seating capacity of the Garden brought the information that 18,000 can be seated at hockey games.

ILLINOIS TRACK SQUAD PREPARES FOR TEXAS TRIP

Champaign, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—University of Illinois track men will train this week in preparation for their annual jaunt to Texas, where they will compete in the relays at the University of Texas at Austin, Friday, and Southern Methodist university at Dallas, Saturday.

Capt. Verne McDermont, who has pole vaulted 13 feet 6 inches this season, will head the group of individual contestants, which will also probably include Lee Sentman and Bob Rodgers, hurdlers; Bob Carr, high jumper, and possibly Joe Makeever, distance runner. Makeever is training for the 300 yard event.

Chick Werner, acting track coach, has not settled on what relay teams he will send south, but will probably decide on a sprint squad at least. There is a possibility that Texas and Southern Methodist will add a shuttle hurdle relay with Illinois and Nebraska as leading contenders.

CHICAGO PINMEN THRILL CROWD AT A. B. C. TOURNEY

Geisler and Lellinger Gain Second Place.

Sets K. of C. Record

CINCINNATI, O., March 23.—(AP)—William Dernbach, ace of the Barry Majors quintet of Chicago, established a new record in the all-events of the annual Knights of Columbus national bowling tournament here tonight when he finished his assault on the maples with a total of 2,033.

Dernbach, who greatly assisted the Barry Majors to go into the five-man team lead with his total of 852 last night, came right back and rolled a 581 total in the doubles, which put him and his partner, J. Parks, in second place with a 1,224 total, and then made a 699 score in the singles to forge into the lead in that division.

Cleveland, O., March 23.—[Special.]—Members of the Birk Brothers Candy five of the Randolph league of Chicago furnished one of the most brilliant exhibitions ever witnessed in national tournament competition in the doubles division of the American bowling congress tourney here today.

Three doubles combinations of the famed Barry, which captured the A. B. C. team championship back in 1917 at Grand Rapids, crashed among the top leaders in the doubles division and electrified the crowd with the best shooting of the tourney to date.

George Geisler and Jule Lellinger took second place with 1,306; Bob Pekie and George Notz, third, 1,304, and Adolph Carlson and Art Hein, fifth, with 1,281.

St. Paul Pair Takes Lead.

Shortly before the Chicago bowlers took the drives Emil Matak and Henry Mitchell, St. Paul, rolled into the lead in the doubles division, soaring to the 1,309 figure with games of 651, 447, and 467.

Geisler and Lellinger opened with 671 and followed with 635. A 431 game was needed for the lead, but the Chicagoans fell three pins short. Lellinger needed a strike for the lead and cracked the 1-3 pocket, but the No. 1 pin refused to budge.

Bob Pekie and Geo. Notz, rolling on the next pair of alleys, missed the top spot by five pins. Pekie left the No. 3 pin on a seemingly perfect hit in the final frame of the last game and missed the spare. Pekie and Notz had games of 412, 425 and 467.

Art Hein and Adolph Carlson shot games of 414, 411 and 458 for fifth berth. Carlson, former world's match champion, started his final game with eight consecutive strikes but left the No. 3 pin on his ninth ball. A strike would have given the pair the lead.

Carlson Takes Second.

Two members of the Birk five tallied high leading spots among the different leaders as a result of their work in the minor events. Adolph Carlson took second place with 1,223; Pete Lellinger with 1,216 for third place and George Notz, member of the Edelweiss five, who doubled with Pekie of the Birk team, took fifth place with 1,204.

Had the Chicagoans shot their bowling scores in the team division they would have fallen only six pins short of the world's record of 3,199 established by the Tea Shops of Milwaukee in 1927 at Peoria.

N. U. Battles Stanford in Tank Tonight

Northwestern university's swimming team will make its last home appearance of the year tonight when it meets the strong Stanford team, champions of the Pacific coast, in a dual meet at Patten gym. The western tank squad is on its way east to take part in the national intercollegiate championship meet to be held at Harvard Friday and Saturday.

Four Purple stars who aided in winning the Big Ten championship for Northwestern will make their farewell appearance tonight. The seniors are Al Schwartz, holder of all the intercollegiate free style records; Dick Hinch, holder of the national intercollegiate 150 yard back stroke records; Bob Howlett and Don Petersen, breast stroke stars. In the Big Ten meet Howlett nosed out Petersen to set a new intercollegiate mark for the 200 yard breast stroke.

Stanford has one of the strongest teams in its swimming history. Numbered among the Cardinal stars are Reggie Harrison, free style star and member of the Olympic water polo team; Austin Clapp, point winner in the 1,500 meters in the Olympic games; Paul Fletcher, Pacific coast breast stroke champion; Ogden Driggs, also a member of the Olympic water polo team, and Throndson, Pacific coast fancy diving champion.

Following the meet tonight the Purple swimmers will get ready for the national meet. Coach Tom Robinson has elected six men to defend the championship, which Northwestern won a year ago. They are: Capt. Bill Wilson and Bill Covode, and Al Schwartz, free style; Dick Hinch, back stroke, and Don Petersen and Bob Howlett, breast stroke. They will leave tomorrow night for Cambridge.

Show Girl Files Copy of Kearns' "$500 Agreement"

Hollywood, Cal., March 23.—[Special.]—A deposition by Legana Angel, New York show girl, has been filed here in connection with her action against Jack Kearns, fight manager. The deposition gives details of Miss Angel's asserted wedding to Kearns, which the latter for several years denied.

According to the deposition, which was made out in New York March 10, 1930, the wedding took place in Atlantic City Aug. 4, 1921, in the office of Mayor Keeler of Atlantic City. Miss Angel says the marriage ceremony was performed by "a man named Burns," who, she says, was marriage clerk in Mayor Keeler's office. According to her deposition no witnesses were present. Kearns gave her a platinum wedding ring just before the ceremony, she says, and sent her to California immediately afterward.

The actress accompanies her deposition with a photostatic copy of an agreement signed by Kearns in which the latter stipulates he will pay her $500 monthly until the couple should be divorced. Miss Angel is suing here for $2,000 back payments on the contract, from Sept. 1, 1929, to Jan. 1, 1930.

CRISLER TO PICK SIX MORE TEAMS FOR STAGG MEET

Completion of the bracket for the twelfth and probably last national basketball interscholastic tournament of the University of Chicago, which will open a week from tomorrow, will be made Wednesday. Thirty-two teams, instead of the customary forty, will compete in the tournament. Only six teams remain to be chosen.

H. O. Crisler, who has managed the tournament since 1922, will leave for Minneapolis Wednesday to assume the duties of his new position as athletic director and football coach at the University of Minnesota. Crisler must start spring practice at Minnesota and wants to have the tournament arranged before he leaves.

Fourteen states held their tournaments last week-end, and it is from this group that the six teams will be picked. Included is Kentucky, which has furnished two national champions.

it dropped for two bases. Hornsby got a single on the same kind of a fly close to the right field line. A pass to Wilson loaded the sacks, whereupon Cuyler cracked a hit past first base, Grimm and Hornsby scoring and Hack halting at third. Then Barfoot nailed the next three batters on pop-ups.

Teachout went through his first inning without mishap and might have been equally successful in the second if it hadn't been for a leak in the Cub defense. With two out, Dittmar singled to right. Warren did the same, and Dittmar legged it for third without regard for Cuyler's throwing prowess. Kiki made the peg perfectly, and Dittmar would have been out easily if the ball hadn't slipped through Bell's hands and rolled away. Dittmar used the error as an excuse to go home.

The third and last hit off Teachout in his five rounds of effort came in the fourth. Harper opened with a bunt which Bell wasn't anticipating. The ex-Giant, Brave, Cardinal, etc., had no trouble beating the throw. This fault was corrected immediately when Jacobs bounced to Bell for a double play, which had Hornsby in the middle. Then Teachout let Statz have a pass, but Dittmar's popup ended the inning.

Hits Into Double Play.

Bush's appearance in the sixth inspired the Angels to step up and grab off another run. After one was gone, Sigafoos hammered a single to right. Harper duplicated the blow, Sigafoos going to third. While Jacobs was being thrown out on an infield roller, the man with the funny name ran home from third.

Beck's second homer, which gave the Cubs a 4 to 2 edge for a few minutes, came at the start of the seventh inning. Just to show his versatility, Beck clapped this one into the bleacher in right. Immediately after the homer Grimm beat out a drive that caromed off the piano leg of Pitcher Baecht, but for the second time during the afternoon Hornsby grounded into a double play. Wilson then died on three of his famous swings.

The five runs made by the Angels in the seventh didn't start as if trouble was afoot. The first happening was a strikeout for Warren. Then Pitcher Baecht surprised himself and others by doubling. He was caught going to third on Haney's roller, but Moore tuned in with a two bagger. Sigafoos singled, sending Haney and Moore home. Harper singled. Jacobs bounced to Bell, and the inning should have been over, but this was where the ex-Brave uncorked his wild heave to Grimm, letting Sigafoos and Harper tally. Jacobs went to second on the throw and counted the fifth run of the round when Cuyler lost Statz's fly in the sun.

The Cubs will be idle tomorrow, but will have Tuesday and Wednesday in which to battle the Angels and thus tune up for the four game series with the Pirates starting Thursday.

Water Trap Good Method to Get Rid of Mr. Crow

BY BOB BECKER.

Farmers, estate owners, and sportsmen who live in communities where there are too many crows can use traps effectively this month if they want to exterminate the excess crow population. The wily egg robbers soon will be raiding the nests of both song and game birds.

The method of poisoning crows was described by Martin Hogan of Barrington, Ill., last week. In regard to trapping crows, Mr. Hogan writes:

"Some people dislike to use poison in getting rid of the obnoxious crow. For these I would suggest trapping—using eggs for bait.

"In trapping there is nothing like the water set. The method is as follows: Take a plank six inches wide and four or five feet long. Nail two strips, each 16 inches long, across one end of it. The idea is to secure a space to form a nest and hold the eggs for bait.

"The plank should be secured by four stakes, at a height of about four inches above the water, with one end, of course, resting on the bank. Then cover it with a few clumps of turf. From one to four jump traps can be placed on this runway. Each trap is fastened to a half brick by a piece of hay wire. The bricks are nicely balanced so that when a crow is caught his first jump overbalances the brick and he is pulled under water and drowned. About 18 to 24 inches of water is a good depth to work in.

"The advantage of this method is that a trapped crow does not suffer and does not frighten away others by his fluttering and squawking.

"The plank holding the nest also may be set two inches under water, with the nest end raised, in order to get all the traps below the surface. Crows will wade in without hesitation to a depth of four inches. Using this set, the traps do not require covering.

Levinsky Will Know Tonight if He's Fighter

King Levinsky, former fish peddler of the west side ghetto, will know tonight whether he will continue getting his doughnuts as a pugilist or whether he will go back to the horse, cart, and the horn. Levinsky will take on Paul Swiderski, from Syracuse, N. Y., in an eight round bout at White City.

In the other half of the double windup Charlie Retzlaff will meet Pedro Lopez, South American woodchopper. Matchmaker Mullen substituted Lopez for Andre Castano, Mexican heavyweight champion, who injured his right hand in training.

Five other bouts make up the program and Nisse Ramm, heavyweight champion of Sweden, will be given another opportunity to show what he can do when he meets Art Maley in a six round bout.

Tonight's card:

King Levinsky vs. Paul Swiderski, 8 rounds—heavyweights.
Charlie Retzlaff vs. Pedro Lopez, 8 rounds—heavyweights.
Baxter Calmes vs. Russell Bullck, 6 rounds—175 pounds.
Nisse Ramm vs. Art Maley, 6 rounds—heavyweights.
Don Friend vs. Tommy Lunge, 4 rounds—175 pounds.
Angelio Pugliasi vs. Corbett Eicles, 4 rounds—155 pounds.
Mickey Joy vs. Dick Richards, 4 rounds—128 pounds.

GEN. ELECTRIC NET EARNINGS SET NEW HIGH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Net profits of the General Electric company totaled $[illegible] in 1929, establishing a new high record. After all deductions the earnings were equivalent to $8.97 a share on the old common stock, comparing with $54,152,806, or $7.16 a share, in 1928.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $255,876,006, of which $94,571,069 was represented by cash and $80,835,545 by inventories. Current liabilities on the same date were $48,214,372. The report shows plants are carried at the nominal figure of $1.

Bookings in 1929 had a value of $[illegible], which is the highest on record. They represent an increase of 25 per cent over the orders booked in the year before. Unfilled orders at the end of 1929 totaled $94,622,000, against $75,352,000 at the end of 1928. Sales were billed last year to the extent of $[illegible], against $237,189,-421 in the year before.

Surplus Jumps.

Out of last year's operations the company showed a surplus of $25,054,-[illegible], while the surplus for 1928 was $[illegible]. The company reported a net income from sales of $49,395,896 in 1929, against $39,461,230 in 1928.

General Electric in 1929 spent about $[illegible],000 on a manufacturing plant. The net book value at which the plant was carried at the end of the year was $[illegible]. The company had an income of 1.9 per cent from investments in 1929. The company's proportion of undistributed earnings of associated companies available for dividends is estimated at $1.74 a share on General Electric common.

Investments in associated companies and miscellaneous securities are carried at $163,778,836, as compared with $[illegible],853 at the end of 1928. This increase is largely accounted for by increased investments in foreign countries.

Owns Radio Interest.

The company reveals it has retained an interest in the Radio Corporation of America. A plan has been worked out, it is revealed, for consolidating the research, engineering, manufacturing and marketing of radio tubes in one agency.

Gimbel Brothers, Inc., operating department stores in New York, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, and Pittsburgh, reports net profit of $804,484 for 1929, contrasted with loss of $909,795 in 1928. Sales last year aggregated $124,636,-273, the largest in the company's history and an increase of $3,526,877 over 1928. The Dec. 31 balance sheet showed no indebtedness to banks, against $4,900,000 on that item a year ago.

G. R. Kinney Co., Inc., a chain store concern, had net profit of $947,606 last year, equal to $2.27 a common share, against $337,346, or $2.70 a share, in 1928.

Finds Chicago District Sets Steel Output Pace

Steel production in the Chicago district now is setting the pace for the rest of the country, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. The tonnage demand is being supplied, to a great extent, by the railroads which have begun track laying operations on a large scale. Steel plants in the Chicago district are operating at more than 90 per cent of capacity, compared to an average of 82 per cent for other mill districts. Increased activity of automobile and farm implement manufacturers also has contributed to the demand for steel, while inquiry for building projects in Chicago has provided another source of consumption.

Bond Market Enjoys Best Week of Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Trading in bonds on the stock exchange last week broke all records for the year to date, not only from the standpoint of daily and weekly turnover, but also in appreciation of prices. The heavy volume of new offerings of bonds this week also served to focus attention of the bond market, as it was the heaviest weekly total but one for the year to date.

Although in 1918 and 1922 the daily and weekly aggregate of dealings in bonds on the stock exchange ran considerably larger than last week's figures, cognizance should be taken of the fact that during those years a large percentage of the totals consisted of sales of United States government bonds which were then outstanding in much larger amounts than at present.

Low Rates Help.

Low money rates last week was responsible in no small measure for the enthusiasm in the listed bond market. Total transactions for the week amounted to approximately $115,000,-000, the largest total since the week ended June 14, 1924, when the volume was in excess of $125,000,000. Last week's biggest day was on Thursday, when $28,276,000 were traded in, of which $22,054,000 consisted of domestic bonds, the heaviest trading in this group on record. The nearest approach to this figure was $20,826,000 turnover in domestic issues, excluding United States government bonds on April 23, 1926.

From the standpoint of daily transactions in all classes of bonds, Thursday's aggregate of $28,276,000 was the largest since the break in October, when on Oct. 29 the turnover reached $28,519,000. On April 12, 1922, the volume reached $32,562,300, of which $17,506,800 were United States governments, and on the record day, Dec. 30, 1918, the aggregate was $44,486,000, of which $40,638,000 was governments.

Averages Advance.

Domestic bond prices began to move upward on Feb. 26 and until the setback received on Friday due to the tightening of call money rates, the domestic bond averages advanced without interruption since March 8, with the net advance during that period amounting to $2.92 on the average. The peak for the year this far on domestics was 89.97 reached on Thursday. The upward movement of the foreign bond averages has been much more erratic but nevertheless, a new high for the 1930 averages was established last week.

Growth of Credit Is Factor in World Gold Production

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is rare for a month or even a week to pass without a learned pronouncement to the effect that something serious is likely to happen in the future because the world is not producing enough gold to guarantee its money supply.

There is, of course, a relationship between the general price levels of commodities and the supply of money, or, in these more modern days, the supply of credit. It is necessary to consider how credit facilities have grown out of the basic monetary gold supply before it can be determined whether the crisis is imminent or even likely in future because of gold shortage.

It is difficult to trace in the past a direct connection between large gold production and high commodity prices, which are in effect low prices for money. From 1879 to 1898, as an instance, each five year period saw an increase in the bringing out of the precious metal, yet commodity prices slipped downward steadily from 1879 to 1896.

Peak of Production.

On the other hand, the peak of gold production came between 1914 and 1918 and was followed closely by a peak of high prices. Then again more gold was produced annually in the years 1924-1928 than in any other years except those beginning in 1909 and ending in 1918. There was at the same time a slowly receding price level.

The Business Conditions Weekly holds that the more important consideration regarding price levels is the world's stock of gold compared to increases in the volume of business. In the United States the volume of trade for seventy years has shown a steady increase and it is certain that this volume will grow in future with increases in population and in wants.

There is no doubt that new gold put into monetary systems will grow as fast as this volume expansion. It is less doubtful that means will be found to lessen the gold necessary to back up an exchange standard and still less doubtful that there will be improved ways in which to expand the credit on which business is done.

Bank Resources.

Occasionally there is a story about a big bank moving millions of dollars from an old banking house to a new one. Some banks could move assets of a billion dollars, with less than 10 per cent of them in anything but signed bits of paper.

Resources of all banks in this country alone are several times as much as all the monetary gold in the world. The increase in the use of credit instruments and more economical use of gold by banks are likely to be more important factors than a growing production of actual yellow metal. It is hardly reasonable to expect the latter operation will be sufficient to ward off a long period of stationary or falling prices. It is reasonable to expect the growth of credit to do it.

WABASH SYSTEM NET EARNINGS $8,654,757 INCREASE 22 PER CENT

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—The net income of the Wabash railway system for the year 1929 was given as $8,654,757, a gain of $1,588,468, or 22.48 per cent, over 1928, in the annual report of the board of directors to stockholders issued tonight.

The system includes the Ann Arbor Railroad company; New Jersey, Indiana and Illinois Railroad company; Manistique and Lake Superior Railroad company; Detroit and Western railway; the Lake Erie and Fort Wayne Railroad company, and the Toledo Central Station Railway company, all subsidiaries.

OPINIONS CLASH IN WALL STREET OVER SITUATION

Uncertain Trend in Staple Prices.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Such difference of opinion regarding the general situation as exists in Wall street arises from the greater or less importance attached to numerous opposing considerations.

The very rapid fall in commodity prices is admitted, but against it is placed the equally notable fall in cost of money. Subnormal trade and widespread unemployment are not disputed; but against these are placed the facts that trade, although just now hesitant again, has picked up since December and that trade reaction in other recent years has been short lived.

It is declared that bargains are always to be had in stocks after a severe decline; yet even to this it is rejoined that, since November, stock market "averages" have already recovered 42 per cent.

THE FIRST OF BOSTON CORPORATION, NEW YORK, Paying Agent
HARRIS FORBES TRUST COMPANY, BOSTON, Authenticating Agent

The following information (transmitted by cable) is furnished by Señor Francisco Ratto, Minister of Finance of the Province:

Province of Buenos Aires The Province of Buenos Aires is the most important province of the Argentine Republic and ranks first in area, in population and in railroad mileage, as well as in industrial, agricultural and commercial development. The area of the Province (117,700 square miles) is greater than the combined areas of the New England States and the State of New York. The population exceeds 3,600,000, being more than one-fourth of the entire population of Argentina. A separate Federal District (analogous to the District of Columbia, U. S. A.) containing the city of Buenos Aires, capital of the Argentine Republic, adjoins the Province and, with its population of more than 2,000,000, provides a permanent and important market for the food and other products of the Province.

Authority and Purpose of Issue The issuance of these bonds is authorized by Law 3941 of November 2, 1927 enacted by the Legislature of the Province. The proceeds will be used to provide school houses and other public buildings in various parts of the Province and to redeem $4,000,000 of short-term obligations of the Province issued to provide funds for like purposes. Under contracts already entered into by the Province, 110 school houses have been completed or are nearing completion and plans have been prepared for 223 additional school buildings. This new construction will result in a substantial saving through the release of rented buildings.

Security These bonds are the direct obligation of the Province of Buenos Aires which pledges its full faith and credit for the due and punctual payment of principal, interest and sinking fund. In addition, Law 3941 authorizing these bonds appropriates, as subject to specific charge and lien for the exclusive benefit of the bonds issuable thereunder, an annual amount out of the revenues of the Inheritance Tax calculated to exceed the maximum annual requirement for interest and sinking fund on such bonds.

After deducting annual prior charges from the Inheritance Tax receipts for 1929, the remainder is equivalent to more than 5½ times annual service charges on this issue and more than 3¾ times annual service charges on the total amount of bonds authorized under Law 3941 including bonds not yet issued—calculated at current rates of exchange. Such remainder is equivalent to more than 7 times annual service charges on this issue at par of exchange.

Finances The revenues of the Province continue to reflect the constant improvement in its financial status that has been manifest for the last four years. For the fiscal year 1927 the revenues collected amounted to $48,995,000; for 1928 to $54,531,000, and for 1929 to $57,750,000. The fiscal year 1927 showed a deficit of $1,993,000. The fiscal year 1928 closed with a surplus of $443,000, and the fiscal year 1929 with a surplus of $224,000.

For over 30 years, with the exception of two years during the World War, the Province has never failed to provide funds for the interest payments on its external debt. The Province funded the 1915 and 1916 interest payments at the time and sinking fund payments were resumed in 1919 and 1920.

The total funded indebtedness of the Province, including this issue, amounts to $268,340,000 and the assessed value of privately owned real estate is in excess of $5,000,000,000.

All conversions of Argentine pesos into United States currency have been made at par of exchange, namely 42.45 cents per paper peso. The current rate of exchange (as of March 19, 1930) is approximately 37.75 cents per paper peso. The Caja de Conversion (Argentine Currency Conversion Office) was closed continuously from August 1914 until August 1927, when it was reopened. It was again closed on December 16, 1929. The total amount of gold held by the Caja de Conversion exceeds, however, $427,690,000 (as of March 19, 1930) representing a reserve of over 77% of the currency in circulation, which gives Argentine currency one of the highest gold reserves in the world. In addition, there is on deposit abroad to the order of Argentine embassies and legations an amount of gold equal to more than $11,000,000 and against such deposits there have been issued in Argentina approximately 26,000,000 paper pesos (not included in the foregoing calculation) with respect to which the gold reserve is accordingly 100%.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. WHEAT TRADERS GROW CAUTIOUS; VOLUME DROPS

Foreigners Purchasing Canadian Grain.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Stabilizing influences in the wheat market are seen in a greatly reduced volume of trading, with less disposition on the part of speculators here to branch out, while there is a movement in Great Britain to have the government fix a price of $1.72 for home grown wheat for the coming crop, against a present market price of around $1.13.

Sales of wheat futures in Chicago last week of 191,589,000 bu, compared with 253,180,000 bu the previous week and 188,575,000 bu last year. The loss being due to uncertainty of the trade. Speculators are uncertain as to what the government will do with its holdings of May. It is believed that the government has more May wheat bought than there is wheat in Chicago.

Curtails Operations.

No definite announcement has been made as to what the government intends to do in relieving hedgers who have wheat stored in various markets. This problem, combined with uncertainty as to the winter wheat crop, prospects of which at present are generally good, and indifference on the part of foreign buyers as to future supplies, is curtailing operations on both sides of the market.

There is no disposition to sell on breaks, and sharp traders are confining their operations to selling on upturns. The short interest has been reduced by an advance of 6@9c from the low of the previous week. There is, however, said to be a large holding of May wheat bought at higher prices by speculators who expected that the government's entrance in the market would mean advanced prices. So far, however, they have been disappointed, and close observers expect them to liquidate at reduced levels of values.

Europe Buying Canadian Wheat.

Reports from abroad continue to intimate that Europe will have to buy wheat from North America in liberal quantities between now and July 1, but apparently they are confining their purchases largely to Canadian grain, which is moving out to a liberal extent.

Commenting on the wheat situation, S. C. Harris, a close student of market conditions, says, "It seems to us that the dominating factor in the present situation is large supplies of old crop surplus and that the only thing that can correct this condition is a much broader demand, stimulated by fear of new crop out turn.

"The foreigner will watch the development of our winter wheat crop with keen interest and will very likely be governed in his buying program by conditions in our winter wheat belt. At the present time it seems to us that the buyer has the edge and will continue to take advantage of this until there is evidence of serious deterioration. We feel that prices are likely to sag off somewhat further, but would not become too bearish on breaks until the new crop outcome is more definitely assured."

Wheat Crop Averages.

Hard winter wheat, which furnishes the greater part of our exportable surplus, is grown largely in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas. Kansas is the largest producer. Its average for the last five years, and also ten years, is 130,000,000 bu. The five year average for the four states is 254,000,000 bu and the ten year average is 252,000,000 bu, a difference of only 2,000,000 bu in the average for the two periods. Average production in detail for this group for the five and ten year periods follow:

Nebraska	52,000,000	52,000,000
Oklahoma	48,000,000	48,000,000
Texas	23,000,000	22,000,000
Total 4 states bu	254,000,000	252,000,000
All other states	134,000,000	318,000,000

Average production of hard winter wheat for the country is around 276,000,000 bu; soft red, 223,000,00 bu; hard spring, 155,000,000 bu, and white wheat, 82,000,000 bu. In 1928 the hard winter wheat crop was 195,000,00 bu; durum, 98,000,000 bu; hard red, 384,000,000 bu; soft red, 140,000,000 bu, and white, 86,000,000 bu, or a total of 903,000,000 bu.

Primary movement of wheat is the lightest at this time in five years or more. There has been a reduction in the visible supply in the United States from the maximum of 194,000,000 bu reached on Nov. 2, 1929, to 154,000,000 bu on March 15, 1930. This represents exports and consumption.

At the high prices last week wheat futures were up 9@10c from the recent low point, with net gains for the week of 2¼@3c. May closed at $1.05⅝@1.05⅝; July, $1.07⅜@1.07⅝, and September, 1.08¼@1.08⅝. Prices for the week follow:

been more important potentially than the decline in money. Whether the general fall 'n staple prices, which had marked almost the whole of 1930 up to a week or so ago, has or has not been permanently checked, it would not yet be safe to predict. It was evident last week, however, that the progressive decline which seemed to have been arrested a week before in cotton and still earlier in steel and iron, had come to a halt in wheat also.

The change in these markets could not be ascribed to a change for the better in the statistical or supply-and-demand position of the industries, that was in some respects even less favorable. In the agricultural markets, it was certainly in part a result of highly artificial and uneconomic intervention by government agencies using public funds, and it naturally remains to be determined whether this is to invite compensatory reaction in the other direction, later on.

Discusses Price Levels.

Nevertheless, there was considerable evidence, even in these markets, that the exceptional violence of the year's earlier decline had "discounted" and possibly "overdiscounted" visible disadvantages of position. At some point in such a fall of values, prices will be reached at which speculative if not genuine consumptive buying will enlarge, simply with an eye to altered possibilities which the approaching harvest season may change into realities. There are also certain traditional "price-levels" at which a market always begins to ask if a decline may not have been pushed too far, and "dollar wheat" or "15 cent cotton" are such landmarks.

It is not yet clear exactly how large a part was played in the present trade reaction by the rapid fall in staple prices and how far, therefore, the arrested of the fall would alter the business outlook. Trade which could easily bear a lower scale of prices will often curtail its activities during a continuous decline; which, as was notably the case in 1920 and 1921, renders uncertain all planes for future business.

It should also again be kept in mind that, in manufacture at any rate, the downward readjustment is not complicated, as it was ten years ago, by mountainous "inventories" acquired at the highest recent prices. Only the United States government appears at present to have invoked a position of that sort, and "frozen credits" in the existing grain trade are apparently being unloaded on the taxpayer.

FINANCIAL NOTES

New financing by Standard Gas and Electric company amounting to approximately $10,000,000 is expected to be announced early this week in the form of an issue of 100,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative prior preference stock, to be offered by a syndicate including H. M. Byllesby & Co., W. C. Langley & Co., the N. W. Harris company, A. C. Allyn & Co., and the Henry Schroder Banking corporation.

Public offering of a new issue of $8,000,000 6½ per cent external sinking fund gold bonds of 1930 of the Province of Buenos Aires, Argentine republic, is being made today by a group headed by the First National Old Colony corporation, and including the Harris Trust & Savings bank and Continental Illinois company. The bonds are dated Feb. 1, 1930, and mature Aug. 1, 1961. They are priced at 95½ and interest, to yield 6.85 per cent, to maturity.

A new issue of $15,000,000 Boston & Maine railroad 5 per cent mortgage gold bonds, series 11, are being offered today at 100½ and interest, to yield over 4.96 per cent, by a group of Boston bankers headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co., and including Lee, Higginson & Co., Harris Trust and Savings bank, and the First National Old Colony corporation. The bonds are dated May 1, 1930, and are due May 1, 1955.

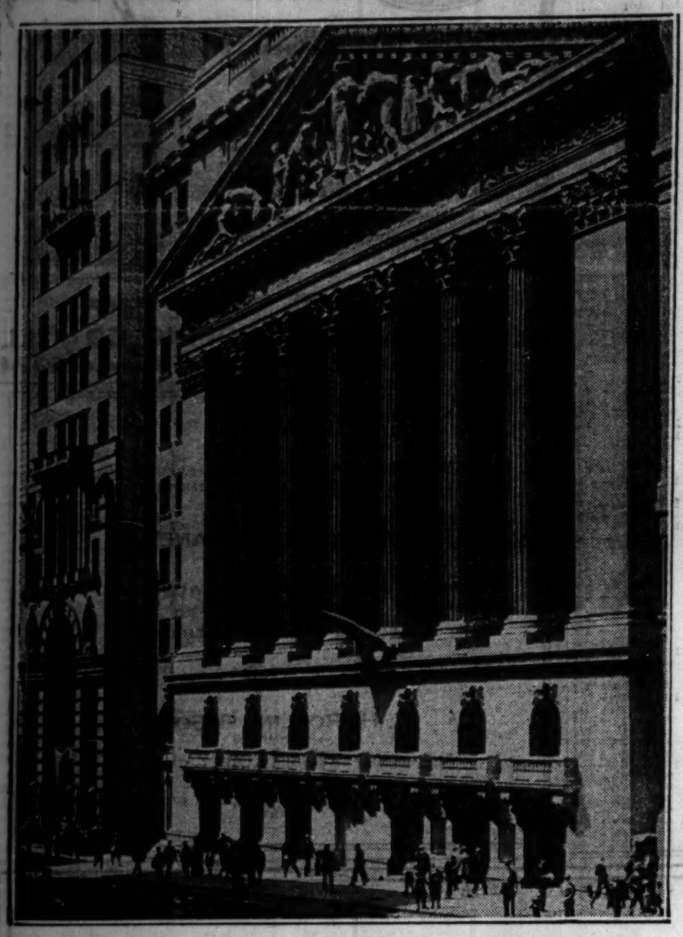
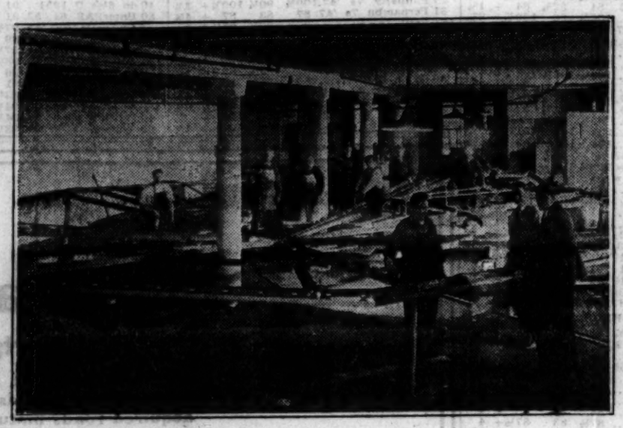
Thousands Employed in Finishing New Board of Trade Building—Ready for Influx of Tenants May 1st



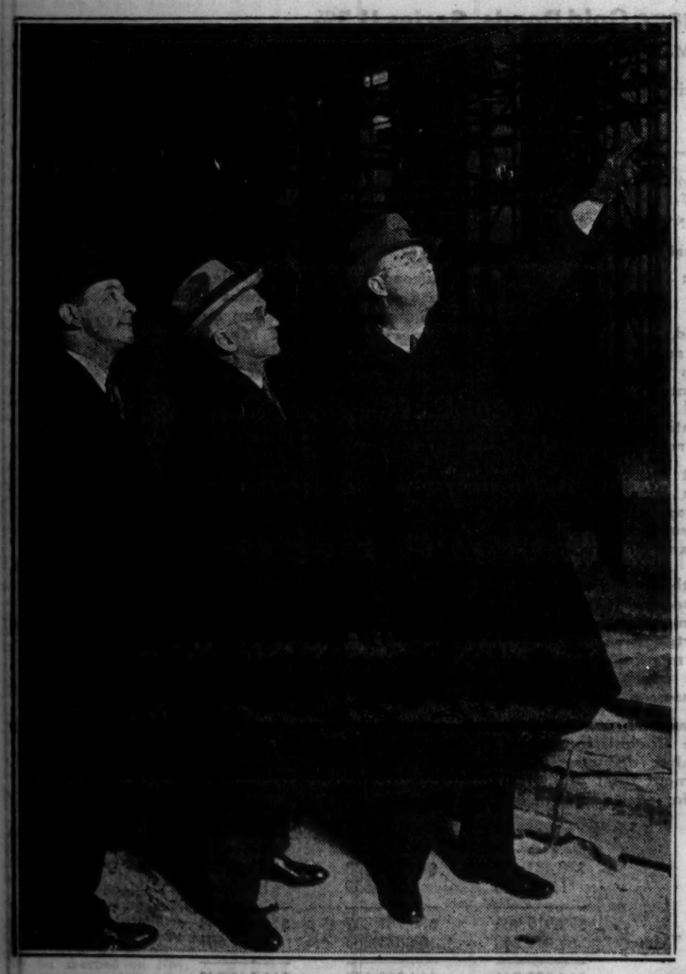
ITS NAME MEANS "WALL STREET"—though it faces Broad Street, the New York Stock Exchange, one of the four most important and famous commercial organizations in the world. The others are the Bank of England, the Bourse in Paris and the Chicago Board of Trade.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY & STEAMSHIP LINES' General Western Freight Agent, W. A. Kittermaster, is moving his force to splendid new quarters in the 20th floor of the new Board of Trade Building, announce Albert H. Wetten & Co., renting and managing agents.



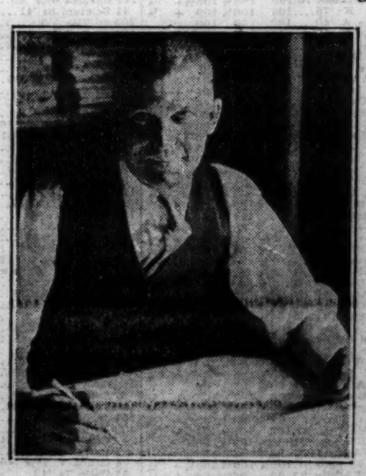
THIS WORLD'S LARGEST LIGHTING FIXTURE goes in the ceiling of the Board of Trade's trading room. 38 feet wide and weighing 8 tons, its lamps have a total capacity of 114,000 watts. The framework is here assembled in "undress rehearsal" before delivery. Puzzle: How did they get it out?

FLANKED BY TWO BANKS, the Federal Reserve and the Continental Illinois, the towering facade of the new Board of Trade Building dominates La Salle Street, just as the institution which it will soon house has for 82 years been a powerful factor in the economic growth of the Nation. The tall windows indicate the location of the Trading Room.



RAYMOND J. HURLEY, John A. Bunnel, President; and Fred H. Crutton, Secretary, of the Board of Trade of Chicago, inspect the walnut paneling of their new quarters. Mr. Hurley is connected with the Securities Trading of the Board of Trade.

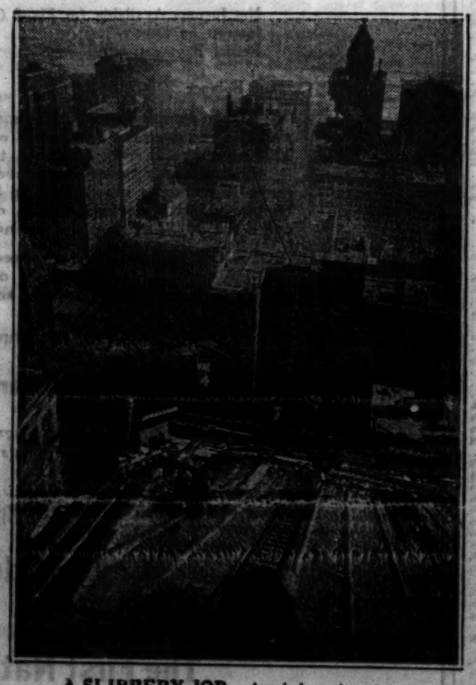
THE QUAKER OATS CO., moving soon to the 18th and 19th floors of the Board of Trade Building, are assured of super-quiet surroundings through the use of acoustical-tiled ceilings and rubber tiled floors throughout their general office space.



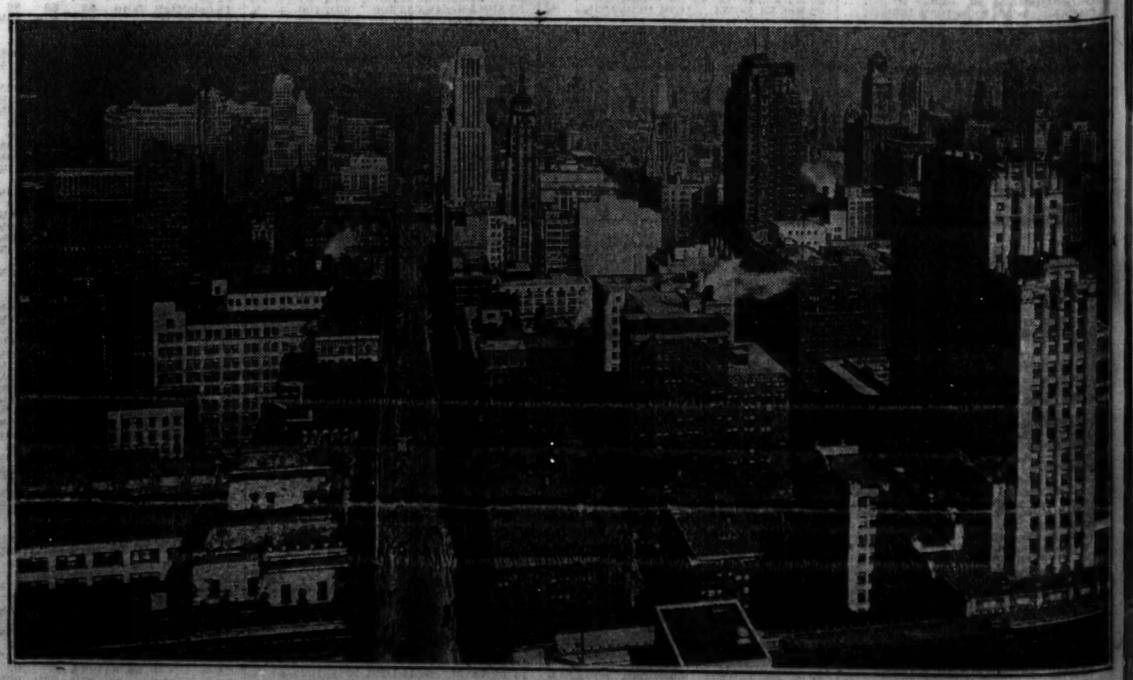
750 HUGE BLUE PRINTS—every intricate line of them—were scrutinized by David W. Carlson, designer, with Holabird & Root, Architects, in the course of constructing the Board of Trade Building.

TEN-FOOT WRENCHES were used to install the 25-ton door which swings easily in a 25-ton frame of the vaults in the Safe Deposit Floor of the Board of Trade Building.

SYMBOLIC DESIGNS OF GROWING GRAINS appropriately embellish the doorways to the Board of Trade Building. Benedict White Metal and Tennessee Tavernelle Marble combine to achieve an entrance lobby of startling beauty.



A SLIPPERY JOB. Applying the aluminum panels which form the sloping roof of the Board of Trade Building.



FROM THE TOP OF CHICAGO'S TALLEST BUILDING. Looking north up La Salle Street toward the world's largest building, the Merchandise Mart. Not counting flag poles, the new Board of Trade Building's 609 feet elevation above street level gives it the proud distinction of being the loftiest tower in a City of Towers.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by Devil Dave from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots Devil Dave, one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged on Jim and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Shear in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house looking for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has killed her brother. Jim rides on into the town after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for his attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterward Shear kills Doc Brown, who claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the frontier town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim finds out where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Ros, and others. Around the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is discovered to his chair dead with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled him, letting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Mandeva, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting for him with Dave Moss and Jim learns that Moss is trying to force Ellen to marry him. He suggests that she marry him and they are quietly married. To gain information and is led into a trap by the Moss gang. Old Chandler Rutledge has not long to live. Chandler Rutledge comes to town and tells him Jim has been out for some time he and Pendleton decide to go in search of him.

INSTALLMENT XLIX.
FEAR.

As the door closed after Chandler Rutledge he said to his friend, Pendleton, "We'll move fast, Harrison."

"Guess it's some of Devil Dave's dirty work?" the big man asked.

"That's the looks of it," Rutledge said crisply. "Sooner I get to him the better I'll be satisfied."

"I've a notion the girl's straight," Pendleton said. "Folks say so. She's mighty popular in town. An actress. Plays at the Elkhorn the-ay-ter."

"I did. Dave may be using her. It's the kind of thing he'd do, the hog-wild. Jim has been crowdin' him some, you say?"

"Sim, that boy of yores is a wonder. He's took every trick yet. For a kid he's got the best head I ever did see. By jinks, it's worth the profits of a herd of 4 year olds to see him dive into this Shear murder mystery an' size it up step by step. Looked to me, to start with, like they had Jim by the short hair. Done with his knife, and he admitted he had it in his belt. The boy never batted an eye, faced the whole hardboiled bunch like a veteran. First off, he proved Ellen couldn't have done it. There wasn't no way of clearing himself except by showing who did it, and take my word for it you never saw prettier detective work in yore life. He'd look into this and that, using his brains, finding evidence, sifting it, never satisfied even when it looked like he had a cinch case against Mart Brown, always askin' 'nother one' then answering them. I would of sworn he had it fastened on Brown, but I'll be dadgummed if he hasn't got it now so it looks like one of the Moss gang killed Joe. You got a license to be proud of that young-ster, Chan."

"Wrong guess," the sheriff said curtly. "Where is the boy? Any one see him lately?

They were striding fast down the hill to Front street as they talked.

"Reckon we better go up the street a block or two an' then cross the railroad tracks," Chandler said. He was very much pleased at his friend's praise of Jim, but he was not the man to boast about his own. "He's a right satisfactory boy," was all the indorsement he would give the recital of Pendleton.

"Hello! What's going on down there? Looks like there's some unusual excitement," the big man boomed.

"Right as well pass the crowd on our way down," Rutledge said quietly.

He was a man with nerves of steel, but the blood quickened in his veins. Excited voices were drifting to him. A moment or two ago there had been seven or eight men in the group. Now it half filled the street. There was fierce anger in that dull roar of the human pack. As they drew nearer one unrestrained shout lifted to his ears. "Ought to be burned alive, by God!" That there had been tragedy of some sort he did not doubt.

"What's the trouble?" asked one of the Texans.

The man to whom he had spoken turned on him, raging at the news he had to tell. "Mamie Dugan! Knife stuck in her heart. Killed by some hellhound."

"It was that Rutledge who killed Joe Shear," another cried. "He left an hour ago again."

"That's a lie," Chandler's voice rang out sharp and clear. "Devil Dave killed Shear. The ace of spades is his road brand. And Devil Dave killed his girl, you'll find."

"Who are you, stranger?"

"Some mind who I am. I know." There was authority in the cowman's voice. "Where is Jim Rutledge? Is he here?"

"No, sir, he ain't. That's just it. He was seen going down into the cottonwoods just before she was killed. He ain't been seen since. What's the answer?"

Chandler could have cried out his despair. The vitals in him seemed to sink as though the bottom had dropped from beneath them. "The answer is that Moss has probably got him, too. The girl was scared of Devil Dave. He was in mortal fear, and she sent for Jim Rutledge to save her. He got there too late. He was to meet her in the cottonwoods. Has any one seen Dave Moss? Or any of his boys? Or Buck Roe?

Nobody had, within the last hour or two.

Murders came swiftly down the street. He had already heard the news. "Who found the body?" he demanded, looking from one to another of the crowd.

A young man and a girl were pushed forward. They told their story. To tell over a certain little matter they had walked down to the grove. A voice calling for help had startled them.

"Man's or woman's voice?" snapped the sheriff.

"Man's. He shouted that they were murdering him. Then we heard him running away from us. After a while we went to where the cries came from and we found Mamie Dugan's body lying on the ground. That was the way of it, wasn't it, Lulu?"

The girl confirmed her lover's story. "And then we ran back to town to tell him," she added.

Her eyes were shining with excitement. It was plain she was shocked at what she had seen, but thrilled at being the center of attraction.

"That Jim Rutledge done it," some one cried with an oath. "Hal Simmons saw him heading for the grove."

"Wrong guess," the sheriff said curtly. "Where is the boy? Any one see him lately?"

Chandler spoke. "She sent him a message asking for help, Al. Told him to meet her at the cottonwoods south of the track. He's not been seen since. Afraid the Moss gang have got him, too."

"Lo, Chan! Didn't know you were in town. You may be right. We'll go in force and go down to the grove. There may be evidence there. I'll deputize you, Chan, and Pendleton. And the two that found the body. No-body else."

"There's about fifty people down there right now," a woman said.

Rutledge threw up his hands. "Might have known it. No use going down now. They've tramped down whatever evidence there may have been. Who's the body?"

"We'll just got to go through all the motions of lookin' for evidence," Rutledge said to Pendleton. "To save my boy we've got to move faster than that. We know Devil Dave is at the bottom of this. Our business is to find him. I'm going straight to his house. Rustle up some of our friends an' come there as soon as you can."

"You're not going alone?"

"I'm going alone."

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

This is quite a "talky" piece which would demonstrate that sensible rich people are quite a lot like other sorts of people, when sensible, and that a wealthy girl CAN be happy with a poor man.

Connie Hayden is the rich girl. Jeff McLean is the poor boy. Both are clean cut young people with brains they use to advantage.

The picture's outcome is, possibly, what you expect, though there is a soupcon of originality in the story delineation.

Miss Bennett gives a sincere and pleasing interpretation of her rôle and Regis Toomey does the same by his. Robert Ames is agreeable in a colorless part and a young woman named Ilka Chase demonstrates that she'd be pretty good if given something to be pretty good in. Mahlon Hamilton as Constance's father doesn't ring true. Mr. Hamilton is accustomed to romantic leads and doesn't take kindly to the dear-old-daddy stuff.

I thought "Rich People" somewhat forced and unconvincing and not remarkably entertaining.

John D. Hertz Takes His Family for Air Cruise

Miami, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz, their daughter, Helen, of Chicago, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Talbott of Dayton, O., left here this afternoon in Mr. Hertz's amphibian airplane "Three Johns" for a leisurely cruise around the Caribbean sea.

Their first stop was to be Havana, Cuba, and from there they planned to continue around the West Indies, going possibly as far as Venezuela, Mr. Hertz said.

Rachmaninoff Plays at Orchestra Hall; Some Other Concerts

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Sergei Rachmaninoff, the steel fingered "blue serge," was back at Orchestra hall for another recital yesterday afternoon, but making use of a program quite different from his usual order. Not even his own C sharp minor prelude remained from other seasons. It was all Chopin and Liszt.

Of Chopin there was one each of ballade, rondo, nocturne, valse, fantaisie impromptu, mazurka, and scherzo. Of Liszt there were four pieces in his more hifalutin' manner, the B minor ballade, valse impromptu, "Sonetto 104 del Petrarca," and E major polonaise.

Curiously enough, Mr. Rachmaninoff sounded like more of a virtuoso in Chopin than in Liszt. Not that he was not a brilliant, commanding player at all times—it may have been that what he did with Chopin was better worth while. At any rate, Liszt's music seems to have aged.

Mr. Rachmaninoff has a greatly talented left hand of which he makes excellent use. Hearing him, one realizes how many pianists realize piano music as top and bottom with mere filler in between. He hears something in the middle, something that sometimes sings and sometimes snarls, and his left hand brings it to your attention, usually with novel and interesting results.

Marie Sidenius Zendt, Chicago soprano, added an entertaining feature to her song recital at the Playhouse yesterday by taking on the Barthel Woodwind quintet as an additional attraction. The body consists of Arthur Kitti, flute; Florian Mueller, oboe; Domenico de Caprio, clarinet; Clark Kessler, bassoon, and Joseph Mourek, French horn.

They are excellent players, and in combination with Mrs. Zendt's lovely, sustained voice in her first group of songs they made a new and highly attractive impression, and an even better one when Edgar Nelson at the piano added himself to the group. The group was made up of Mozart's "Vedrai Carino," an old Scotch song arranged by Haydn, and the "Ave Maria," from Max Bruch's "Cross of Fire."

Mrs. Zendt, one of Chicago's fine artists of song, came alone thereafter with a group of charming Swedish songs whose words are a secret to this department. They are public property when she sings English, however, for she is uncommonly expert at the projection of words. Other events made it impossible to hear the quintet's group without song or Mrs. Zendt's final group without the quintet.

An interesting concert was given at the Eighth Street theater yesterday afternoon when the glee clubs of five continuation schools organized themselves into a chorus of about 200 and gave a concert under the direction of Mary G. Lusson. There was also an orchestra of about twenty-five from the same sources. These young musicians are employed, attend school only part time, and do their rehearsing in the evenings. In spite of handicaps they were able to give honest and sincere performances.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.
Would you care to be a farmer?

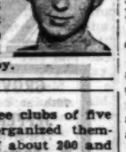
The Answers.

F. B. Trimble, 1722 North Shore avenue, trainman—I was reared on a farm near French Lick Springs, Ind. When I was 13 I went to San Francisco. After the earthquake I came to Chicago and have lived here ever since. I wouldn't care to be a farmer. Autos, tractors, expensive modern machinery keep farmers broke all the time.

George Hernreich, 6811 Paxton avenue, merchant—I was born and reared in the city and nothing but city life would appeal to me. Business and social activity, theaters, near-by stores, everything within reach when wanted — these are commonplaces in city life, not part of farm life. That's why I prefer the city.

Matthew Eisenberg, 154 Eugenie street, clothing jobber—Yes. Nowadays with autos, radio, electric light, and improved machinery, including airplanes (which I believe soon will be in use by farmers), the farm is a preferred place. Farm life, with its sunshine, has an advantage over city life.

Frank Wykofka, 5036 Winthrop avenue, postoffice clerk—I was on a farm in Michigan for nine years and had all I wanted of it. It's too much work and too little diversion. A farm's all right for a few days, say for rabbit hunting if there's a woods near by, or for fishing if there's a good stream.



Kalman Kaplan, 1514 South Millard avenue, errand boy — Why, certainly. Only once have I been at a farm, and I liked it. Things are different from the city; different machinery, different methods than in the city. It's a new kind of work for the city boy.

In Saturday's TRIBUNE it was stated that three fires had occurred recently in the plant of the Russell studios, 30 South Michigan avenue. Officials of the firm state no fire had occurred there during the last fifteen years until the one of Friday night.

A picture caption on Friday gave the name of one of the characters of a French play which members of the Woman's club are rehearsing as Mrs. Arthur Ruehe. The photograph was that of Mrs. Arthur Ruehe.

In editions of Feb. 10, THE TRIBUNE erroneously stated that Jack Hagobian, 2302 Mead street, a youth arrested in the crime drive, had been riding in a car and carrying a gun. Hagobian, who was picked up unarmed on the sidewalk, was arraigned on a disorderly charge only, and was discharged.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

If the children of today are not a generation of young sophisticates who spend their playtime making wisecracks about the relationship between broccoli and spinach, here is the show for them: Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," upon which their parents doted. This extravaganza, twenty-seven years old, was revived at the Majestic last night; and the verdict of the adults who welcomed it in a more or less sentimental mood was: "If our precocious offspring were only as childlike and charming as we were at their age, how they would enjoy this!" With this revival the stage restores one of its abandoned functions, and gives the little people of the nursery a break.

Of course the performance cannot be compared to the rich and gay interpretation of "Toyland" which made theatrical traditions on Clark street in the summer of 1903. There is no sumptuous Bessie Wynn here for the rôle of the leading boy; no arch and entrancing Mabel Barrison [who afterwards became a star] for the slate and pencil song. "I Can't Do That Sum"; no fresh, winsome Amy Rickard for the part of Contrary Mary, who sings "Beatrice Barefacts." Those were golden girls who have joined the melancholy pageant of lost loveliness about which Villon rhymed a ballade. The present players serve well enough for the commerce of revival—but where are the soubrettes of Naughty-Three?

But there is much life in the old show. Betty Byron, plump and pert as the wandering Jane, led the musical lesson in arithmetic to its expected hit, with the support of doll-like Lilliputians, who rattled their slate pencils merrily. Edith Scott, who fluttered about prettily as Contrary Mary, would have scored in the old way with "Beatrice Barefacts" if its topical allusions to an extinct columnist's advice to the lovelorn were not out of date. Marcella Swanson was an attractive picture as Tom the Piper's Son.

We had to wait for the "March of the Toys," however, until we, as an audience, got warmed up into the old illusions. And here is a number to talk about! The wicked revues have replaced the innocent extravaganzas, which "Babes in Toyland" represents; and in the spectacular staging of musical numbers, in the pomp of pageantry, they have grown bigger and more bountiful every reason. But nothing to be found in the modern revues can surpass the "March of the Toys" as you will find it here. It's the "Wooden Soldiers" of the "Chauve Souris" expanded tenfold—to a march tune that will live through a century of parades.

The "March of the Toys" took about fifteen curtain calls last night. And for the second act finale of a musical show, in an era that is gorged and glutted with lyric entertainment, that is an impressive batch of encores. It's the kind of thing that theater managers boast about when they are telling their box office tales.

Barry Lupino leads the cast in the rôle originated by a much quainter although less acrobatic comedian, William Norris. Lupino was trained in the English pantomimes, from which "Toyland" derives, and he strives to enliven the worn-out humor of the libretto with British knock-about antics. But the jests of the piece are deserted bird's nests; the fantasy, the juvenile folk-lore, and the gallant music of Herbert are the elements that have living value. Frank Gallagher earns mention as Alan, and the mimes who represent the terrible spider and the friendly bear know their craft.

Take Schools Out of Politics Professor Urges

Says Mayor's Power There Lacks Legal Basis.

Divorce of the board of education from the city hall is Chicago's most immediate and drastic need if improvement is to be looked for in our educational system.

Prof. Charles H. Judd, dean of the school of education at the University of Chicago, made that statement yesterday to the Chicago Forum audience at the Adelphi theater. It was his contribution to a symposium by experts on the numerous ailments of the city's governmental machinery.

Dr. Jerome G. Kerwin, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, diagnosed the current muddle of city and county governmental affairs as due to "its cumbersome, outworn, and nonunderstandable governmental structure." He prescribed unification of the city and county, as far as there are common services to be rendered, such as parks, sanitation, police, finance, etc.

The remedy prescribed by Prof. Benjamin H. Squires, labor economist at the same university, for the abnormal industrial situation included a continuous human inventory of labor, employment exchanges, and job analyses to fit the worker to the position.

Interest in the school and educational topics was manifest in the questions put to Dr. Judd. He had cited these six requisites for bettering the Chicago school system:

1. A school board detached from the city hall. People do not understand that the board is not a city, but a state group, not accountable in any way to the mayor, who acts merely as the representative of the state in making appointments to it. All the political patronage exercised by the city hall in the matter of the board of education is absolutely without legal foundation. The jolt the city hall needs can be administered by revising the law so as to make the board an elective body, elected at a time when no other candidates are before the people.

2. A school fund limited only by state law and economically administered. The elective board should be recognized as having the right to levy taxes for maintenance of the schools. The present board, if it desired, absolutely could refuse to be used as an agent for lavish expenditures on janitors and in the award of undesirable contracts.

3. A greatly strengthened superintendency. There should be no appointment whatever in the educational staff except on recommendation of the superintendent. The board of education should have no appointive power except the power to veto.

4. A large and more competent supervisory staff. In one district of Chicago there is a staff of three persons, one executive [district superintendent] and two supervisors, to handle a school district that in itself is larger than the city of Minneapolis. One immediate change that should be insisted upon, whether a general enlargement of the staff is obtained or not, is the introduction of a vigorous bureau of efficiency.

5. A financial organization which knows how to operate on the basis of a balanced budget. If any private business were confronted with vague statements about financial status remotely like the statements which come from officials of the school board, the stock of that business would have to be withdrawn from any wall run stock exchange.

6. An enriched curriculum of the schools of Chicago. There is a call these days for a new type of cultural education which shall fit young people for the proper use of leisure. This city has resources for unlimited educational opportunities if properly administered.

Dr. Kerwin, speaking of the "long ballot" Chicago voters frequently struggle with in the voting booth on election day, declared, "The machinery of government that lays too great a burden on the voter by requiring him to elect too many officials at one time is not democracy—but a negation of democracy."

Ex-Dorothy Harvey Acquires New Husband While at Reno, Nev.

According to all the reports about Reno and its shifting population of divorce seekers, one of the greatest problems of those awaiting their decrees is the disposal of their time during the requisite period of residence. One Chicagoan, the former Dorothy Harvey, daughter of Mrs. Alfred T. Martin, had this question speedily and satisfactorily settled for her.

As a result, within a year, she secured her divorce, married again, and with her new husband, is now engaged in conducting a dude ranch.

When she departed for Reno to be divorced from Herbert DeWilde, she anticipated a long spell of loneliness. Her lawyer, however, introduced her to a most attractive woman who with her husband, owned a dude ranch. She also was an easterner who had married a rancher after getting her divorce.

Mrs. DeWilde apparently followed her example, and was thereafter wed to Joseph I. Richardson. The Richardsons own a ranch at Wadsworth, Nev., about 40 miles from Reno, and in the foothills of the mountains with a glorious view over miles of valley. They find the ranch life full of interest, and spend their time riding, swimming in Pyramid lake a few miles away, and picnicking.

Society Studies Calendar for Horse Shows

BY THALIA

Plans are given now being made for an extensive round of horse shows. The various organizations sponsoring these shows operate now in the matter of scheduling dates, so that there are no conflicts, and so that the out of town exhibitors can conveniently attend many of the shows as they like, as a matter of succession. The South Shore Country club show, always a gay and popular occasion of equine and social events, comes first, as usual, in early June.

It will open on Tuesday the 10th and continue through the following Saturday. The Lake Forest horse show date has been set for June 20 and 21, a Friday and Saturday, and with a great enthusiasm this year on the part of the organizers of the show.

It will mark the quarter century event in Lake Forest horse shows, and that's one reason for more than usual interest in it. Besides that, when all the results had been compiled, it was discovered that last year's show had been the most successful ever given by the Lake Forest committee. There were more entries than ever before, and the running of the show was carried on more smoothly. Mr. Lawrence H. Armour, who served as secretary for the first time, is again to assume the responsibilities of that position.

Arrivals from Chicago at Virginia Hot Springs include the Wallace Elliot, Mrs. Kirk's sister, Mrs. William M. Boulder; Charles Edward Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Volney Foster and his son, George Mel; George A. Ranney and his daughter and son, Charles H. Schweppe and his daughter, Miss Jean Schweppe, and John Sidney Burnett and Robert Burnet.

Mrs. Paul Healy of the Drake hotel left on Saturday for New York City, and is to sail on Friday on the Ile de France for her annual six months' stay in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baum of Lake Forest have returned from a two months' trip in France and Egypt.

Miss Madeleine Newell who has been in town all winter has returned to Lake Forest and opened her residence on Sheridan road for the summer.

Mrs. Alfred T. Carton of Lake Forest is to sail on the Ile de France next Friday for Europe. She will join her daughter, Miss Catherine Carton, in Paris where the latter has been studying this winter, and they will return to this country in June.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Manipulating Bread Sponges

Some of us like best to use a plain bread sponge or dough dressed up with sugar and spices for a coffee cake, bun, or roll, rather than a sweet dough. A coffee cake of this type that is satisfactory has the following formula: Two cups plain bread sponge, one egg, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, two tablespoons butter, one-fourth cup sugar or a little more, two tablespoons candied orange peel grated fine, and about a cup and a half of flour.

Beat the egg, add the sugar—for a quite sweet coffee cake use one-half cup—orange peel and cinnamon and beat them together. To this add the butter, barely melted, and beat again. Use a spatula and work this mixture into the sponge, then work in the flour gradually to get a light dough. Work the dough for ten or fifteen minutes, cutting and beating it with a spatula, then spread it into a cake tin and let it rise until the top is comparatively smooth.

Brush the top over with flour, cinnamon and butter, and then bake. Or, instead of brushing the top with what is called a "streusel," bake the cake and then add a cream and water icing with chopped almonds, put on while the cake is still warm.

A dent of this cake should bake in about hour or perhaps in forty minutes, at 350 degrees, or the temperature may be a little higher than this and the time limited to half an hour. The above amount of dough will make two nice inch square coffee cakes about two and one-half inches thick if the dough is well risen and is well baked. The streusel used to scatter over the top may be one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup flour, one-half to two tablespoons butter.

When we have a plain bread dough we may use this as well as a bread dough in making agreeable rolls, or something of the sort that corresponds to the same things made with a sweet dough.

ANNA HAMLIN BACK, VOICE BETTER THAN WHEN WITH OPERA

BY HAZEL MOORE.

Anna Hamlin's recital at the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon was something in the nature of a homecoming, for Miss Hamlin is a true daughter of Chicago as well as the daughter of a distinguished singer father, the late George Hamlin, whose name has been largely interwoven with the musical and theatrical life of the city.

Miss Hamlin served a brief apprenticeship with the Chicago Civic Opera company two seasons ago, accomplishing her allotted tasks with taste and intelligence, albeit with a somewhat light soprano voice with an occasional edge to its quality. Yesterday she returned as a singer delightfully matured as to style, and with the edge completely removed from the still but lovely quality lyric voice.

As a singer of songs she is particularly happy in projecting the import. "J'ai Peur d'un Baiser" by Szulc, and the three Liebeslieder by Wilhelm Grosz were charmingly done. Charpentier's familiar aria from "Louise," "Depuis le Jour," was sung easily, and with the intelligence that marked all of her work.

The program was well chosen with a nice sense of contrast. Not the least of its attraction lay in the excellence of Miss Hamlin's languages, where clarity of enunciation and accuracy of accent were distinctly above the average. Isaac Van Grove at the piano classified also as a major asset to the artistry and enjoyment of the afternoon.

A rather larger audience than usual gathered at the Cordon club to hear the Chicago String quartet. To these was vouchsafed a first hearing of a most interesting new work, a Triptych written for soprano voice and string quartet by Arthur Shepherd to three poems from "Gitanjali" by Rabindranath Tagore. The three bear the titles "He It Is," "The Day Is No More" and "Light My Light."

Estelle Hughes Felber, who in private life is Mrs. Herman Felber Jr., was the assisting artist in the new number. Her clear soprano proved admirably adapted to the modern treatment of the voice as an instrument in conjunction with the quartet. She projected her words well. Mr. Shepherd's musical treatment of the poems made a distinct impression, and makes one hope for more of the same caliber. The Haydn D major quartet and that in A major by Beethoven formed the major part of the program.

Episcopal Church Votes Wednesday for New U. S. Primate

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

For the second time in four months a new primate of the American Episcopal church will be elected on Wednesday when the house of bishops of the church meet at St. James cathedral, Cass and Huron streets. Nearly 100 out of 150 prelates from over the country will assemble for the purpose of the election.

Following the sudden death of the Most Rev. John Gardner Murray, the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson was elected at a special meeting of the house of bishops on Nov. 13, 1929, at Washington, D. C. Bishop Anderson held the primacy until his death, two months and 19 days later.

Bishop Anderson's successor, who will be elected here on Wednesday, will hold office until the triennial general convention which will meet at Denver in September, 1931. The house of bishops meeting here opens Wednesday morning with a celebration of holy communion at 9:30 in St. James cathedral. A solemn feature of the service will be memorials to seven bishops who have died since the meeting of the bishops in November.

A number of names have been mentioned. Among them is Bishop Stires. Bishop Stires is said to have received a large vote when Bishop Anderson was elected. Many Chicago clergy favor Bishop Hugh Latimer Burleson of South Dakota, the assessor [assistant] to Bishop Anderson and Bishop Murray.

The Rt. Rev. James D. Perry, bishop of Rhode Island has also been proposed by groups of eastern church leaders, while southern churchmen are urging Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of Virginia. Bishop Tucker formerly was a missionary bishop in Japan and many leaders state that the primacy involves leadership in missionary fields.

The Rt. Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold, bishop of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church, who has been confined to the Evanston hospital for several weeks, was able to leave his bed yesterday and walk about the hospital for a short time.

Bishop James E. Freeman, the preacher last night at the Sunday evening club, Orchestra hall, has been regarded as a possible choice by groups in various sections of the country. He is well known in Chicago. Prior to his election as bishop of Washington, D. C., he was a Minneapolis rector.

Complaint is arising in some groups that the elective method of choosing a primate is not measuring up to its intended purpose, which was to allow younger men to assume the heavy burdens of the office.

Give the Teasing, Active Child Outlet for His Energies

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Here is a problem stated as it came to me in a letter—and an answer which had to be based on only so little information.

The letter:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: The next problem. My 7½ year old is our oldest. We have three—the second will be 5 tomorrow and our darling baby will be 2 in June. Our first born teases the other two continually and constantly every moment he is with them, showing a remarkable amount of energy, in so far as he is always "going"—dashing and hopping from one thing to another, and practicing on the two at home the tricks learned in the school yard, interfering when I have something to say to the other two, and making himself generally exasperating, aside from that. But his school work is excellent."

The answer:

If I had time I would write you in much detail about the various things you might do that would help you with your little boy. But I will have to try to be brief.

The first thing I would do with him would be to stop all scolding and punishment and "keeping at him." The littlest child to whom you have given such a cunning name may account somewhat for his teasing and acting as he does with the two children. An oldest child has to be handled very carefully when the new babies come. Be very chary with your blame and free with your praise.

Try treating him a little more nearly as your equal, take him into your confidence in regard to the younger children, and be more companionable with him. Give him more attention than you have been doing, not by making a fuss over him in a demonstrative way, but by feeling and showing an interest in his interests.

But perhaps the most important point is this: Does he have playmates of his own age, or is he constantly thrust into the society of the other two? Their constant companionship cannot be satisfying to him because they are smaller and the teasing is probably an outlet for energy he doesn't know what to do with.

He should have lot of interesting outdoor things to do after school and boys of his own age. These extremely energetic temperaments need vigorous outlets.

He is apparently an absolutely normal child and I think that a little change in your management of him will straighten him out. I hope you can get my idea from these general suggestions.

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Tribune.)

BRIDE TO LIVE IN NEW YORK

South Side Physicians to Hear Speeches Tomorrow

The South Side Physicians' Fellowship club (in affiliation with the Chicago Medical society and the American Medical association), of which Dr. Jacob F. Hultgen is president, will hold an open meeting at the West Englewood Masonic Temple hall, 64th street and South Loomis boulevard, at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The meeting will mark the first assemblage of organized medical men with their non-medical friends and voters for the purpose of becoming acquainted with their city, county, state, and federal representatives, or the prospective candidates for these various offices.

Dr. Flexner to Talk.

Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller institute, New York, will discuss certain phases of infantile paralysis and sleeping sickness on Thursday and Friday at the University of Tulinois college of medicine auditorium, 508 South Honoré street. Dr. Flexner's lectures are the Gehrman memorial lectures given annually by the college.

CHOIR GIRLS' JUMPS FROM PLANES WILL MARK CHURCH'S AGE

New York, March 23.—(AP)—St. James' Methodist Episcopal church, in Madison avenue, will celebrate its one hundredth birthday with a five day "aerial offertory," its pastor, the Rev. George Machin Stockdale, announced today.

The "aerial offertory" will take place at New York airport, Flushing, from April 23 to April 27 and the program will include stune flying, wing walking and parachute jumping. Eight girls, members of the choir, will be among the jumpers. The last day of the "offertory" being a Sunday, church services may be held in a hangar at the field, Mr. Stockdale said.

He said he hoped to raise money for church work through automobile parking, field admissions and concessions.

"I realize," he asserted, "that I am undertaking a daring innovation. I hope it is daring enough to startle the world. I hope that the airport will be black with people on that Sunday."

JUNIOR'S JACKET SUIT.

Featherweight tweed was chosen for this jacket suit in one of the new soft green tones. The tucked-in bodice is of plain green jersey, while the Peter Pan collar, applied band closing at the center front, and the cuffs are attractive looking trimmed in the tweed. The all around box-plaited skirt allows plenty of freedom for sports, and the belt is at the normal waistline.

The pattern, 3290, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 3 yards of 39 inch dark material with 1¼ yards of 39 inch light material and 1¼ yards of lining and ¼ yard of 18 inch material for the bow.

Transparent Scarves Add to Evening Chic

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.] Any kind of costume shift that adds to femininism this spring is allowed in Paris styles. You have to look pretty to get the chic effect of your clothes, and in evening fashions this is more important than anywhere else.

Belle maidens along the Riviera have added an accessory that increases both the quantity and quality of prettiness to their evening clothes. This is a wide, frilly scarf and the little capes of some kind of transparent material. Tulle, net and chiffon are the three fabrics favorites for this sort of thing. The new marquisette silk is particularly good, and it is used for the black scarf shown in our sketch. This scarf is quite wide and trimmed with four narrow fluted ruffles of self-material, and down the center of the back are three flat bows of the same. This scarf is worn not only with black evening gowns but with the white frocks that are so smart this spring.

The idea of the transparent cape or scarf is one of contrast and most of such filmy accessories are in a color different from the dress. They are often made of another material than the dress. The coarse white net cape shown in our sketch was worn with a dress of black chiffon, making a charming color and material contrast. The little cape has a flat collar edged with two pointed bands of chiffon and along the zig zag edges. Similar bands of the same material are around the bottom of the cape and up the center front closing.

Accessory scarves and capes serve the practical purpose of making an evening gown appear less formal by camouflaging its decolletage.

Another of the wedding attendants, Miss Eckhart, returned yesterday from Europe where she has been studying and traveling since last June. Her parents, the Percy B. Eckharts of Kenilworth, are just back from California, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Eckhart.

Painting by Raphael Here; Story Is Told

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

One of the most remarkable and valuable paintings in the country has just been placed on view in the Venetian room of the Art institute. It has been lent to the museum by a collector who chooses to remain anonymous. The painting is by Raphael and represents the Evangelista Tarascone Parmigiano, a favorite of the painter's patron, Pope Julius II. It probably was painted about 1509, during the period when Raphael went to Rome to execute the first frescoes in the Vatican. News dispatches from New York said this painting was obtained there recently for $500,000.

Parmigiano as shown in the portrait was a bearded man of early middle age. He wears a black robe and barret and stands behind a balustrade on which are arranged an inkstand, a pen, a seal, paper and an apple. He wears a bracelet on his left wrist and a ring on his left hand which rests on a book bound in green. His right hand, raised a little, holds a pair of gloves.

From its earliest possession in the ownership of the Bishop of Lodi the portrait passed to the collection of Messer Antonio Foscarini of Venice in 1530. Later the Pallavicini family acquired it and in recent years it belonged to the Pallavicini-Audrassy family and has been more or less hidden in a Hungarian collection, known only to a few scholars.

Only two other Raphael portraits are at present in American collections. One of these is in the Isabella Stewart Gardner museum of Boston and the other a long lost portrait of Giuliano de Medici, duke of Nemours, belongs to Jules S. Bache of New York. Five other paintings by Raphael, not including the portraits, are in the United States. The finest of the religious subjects probably is the "Little Cowper Madonna" in the Joseph E. Widener collection near Philadelphia.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

There are several types of gardening which should be of interest in all city and suburban sections. Some of the more important types are back-yard gardens, vacant lot gardens, and school gardens.

The back yard garden probably is the most important of the three, because it is more intimately associated with the home. The area immediately back of the house is the plat usually considered as the back yard garden. If this spot is not used as a garden it often becomes an unsightly place, and thus gardening improves the home surroundings.

The condition of the soil in the back yard can be steadily improved year after year. Its nearness to the house is a great inducement for the family to work the garden and to utilize the crops to the fullest extent.

Porch and window gardens become popular in some of the thickly populated sections of the larger cities. Window boxes, boxes at the ends of porches or on shed roofs, boxes on the edge of walks or even on the small front lawn, and boxes and barrels on the roofs of tenement and apartment buildings are some of the ways of utilizing small spaces in the growing of plants.

In the limited areas of boxes, barrels, etc., no large quantity of food can be produced, but the growing of plants can be made an interesting study, besides adding something to the family table. Lettuce, parsley, radishes, onions, and tomatoes are some of the crops best suited for such limited spaces.

Imitation at Fault.

It was during the slippery weather that while working in an office I chanced to be watching several passersby. One man almost sat down, but caught himself in a most peculiar way which struck me as most funny.

I had just finished demonstrating to the other girls in the office, when a voice back of me said: "O, that last part wasn't quite right!"

There stood the same fellow! O, for a trap door, or hole in the floor, or something! A. M. R.

GANDHI ENROLLS WOMEN IN WAR ON BRITISH RULE

Female Volunteer Corps Will Break Salt Law.

SUVA, India, March 23.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi announced today on his arrival from Jambusar that women who can arrange satisfactorily for the care of their children should join in the civil disobedience campaign against the British government.

His statement was in reply to questions asked here by Miss Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya, a prominent social worker.

Mrs. Gandhi to Take Part.

Miss Chattopadhyaya proposed to tour Bombay presidency and enroll two sets of women volunteers, one to take an active part in the civil disobedience campaign, and the other for propaganda work. It was understood that Mrs. Gandhi will lead the first party of 37 volunteers from Ashraf, proceeding by train to Bulsar, and thence to Titel, where they will join the campaign to violate the salt laws.

Bengal Postpones Revolt.

CALCUTTA, India, March 23.—(AP)—In view of the all India congress committee's resolution not to start civil disobedience until Mahatma Gandhi has reached his destination on the gulf of Cambay and actually committed a breach of the law, Bengal leaders today appealed to the workers to delay their campaign until then.

The leaders suggested that the interval be utilized in enlisting and training volunteers. Meetings are being held throughout the presidency of Bengal.

BISHOP SHIPMAN DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART ATTACK

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Within a few hours after he had administered confirmation to thirty-five parishioners in Calvary Episcopal church this morning the Rt. Rev. Herbert Shipman, suffragan bishop of the diocese of eastern New York and Long Island, died suddenly in his home. He was seized with a heart attack while lunching with his wife and her father, Edson Bradley.

His death came as a distinct shock to the Episcopalian diocese, for he had been in seemingly good health and was scheduled to administer confirmation tonight in the chapel of the intercession.

Bishop Shipman was born in Lexington, Ky., Aug. 3, 1869. He received his bachelor of arts degree at Columbia in 1890, and his bachelor of divinity at the General Theological seminary in 1894. In 1895 he became a priest of the Protestant Episcopal church.

He was rector of the Church of Heavenly Rest here from 1907 to 1921, and was consecrated suffragan bishop in December, 1921. In 1896 he was a chaplain in the United States army and again in 1917-'18 was chaplain of the 104th field artillery. In 1918 and 1919 he was senior chaplain of the First Army corps.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Them as Has

Symphony Tops Happy Day for Radio Listeners

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock conducting, through W-G-N, 2 to 3 o'clock, played the suite No. 2 of Bach and the Third Symphony of Brahms, and by so doing presented their prize program to date. A more suitable symphony orchestra program for radio is scarcely possible. The Bach suite of seven numbers was a gem, and marvelously enjoyable music for youths and adults, whether trained or merely novices in music. It was encouraging to hear Mr. Stock say that large numbers of the radio audience are requesting programs like those of the present series.

An unexpected stir was produced by the stimulating work of Lawrence Tibbett, baritone soloist on the New York orchestral concert through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15. In his uncommonplace program were two songs of dramatic declamatory character, the "Song of the Flea" [Moussorgsky] and "De Gloria Road" [Wolfe], this latter being a stunner of a song. The "Toreador" song from "Carmen" was full of life and bravo. "Old Man River," from "Show Boat," and the other numbers calling for expressive legato singing were all done pleasingly and impressively.

Secondary only to the major musical programs was the talk by Walton E. Cole, W-G-N, 4:30 to 4:45. "How We Fool Ourselves" was his subject yesterday. It is apparent that it will well repay keeping this four-thirty clock dial marking in mind on Sundays.

The nation-wide chain program through KYW at 7 o'clock is a highly commendable program.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO EIELSON AND BORLAND

Seattle, Wash., March 23.—(AP)—Seattle paid final tribute today to the memories of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, arctic aviators who went to their deaths in an airplane crash near North Cape, Siberia, last November. They were attempting a flight from Teller, Alaska, to the fur trader Nanuk, ico-bound at the cape.

The bodies were recovered after months of searching and brought to Seattle by plane, train and ship, the steamship Alaska bringing them here from Seward, Alaska.

The bodies were taken from the ship last night and escorted by civil and military organizations to the mortuary where they reposed in their flag-draped coffins until the services today. Borland's final resting place will be a cemetery in Seattle, the home of his parents, while Eielson will be interred at Hatton, N. D., his boyhood home.

Maturity Striving for Youth Is Both Vulgar and Pathetic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Dancing floors offer rare studies in human nature, beauty and grace and the lack thereof. Beautiful girls, and pretty ones; divine male dancers, and clumsy ones; vulgar performers, and charming!

I recall one gloriously perfect dance with one. It was in Hollywood at a club with exclusive star attendance. The ballroom setting was perfect; the music superb; the music idyllic. And not a costume, not a dancer, not a girl or man in the assembled dancing mass but belonged there by right of beauty or dancing grace. It was one of those fairy ballroom scenes that come. Perhaps in no other spot in the globe could so much of beautiful youth be summoned for an evening.

Ordinarily, from the side lines you see a grotesque pair, a comedy team, a vulgar two, a heavyweight couple trying to and out among the usual well shaved and attractive majority of dancers.

I suppose if a woman has a husband who will not dance and it is all right with him that she take on youthful dancing partners at so much per hour, some of the rest of us should be grateful. But there is something distinctly ugly in the sight of a grossly diamond and superfluous-pound original creature of the feminine sex being towed around a dance floor by a silly young man with the gigolo carbon stamped on hair and face.

One such relieved the depression on her vicinity to an adjoining table with the loud voiced comment that she was going to the dressing room at once to remove her shoes, for she couldn't stand them one minute longer. She was not bored and panting from the dance exercise.

I don't suppose a good time was had by her any more than by her observers and the young man of the towing duties. The spoken reaction of an older man at our table was: "We do arrive at a time of life when the pleasures of youth should be abandoned without too much reluctance."

The beauty of age, among other qualities, pleads for a certain dignity, a happy resignation, as it were, to the passing years. No really mature woman ever lost charm by conforming graciously to the ruling. But in the everlasting fight to recognize no birthdays some women do try to step too far back into their past for true beauty.

When Depressed, Try Giving a Lift to Others, Says Doris

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A woman of 30 came home from work one evening recently, turned on the gas, and left a note behind explaining why she took her life.

She was not loved. She had grown sick and weary of waiting for love to claim her. Life had no prospects for the woman upon whose horizon love cast no shadow, and so on. Not a needful note exactly, but the message of a mind ill-adjusted to getting something worth while out of existence.

Oddly, give me as terrible heart hurt. The agonies of mind preceding a decision to end it all must be horrible. The barrenness of soul in the face of need so tragic.

It is curious when you think of it how few manners of suicide run in cycles. For months now the news heading "Jumps or Falls" to death from the window of a high building has been reported again and again. The next market reverses sent a good many leaping to their doom. Before that it was "Dies by Gas" that announcements were made.

The manner of death, however, is of no concern. It is prevention of the depression giving birth to a suicidal state of mind that is of concern. A strong, healthy person who can take his or her blows from life standing erect within the mind of one who goes out weakly under "raps."

Nor can one who believes him or herself answerable for the destruction of his life understand the chaotic state of soul and mind of a nonbeliever. But when a young woman of 30 decides there is only one way out of an unloved existence, mingled with pity for the poor one's weakness runs a hard grain of reasoning as to why she has not made herself necessary to some boy in this world. Also, why she could abandon hope at 30?

Thirty is a ripe young age for love, or marriage is postponed today. And if so much does appear on the scene, there is still love to be earned for the giving of it where it is needed.
